Historical Statement.

The underlying principles of Osteopathy were discovered in 1874, by Andrew T. Still, then a practicing physician in Kansas. Dr. Still spent many years in developing the new science, and in putting its principles into practice in the treatment of both acute and chronic diseases. Osteopathy was so successful under his practice that he began to teach the new science to his own sons in 1887. The American School of Osteopathy is the outgrowth of Dr. Still's discoveries and his attempt to give to others the knowledge of this science and art of healing as formulated by himself. In 1892 a charter was taken out and the first regular class was formed. In 1894 a new charter was obtained according to the laws of Missouri providing for educational institutions. The aim and object of the college is to reform medicine and surgery so as to bring the true science of medicine and surgery into harmony with the teachings of nature, and thus establish a true, natural medical school of healing.

Explanation of Osteopathy.

Osteopathy is a system of treatment of disease by adjustment of misplacements of bones, ligaments, and muscles. Disease, from an Osteopathic standpoint, is due to disturbed blood flow or perverted nerve action. This disturbance is due to deranged anatomy, resulting from traumatic, thermic or other influences. In health the adjustment of the various parts of the body is perfect; in disease this relation is disturbed. If a muscle becomes contracted, it will impinge on neighboring structures, also the force exerted thereby produces a tension which tends to displace the bones to which they are attached. The circulation is impeded, lowering of the vitality of the part resulting. For example, let a person sit in a draught after exercise, the sudden cooling of the body causes muscular contractions, venous congestion and a condition of lessened vitality called a cold. Osteopathic treatments overcome this contracted condition of the muscles, stimulate the nerve centers to greater activity and increase the circulation to the parts by mechanical means without aid of internal medication. Again, any slight bony lesion will cause interference with the function of that part, hence to cure the trouble the cause must be removed and that is done by Osteopathic manipulation. Since disease is due to these anatomical derangements the Osteopath cures disease by adjusting these derangements instead of treating symptoms which result. Osteopathy removes the cause, whether bony or muscular, increases blood flow, stimulates nerve action, in short assists nature to overcome disease by adjustment of the machinery of the human body.

*A pamphlet containing an extended explanation of Osteopathy can be had by sending to the Secretary of the school.

MAIN BUILDING.

Description of Main Building.

Several buildings have been erected since the opening of the school, the present buildings being completed in January, 1897. As it now stands the school represents one of the largest and most complete school buildings in the State. Erected and fitted throughout for the special needs of Osteopathic work, it is the only building of its kind in the world.

The outside dimensions are 64x176 feet. The building has sixty-eight rooms, making altogether 30,000 square feet of floor space. The completed structure as it now stands cost in round numbers, $100,000.

The walls are of pressed brick, with mansard roofs of slate and iron. The highest point of the building is the top of the observatory on the north wing, which rises 100 feet above the ground.

The woodwork inside is of oak, cypress and yellow pine, all beautifully finished in the natural wood. From basement to dome there is a complete system of sanitary plumbing, with hot and cold water and steam heat in every room. The plumbing and hardware furnishings costs nearly $15,000. Electric lights are found everywhere from the top of the flag pole on the observatory to the boiler room in the basement, over 600 incandescent lamps being used.

No detail has been overlooked. The structure is complete. It was designed and constructed for Osteopathy, by the first Osteopath and paid for by money earned in the practice and teaching of Osteopathy.

There are in all four floors with attics. These have been fitted up in the most modern and approved methods with a large assortment of apparatus so that the teaching facilities are exceptional.

DISSECTING ROOM.

Descriptive Anatomy.

W. R. LAUGHLIN, M. S., D. O., PROFESSOR.

The first term work in anatomy covers the arm, leg, head, and everything except the viscera, giving especial attention to the anatomy of joints. The second year's work takes the alimentary canal, respiratory system, urinary system, and the cerebro-spinal system.

We take the work thorough as we go. Commencing with the shoulder girdle, each bone with its articulation, ossification, attachment of muscles and blood supply is learned, also the origin, insertion, and nerve supply of each muscle. By the end of the second term the student will be able to give the articulation, ossification, attachment of muscles, and blood supply of every bone in the body, the relations and branches of every artery in the body, the relations of every viscus in the body, the boundaries of all the ventricles of the brain. The quiz and lecture method is used and the work is made as concrete as possible. Everything is done to make the work clear and practical to the student.

Practical Anatomy.

C. L. RIDER, D. O. DEMONSTRATOR.

This branch of anatomy for the third term class consists of daily demonstrations on the cadaver with frequent quizzes on the part last demonstrated, the work in this term being in a sense a review of the work in the preceding terms, but reference is here paid more especially to the relations of the structures, dissections necessary to expose certain structures, action of muscles and the function of the different organs briefly reviewed, with frequent hints as to the cause of different diseases and the Osteopathic treatment of same.

Combining as we do in this term the anatomy and the Osteopathy of this part makes these demonstrations very instructive to the students, and more fully prepares them for the operating rooms the succeeding term. In addition we have private classes in dissection under the supervision of the demonstrator of anatomy, for all students who wish to take actual dissection. Six students being allowed one cadaver, thus giving each student a chance to dissect, or see dissected, each part of the human body. Upon completion of the dissecting course, and passing a satisfactory examination in same, each student's diploma will contain the fact that he has taken special dissection. To help defray the cost of the material, a fee of fifteen dollars ($15.00) is charged for this course.

CLASS IN DESCRIPTIVE ANATOMY.

General Chemistry.

C. W. PROCTOR, PH. D., D. O., PROFESSOR.

In this course enough of the facts and principles are given to enable the student to understand the work of chemical physiology, which comes later in the course. Familiarity with the common elements, their simpler combinations and the laws governing these combinations is required. Enough laboratory work is given in this term to illustrate chemical action in its simpler phases, and to enable the student to use intelligently the apparatus in common use.

Physiological Chemistry.

C. W. PROCTOR, PH. D., D. O., PROFESSOR.

In the second term of the course the study of the tissues and fluids of the body is taken up, the various sugars, fats, and proteids are carefully studied and tested. Bile, blood, saliva, gastric and pancreatic juice are analyzed, and their physiology studied from the chemical standpoint. A thorough course is given in the analysis of urine, including some quantitative estimations.

The importance of this work is duly emphasized as an aid to the diagnosis. Poisons, including their effects and treatment are given careful attention. This course in toxicology is intended to prepare the practitioner in Osteopathy for such emergencies as may arise in the course of his practice. Accidents or suicidal intentions are the causes of many poisoning cases in almost every community, and a course of this kind is demanded. It is therefore made practical and quite comprehensive.

Gynecology.

M. E. CLARK, D. O., PROFESSOR.

This course consists of lectures and quizzes during the first part of Senior year. Considering the subject from an Osteopathic point of view the course has been doubled.

Stress is laid upon the anatomy of the pelvic organs, displacements, bony lesions, Osteopathic diagnosis and treatment.

Each student is required to give local examinations and treatment under the supervision of the instructor.

Operative gynecology has been eliminated, since a large majority of operations can be avoided by Osteopathic treatment. Under this heading also a number of lectures will be given on venereal diseases and the Osteopathic diagnosis and treatment for same.

Obstetrics.

M. E. CLARK, D. O., PROFESSOR.

This branch is taught by means of lectures and quizzes illustrated by stereopticon views, skeletons, models and prepared specimens of fetuses in different stages of development.

Special stress is laid on the anatomy of the parts and the Osteopathic method, which is far in advance of other methods of handling cases of labor.

In addition a lying in hospital has been fitted up, students being in actual attendance upon cases.

PHYSIOLOGICAL CHEMICAL LABORATORY.

CHEMISTRY CLASS ROOM,

LECTURE ROOM WHERE THE CLASSES IN OSTEOPATHIC PRINCIPLES MET.

Principles of Osteopathy.

CHAS. HAZZARD, PH. B., D. O., PROFESSOR.

This course considers the fundamental facts of Anatomy, Physiology and Chemistry as related to Osteopathic practice.

Osteopathy is the application of a knowledge of these subjects to check or prevent disease, and as such has clearly defined principles upon which it is based.

The relation of health and disease to anatomical conditions is carefully considered. Never before in the history of scientific study of the human body has this been done to any considerable extent. Dr. A. T. Still made its importance apparent, and now the thought of the time is undergoing a great change.

How and where nerves may be interfered with, blood circulation impeded, reflex irritation produced, are given special attention; the relation of fevers and contagious diseases to impaired physiological functions is pointed out, and the function of glands to alter fluids is carefully considered.

Topographical anatomy, or the location of "land marks" for important parts and structures of the body will be systematically introduced into this course.

Physiology.

FRED J. FASSETT, A. B., D. O., PROFESSOR.

The instruction in physiology is given in five exercises per week during the second and third terms. The course is designed to give a thorough understanding of the known facts of physiology and to open the way for such as desire it, to more detailed and elaborate investigation. The class room work will consist for the most part of recitations from assigned readings in standard works on physiology. The recitations will be supplemented by explanatory lectures, and wherever possible by experiment. For the latter purpose the school has a very complete outfit of modern apparatus.

Theory and Practice of Osteopathy.

CHAS. HAZZARD, PH. B., D. O., PROFESSOR.

The course in Osteopathic Therapeutics, or Symptomatology consists of lectures and quizzes delivered daily on all common forms of disease, the etiology and treatment is given from an Osteopathic standpoint. The student is taught to search for the anatomical derangement or disturbance causing the symptoms, that is, to make an objective examination, instead of relying on a subjective one.

Dislocations, curvatures, contracted muscles and subluxated ribs are considered in the cause of disease.

Illustrative cases are used when possible, the student being asked to diagnose and treat the case under the instructor, thereby making the work personal, as well as practical.

LABORATORY FOR PHYSIOLOGICAL EXPERIMENTS.

DR. HILDRETH'S CLASS IN CLINICS,

Clinical Department.

A. G. HILDRETH, D. O., IN CHARGE.

This department is one of the most important, and is given the greatest possible attention. The trustees realizing that the Osteopath needs practical experience have now so arranged the course that the student not only gets practical experience by observation and actual practice, but he also gets the benefit of the experience of the oldest and most successful Osteopaths.

This department will be under the charge of A. G. Hildreth, D. O., who will have a strong corps of able assistants.

During the past year's work in this institution the Osteopathic Therapeutics and clinical demonstrations with actual clinical practice for senior classes, gave to the student a very thorough drill. During the last year's work there are clinic lectures with demonstrations of treatment for conditions present, at least four times a week, and when you realize that there has never been less than three hundred clinic patients here at any one time, and a great deal of the time four and even five hundred, you may understand something of the breadth of this experience.

The Seniors have the last half of their year's work in the operating rooms, spending from two to four hours each day in actual practice, given under the direction of the ablest and most experienced Osteopaths now in the profession.

Pathology and Bacteriology.

F. P. YOUNG, A. B., D. O., PROFESSOR.

This course includes (1) lectures on general and special pathology with special reference to the etiology of parasitic and infective diseases and (2) practical work in the laboratory where the study of special tissues is taken up and the pathological conditions considered in detail. The methods of cutting, preparing and mounting such tissues are taught to the student and each student has the use of a first class microscope and all the necessary apparatus. The nature, extent and process of post mortem examinations are carefully considered and their significance in legal, medical and scientific investigation carefully explained.

The subject of Bacteriology which has assumed such an importance in the diagnosis and prevention of disease is thoroughly taught in the lecture room and also by practical demonstrations in the laboratory. The subject in general is taken up and considered in such a way as to bring out the nature and characteristics of micro-organisms, the different methods of cultivation and separation, preparation of culture media, inoculation and staining of typical bacteria. These different points are demonstrated to the student so that each may be able for himself to carry on these experiments. Some of the more important pathogenic micro-organisms are considered in reference to the productions of disease in the human body. There is in the laboratory a very complete and modern equipment for the study of the subject in the most practical manner.

PATHOLOGICAL AND BACTERIOLOGICAL LABORATORY.

Surgery.

F. P. YOUNG, A. B., M. D., PROFESSOR.

Our course in surgery is not as extensive as is found in most medical schools. Our reasons are obvious. Osteopathy is opposed to the promiscuous use of the knife as is practiced by many physicians of the old school to-day, in the treatment of disease.

The abuse of abdominal surgery, especially in operations for appendicitis, tumors, etc., has led up to this reform. Osteopathy is intended as an improvement on the present practice of surgery as well as medicine. It has been demonstrated that Osteopathy can cure such cases without an operation that so often proves fatal to the patient.

Our course is taken up in the last term, which embraces the general principles of surgical treatment of wounds, ulcers, abscesses, fractures, dislocations and injuries in general, also the nature and use of antiseptics as well as the different methods of application of bandages and splints to the different parts of the body. Every opportunity will be taken to make use of such clinical material as may be available for the purpose of presenting the real condition before the student.

Histology.

F. P. YOUNG, A. B., M. D., PROFESSOR.

The course in Histology consists of general lectures which embrace a description of all the elements in the different tissues. These are illustrated by the use of charts, diagrams micro-stereopticon projections of the tissue under consideration, also practical work in the laboratory where student, are taught the different methods of preservation and preparation of the tissue. Every student has the use of a modern microscope and other materials, and is directly under the supervision of the professor. For the practical work, the class meets in sections, but the class as a whole meets in the amphitheatre for the lecture.

The laboratory is thoroughly equipped with all that is necessary for a thorough and efficient study of the subject, everything being of the most modern type.

Medical Jurisprudence.

JUDGE ANDREW ELLISON, LECTURER.

These lectures, ten in number are given to the Senior students. Every graduate in the science of Osteopathy should be made acquainted with many of those important principles governing and controlling him in his contact with the business world. This work covers the subjects of contracts, civil and criminal liabilities, malpractice, insanity, expert testimony, etc.

It is not intended the lectures shall follow the path of those delivered in law colleges. They will be made to conform to the special wants of an Osteopath, and instruct him fully in his relations to the law and his legal liability to patients.

WARD IN MATERNITY HOSPITAL.

WARD FOR OPERATIVE SURGERY.

MATERNITY HOSPITAL.

Athletics.

Athletics at the A. S. O. are organized under the popular plan of student control. The Athletic Association is in close touch with the Trustees of the school who are among its enthusiastic supporters. In their particular season, base-ball, foot-ball, tennis and track athletics each receive a hearty and encouraging support. The prospective student interested in physical development will meet with a student body including graduates from many universities throughout the country, men who enjoy pure amateur sport, men of experience in athletics who enjoy enviable records made in their college careers. Foot-ball candidates learn the great college game under the instruction of a salaried coach.

This department has improved each year since the introduction of the game. The annual field day in June is an event of interest to every student. Since the organization of the Athletic Association on the present plan, its representatives have made records which fully justify the recognition they have received among the best Universities of the state. It holds membership in the State Intercollegiate Athletic Association which holds competitions each year at the State University. Ernest C. White, late instructor in Athletics at the Missouri State University has been engaged to coach the foot ball team this fall.

Requirements for Matriculation.

1. Creditable evidence of good moral character.
2. Satisfactory evidence of a good English education as follows: (a) In English, an essay of not less than two hundred words, judgment on which will include thought, construction, spelling and handwriting. (b) A good knowledge of arithmetic, including compound numbers, percentage, ratio, proportion and the metric system. (c) A fair knowledge of history and geography, especially of the United States. (d) In physics some knowledge of the fundamental principles. Candidates who fail in one or two of the above named branches may be admitted to the regular course of study, but such condition must be removed before the beginning of the second term.
3. In place of this examination or any part of it, the Faculty will accept the official diploma or certificate of any reputable literary or scientific college, academy, normal school or high school, or a first grade teacher's certificate and enroll the applicant upon presentation of such certificate or diploma. Candidates are advised to secure a certificate by passing examination in some such institution near home.

N. B. Students will find it very greatly to their advantage to matriculate before the opening of the term and be in attendance from the opening of the course.

DEAN'S OFFICE.

SECRETARY'S OFFICE.

NORTH HALL AND MEMORIAL HALL COMBINED.

Legal Status.

The practice of Osteopathy is legalized by legislative acts in the following states; Vermont, Missouri, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Tennessee, Michigan and Illinois. Decisions of the courts in many other states permit the practice of Osteopathy, but as yet these states have not passed laws regulating its practice. The American School of Osteopathy enjoys the distinction of having legal recognition by name.

The law of the state of Missouri recognizing and regulating the practice of Osteopathy reads as follows:

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the state of Missouri as follows:

SECTION 1. The system, method or science of treating diseases of the human body, commonly known as Osteopathy, and as taught and practiced by the American School of Osteopathy of Kirksville, Missouri, is hereby declared not to be the practice of medicine and surgery within the meaning of Article 1, Chapter 110 of the Revised Statutes of Missouri of 1889, and not subject to the provisions of this article.

SECTION 2. Any person having a diploma regularly issued by the American School of Osteopathy, of Kirksville, Missouri, or any other legally chartered and regularly conducted school of Osteopathy, who shall have been in personal attendance as a student in such school for at least four terms of not less than five months each, before graduation, shall be authorized to treat diseases of the human body according to such system, after having filed such diploma for record with the clerk of the county court of the county in which such person proposes to practice; and having filed with such clerk an affidavit that the diploma is genuine, and that he or she is the person to whom the same was issued, and that all the provisions of this act were fully complied with before the issuing of such diploma; whereupon the clerk shall record such diploma in a book to be provided by him for that purpose, and shall endorse upon such diploma the date of filing and recording same, for which he shall receive from such person a fee of one dollar.

SECTION 3. Any person who shall practice, or pretend or attempt to practice or use the system, method or science of Osteopathy in treating diseases of the human body without having complied with the provisions of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, be fined in a sum of not less than fifty nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense. Provided, that nothing in this act shall be construed as prohibiting any legally authorized practitioner of medicine or surgery in this state from curing disease, with or without drugs, or by any manipulation by which any disease may be cured or alleviated.

Upon application, the secretary of the school will forward a pamphlet containing the laws of various states regulating the practice of Osteopathy.

Requirements for Graduation

1 The candidate must have attended this school for not less than four terms of five months each.

2. He must have passed examination in all the branches taught in the regular course. He must file with the Dean not less than one month before the close of the term, written notice that he intends to apply for a diploma of graduation.

The faculty, however, wish it understood that even though a student may have complied with the above requirements, they yet reserve to themselves, and will exercise the right of making moral as well as professional qualifications, an element in their decision. Open irregularity of conduct, negligence, habitual and prolonged absence from classes and neglect or failure to comply with the requirements without sufficient reason will always be regarded as objections to the granting of a diploma.

3. The candidate must be at least 21 years of age.

SURGERY—Parks, American Text Book, Da Costa.
PUBLIC HEALTH—Parkes, Wilson, Davies.
VENEREAL DISEASE—Keyes, Hyde and Montgomery.

Gray, Morris and Gerrish's anatomies are our principal text books for all diseases of climate and seasons of this or any other country, for the reason that we want to emphasize that by our knowledge of anatomy we know the normal, the abnormal and the difference between the two conditions. We practice the healing art successfully; we cure diseases by knowing the normal which we learn from anatomy. We have but one object, which is to learn the normal in form and function of the whole body and to concentrate all our energies to the one object to keep the body in the normal condition. By this, the physiological action may be expected to do normal work, without which diseases as effects of that abnormality appear. The professor of every department will instruct the student in some principle or principles of chemical, physiological, vital, electric and magnetic action pertaining to the functions of animal life.

Examinations.

During the last week of each term, students are required to pass examinations upon the work which they have been over during the term in the several classes.

Supplementary or test examinations are held from time to time through the term, by the professors, according to the character of the work in hand. The students are graded, and their standing determined by their records in class recitations and work, in the test examinations and the term examinations, and they are passed or rejected upon these records.

Registration.

Students will call at the office of the Dean on or before the opening day of the term and register their names and addresses, fill out the matriculation blanks, present their diplomas or certificates or arrange for entrance examination.

N. B.—The registration books will be closed at the end of the first month of each term (Sept. 30, and Feb. 28) and no applicants for matriculation will be enrolled thereafter, until the opening of the next term.

LADIES' RECEPTION HALL.

Women Received.

Women are admitted on the same terms as men. It is the policy of the school that there shall be no distinction as to sex, and that all shall have the same opportunities, and be held to the same requirements. They pursue the same studies, attend the same lectures, are subjected to the same rules, and pass the same examinations. Separate reception rooms and all necessary facilities are provided for their comfort and enjoyment.

Annual Limitation.

The statement in this announcement relative to the course of study, admission of students, conditions, rules, etc., are for the year ending June 30, 1901, only, and are applicable to all students who may be enrolled during that year. The right is reserved to make such changes in the curriculum, corps of instructors, rules of examination, etc., as may be deemed necessary at any time.

Physicians' Course.

Graduates in medicine who do not desire to take the full course, will be received on payment of the regular tuition fee ($300.00) and will be required to pass examination in the work of the first year, and to take the work of the second year, and will then be given a certificate of attendance and qualification.

They will be required however, to attend the full two years' course before they can receive the degree of D. O. Credit cannot be given for work done in other institutions, except recognized schools of Osteopathy, by which students can shorten their graduation.

Rules of Conduct.

The school issues no set code of rules to govern the conduct of students while in attendance, but relies on their own sense of honor as ladies and gentlemen to preserve such order and decorum in the lecture room, laboratories, halls, etc., as are everywhere considered necessary and proper in the ordinary relations of life. The student is expected to pursue his studies with diligence, to attend classes regularly and to live in the exercise of morality and good behavior.

The faculty reserves the right to terminate, at any time, the connection of any student with the school, for manifest unfitness for the pursuit of this work, or for gross immorality or disorderly conduct; and no student whose relations are thus severed, by his own acts, has thereafter any claims upon the school.

Students are required to be regular and prompt in attendance. Not more than twenty per cent. of any one term can be excused, and such excuse will be granted only for unavoidable absence, such as sickness. Students absent more than twenty per cent. of any one term will lose that term.

Students are not allowed to practice Osteopathy. Students after their third term may assist a regular graduate, provided they do so strictly under the supervision of the graduate.

Students are reminded that the laws of the school are made to be kept and the school intends honestly to carry out its own regulations and the laws of the different states that have recognized Osteopathy, so that students need not ask special privileges inconsistent with these laws and regulations.

No student will be excused from school before the close of each term after the regular examinations have been held. Students not attending the regular final examinations will fail to receive credit for that term's work. In no case will special examinations be held.

X-RAY ROOM.

Laboratories.

The school has excellent laboratories for all branches of study where laboratory work is essential. All of these laboratories are supplied with the best and most modern apparatus and are so arranged as to accommodate a large number of students at a time. Following is a list of the laboratories: anatomical, chemical, histological, pathological and physiological. There are no laboratory fees, the student being allowed the use of the laboratories and materials free of charge, except the price of material for dissection, which is fifteen dollars.

The school at all times has an abundance of dissecting material on hand, so that those who desire it can take the special course in dissection given under the instruction of the demonstrator of anatomy.

Journal of Osteopathy.

The school maintains one of the largest school journals published in the United States. The JOURNAL OF OSTEOPATHY is devoted to the advancement of the science of Osteopathy, it is printed monthly and in no edition are there less than ten thousand numbers sold and distributed. This Journal contains articles from graduates and professors, also clinical reports and many other things that are of interest to those who desire to investigate the science of Osteopathy. The subscription price of this Journal is $1.00 per year.

Degree Conferred.

The American School of Osteopathy confers the degree of D. O.—Doctor of Osteopathy.

Tuition Fees and Expenses.

The price of a scholarship entitling the holder to a full course is $300 in cash or $350 in secured note. There are no other charges of any kind during the course except the price of material for dissection. This admits the student to all lectures, recitations, laboratory work, clinics, etc., as provided in curriculum, and entitles him to a diploma on completion of course.

The tuition for the full course must be settled at the beginning of the first term. If part cash is paid suitable note will be taken for the balance of the tuition.

For example, if $150.00 is paid in cash at the beginning of the first term, at the same time a note must be given for $175.00.

The expenses of living in Kirksville are not great. Good board may be secured at from $3 to $5 per week. Students desiring them can rent rooms furnished or unfurnished and board themselves, thereby somewhat lessening the expense.

Students will be assisted in finding suitable boarding places; when they so desire.

For catalogue, or any information regarding the school, address, AMERICAN SCHOOL OF OSTEOPATHY, Kirksville, Mo.

Location.

Kirksville has a population of about 10,000. It is located in the northern part of the state on the Wabash and Omaha, Kansas City and Eastern Railroads. The city has all the advantages common to other cities of its size, such as electric lights, water works, paved streets, granitoid and brick walks, handsome public and private buildings.

The city is well equipped with schools, has a High School, Conservatory of Music and Languages, and State Normal. As to churches, nine religious denominations are represented; all have suitable and in several instances magnificent church buildings. They are: Presbyterian, Baptist, North and South Methodist, Christian, Cumberland Presbyterian, Trinity Episcopal, Catholic and United Brethren.

Societies.

The students have established a number of societies for the purpose of professional and social advancement. There are at present six permanent organizations, viz:—The Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Senior Society, Southern Club, Atlas Club for gentlemen and Axis Club for ladies. All of these associations are under student control.

Senior Society.

This Society has been conducted by the Senior classes for the reading and discussion of such papers of professional interest as are suggested by the existing conditions.

The topics considered during the term ending June, '00 were as follows: What does Osteopathy embrace, and its relation to the scientific world. Serum Therapy, Bacteriology, Surgery, Tuberculosis, Hydrotherapy, Massage, and their relation to Osteopathy.

The value of Osteopathic treatment in Dyspepsia, Constipation, Obstetrics and Gynecology. What is meant by Osteopathic stimulation and inhibition? Professional ethics for the Osteopath.

Any member of the senior class is eligible to membership.

Y. M. C. A.

The Young Men's Christian Association in the American School of Osteopathy, was organized in the year of 1898, for the purpose common to all similar associations, of promoting all around christian manhood. It holds weekly devotional meetings, conducts a course of systematic Bible study, and offers to the students and citizens a very high class course of lectures and concerts.

Together with the Y. W. C. A. it provides a comfortable reading room on the third floor of the school building, and has charge of the medical reference books of the school.

Its representatives will gladly assist new students in securing rooms and boarding places, and such students are especially welcome to the rooms and meetings of the Association.

Library and Reading Room.

The Library furnishes excellent facilities for such supplementary reading and study, as students may desire in connection with their regular work. It contains standard text books and works of reference on all subjects having a bearing on the course.

The reading room is also provided with anatomical and physiological charts, with accompanying explanatory keys, skeletons, both articulated and disarticulated, models, diagrams, etc., all of which are at the service of the students under suitable regulations.
