

A photograph of three healthcare professionals, two men and one woman, standing in a clinical setting. They are all wearing white lab coats over professional attire. The woman on the left has long dark hair and is looking towards the camera with a slight smile. The man in the middle has short dark hair and a goatee, smiling broadly. The man on the right has short dark hair and is looking slightly to the side with a neutral expression. The background is a blurred clinical environment with blue and white tones.
