Dedication

To our Professor Emeritus, the patron-saint of all Osteopaths, the loving and lovable personality, who has been the guiding star and foundation head of inspiration to all his students, that "Grand Old Man" of Osteopathy,

Dr. Andrew T. Still,

the 1915-Osteoblast is lovingly and gratefully dedicated, and when we leave our Alma Mater, we will go out from under your guidance with a feeling of loyalty to you and the principles you have taught us, second only to the love of our God. We want to assure you that the esteem in which we shall always hold your memory will ever remain with us an incentive to the honorable performance of every duty of our noble profession.

Foreword

Kind friends, this volume we submit to you,
Not as a master might, for that were vain;
For well we know that imperfections do
Exist between its covers. Yet, refrain
From too harsh criticism as you read!
For we have striven here to give to you
A faithful picture of this life we lead,
And of our smiles—and tears. Aye, all we do
And labor for, at this, our school, we fain
Would set before you. And, if we succeed
In doing this, then surely not in vain
Has been our work, and joy were ours indeed.

A New Year

Another year has faded forever from us, carrying in its train a myriad of impressions of shadow and sunshine,—of vain regret and fullest satisfaction!

A New Year, fresh with the hope of fuller achievement, lies plastic in our grasp, for us to mold it as we will!

In it, may we come beyond the golden portal of the castle of our dreams;

In it, may we realize in largest measure the "twice blessing," spirit of fraternity, the energizing thrill of optimism, the joy there is in pure, unselfish love;

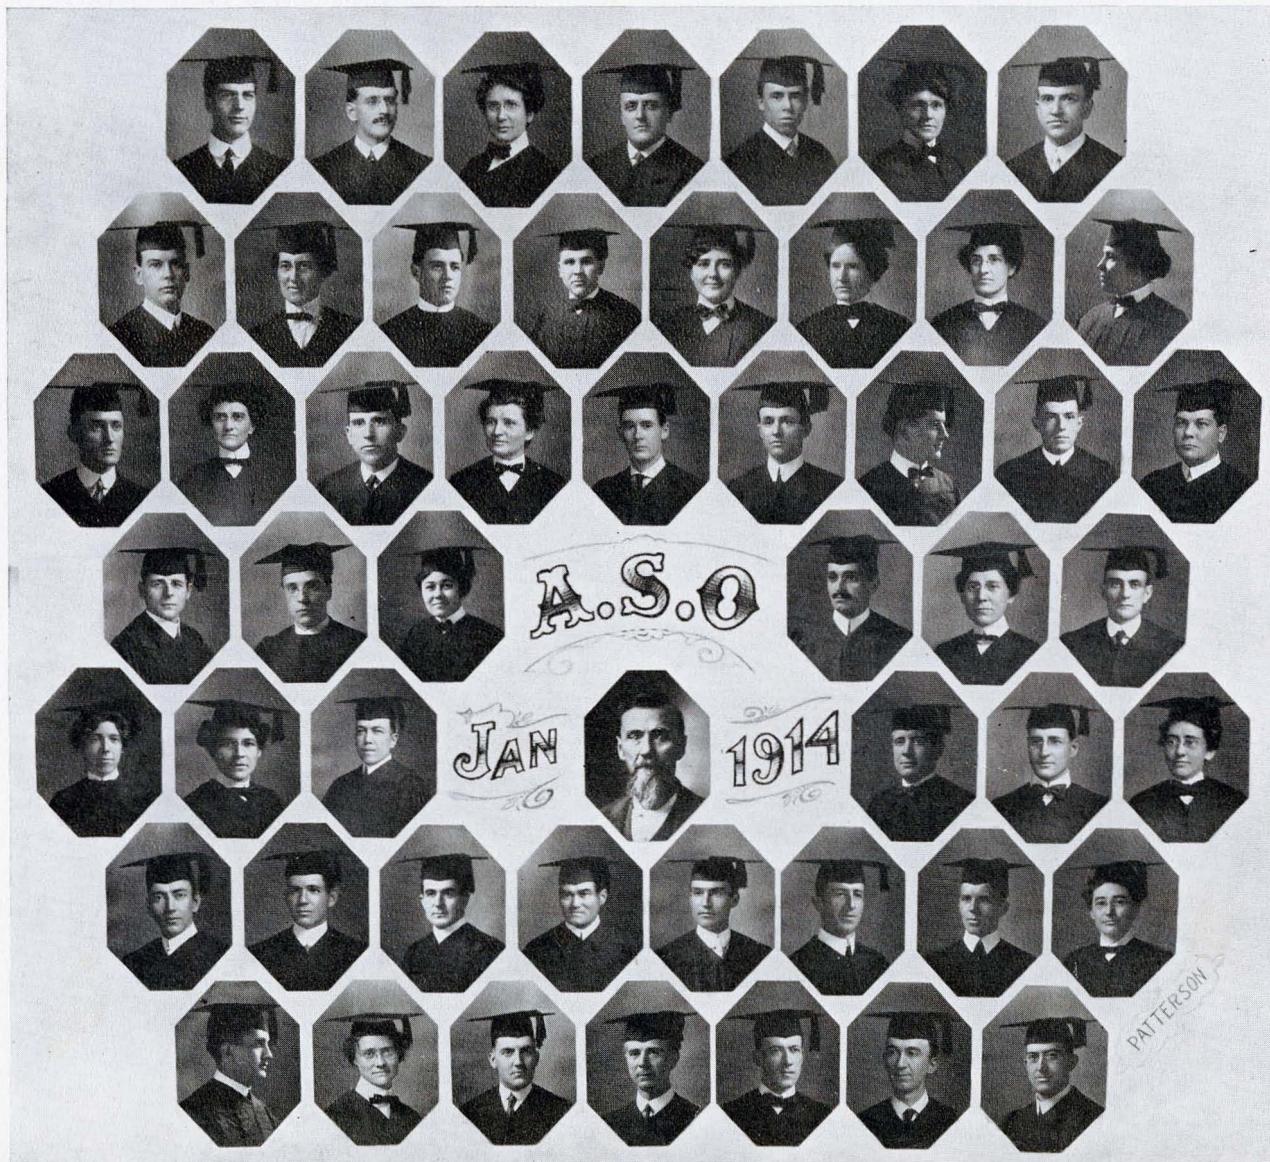

In it, may we hear the call to nobler service, and to that larger life in which no thought of self can enter or remain;

In it, may we be spared the poignant bitterness of unguarded moments and their toll;

In earnest performance of its duties, large and small, may we find our greatest pleasure!

Auf Wiederseh'n

To the Senior Class, June 1914.

Two happy years have passed since first we met you;
Two years replete with joy in friendships made;
Two years of daily contact and endeavor;
Two years whose memories will never fade!

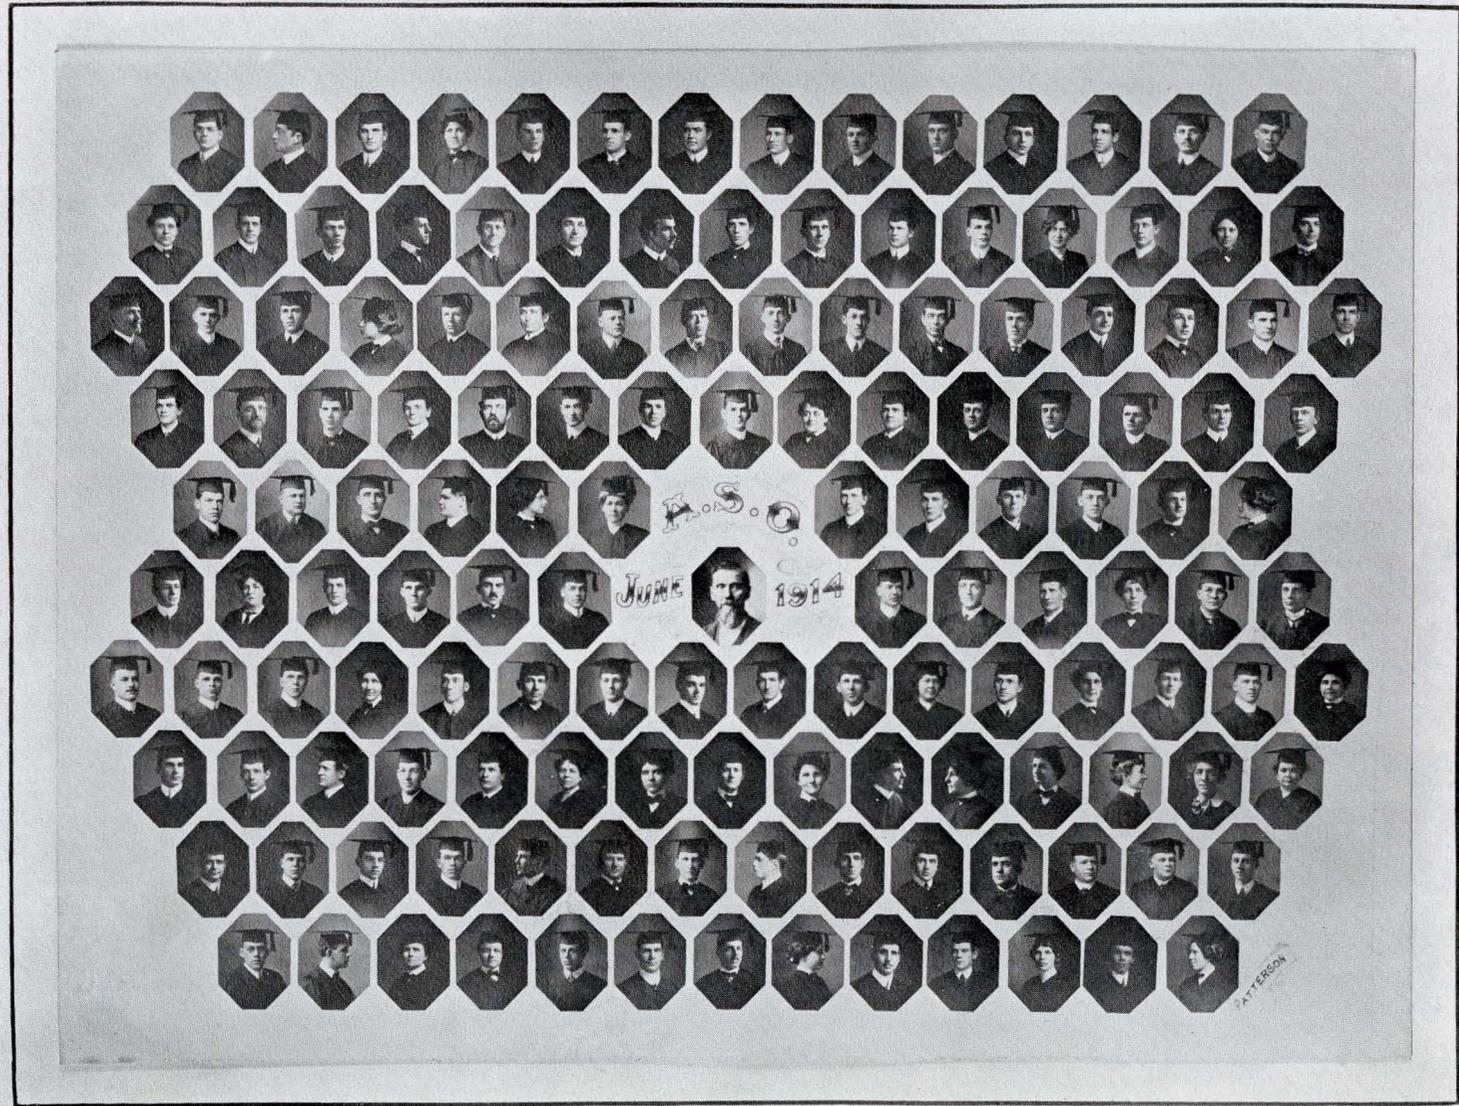

We've worked with you and shared your joy and sorrow.
Ours is a common goal, our aims are one!
And now, that you are nearing their attainment,
We would rejoice with you in labor done.

But with it all there comes a note of sadness,
For soon, too soon, you'll leave these scenes behind;
And, faring forth, you'll mingle with a nation,
Each one of you his place in life to find.

It is with sorrow then that we would bid you Godspeed! Our tear-dimmed eyes will watch you go;
Our prayers for you will rise before the Father,
That you the fullness of this life may know!

We will not say goodbye, for surely sometime,
As swiftly pass the years, we'll meet again;
But rather as you go we'll leave this promise
Of future happiness—Auf Wiederseh'n!

John H. Styles, Jr.

CLASSES OSTEOPLAST. 1915

January Class—1915

Presidents

W. GARDNER

CLAUDE A. PENGRA

HARRY B. SYLER

FRED M. BEAN
Theta Psi
Fort Worth, Texas
"He never loved, that can conceal his love."
"Lima" is a gentleman from Texas. As is true of most gallant folks, he is very popular with the fair sex.
He has established a reputation for being a specialist on the gastro-intestinal tract.

GEORGE A. ALEXANDER
Atlas Club Lynd, Minn.
*"Every noble activity makes room for itself,
A great mind is a great sailor, as a great heart is."*
"Alex," as he is known by his classmates, has a hobby for pathology and slot machines. He has good fortune with both.
His anaemic appearance excites the sympathy of his many friends. He does not believe in smoking, except after and between meals.

LILA MAY BROADHURST
Goldsboro, N. C.
"It is worth a thousand pounds a year to have the habit of looking on the bright side of things."
Everyone knows her nickname, so we refrain from using it here.
Too general and sweeping statements are not to her liking, it seems.
One morning, before Christmas vacation, when she arrived late at eight o'clock class, for a very good reason, Dr. Laughlin remarked, "every thing goes at Christmas time". "No doctor, she replied, "the unfortunate must remain".

G. W. BARRETT
Atlas Club
Ann Arbor, Michigan
"The strawberry grows 'neath the nettle."
"Red" takes pride in his ruddy thatch and is fond of making a hit on an oral recitation.
Clog dancing is a diversion which should suit him, as his reputation for being handy with his feet is well known.

RUSSELL P. BURNHAM
Theta Psi
Fellow American Institute
Cleveland, Ohio
"Everybody has his own theatre, in which he is actor, prompter, and playwright."
Though, superficially, his dome is said to be denuded, yet underneath there lies a wealth of wisdom's truths gleaned from Shakespeare.

CLASSES OSTEOBLAST. 1915

EMILY G. FERGUSON
Axis Club Crestline, Kan.
"The hand that hath made you fair hath made you good."

There is no one more modest than "Becky" and her voice is low and sweet. In fact it is so low that the faculty have threatened to take up a subscription among themselves to buy her a megaphone.

The remarkable blond effect to her hair is due to the bleaching qualities of the sunflower state sun, and not as you may think, to peroxide.

EDWARD E. CHAPPELL
Stillionian Club
Des Lacs, N. D.

"Here comes a man of comfort, whose advice hath often still'd my brawling discontent."

Edward is the one who can sell books, even to the illiterate. He has one hobby—lesions. Though very backward about pushing himself forward he can always be depended upon to deliver the goods.

MRS. M. E. FARREN
Kirksville, Mo.

"Sweet are the uses of adversity."

"Mother" is one of our favorites. She never misses a class, and never substitutes her notebook in place of brains. When she does not know, she has nerve enough to say so.

LESTER L. FERGUSON
Corydon, Iowa

"The man who is fond of books is usually a man of lofty thought, and of elevated opinions."

Lester, is almost as retiring and reticent as his classmate of the same name, still they claim to have no relationship this side of the original Adam and Eve.

It is this very fact that makes us believe in the old adage, that the traits of the forefathers will be visited upon the descendants—even to the nine hundred and ninth generation.

Who says our theory of inheritance is not a fathom ahead of modern eugenics.

STELLA B. CORRELL
Axis Club Peoria, Ill.

"The axis 'neath the atlas, and Yonder's the man."

Occasionally there are lesions between the atlas and the axis, but not so in this case, we assure you. Osteopathy is able to remove most any lesion, it seems.

EMILY G. FERGUSON
Axis Club Crestline, Kan.

"The hand that hath made you fair hath made you good."

There is no one more modest than "Becky" and her voice is low and sweet. In fact it is so low that the faculty have threatened to take up a subscription among themselves to buy her a megaphone.

The remarkable blond effect to her hair is due to the bleaching qualities of the sunflower state sun, and not as you may think, to peroxide.

EDWARD E. CHAPPELL
Stillonian Club
Des Lacs, N. D.

"Here comes a man of comfort, whose advice hath often still'd my brawling discontent."

Edward is the one who can sell books, even to the illiterate.

He has one hobby—lesions. Though very backward about pushing himself forward he can always be depended upon to deliver the goods.

Kirksville, Mo.

"Sweet are the uses of adversity."

"Mother" is one of our favorites. She never misses a class, and never substitutes her notebook in place of brains. When she does not know, she has nerve enough to say so.

LESTER L. FERGUSON
Corydon, Iowa

"The man who is fond of books is usually a man of lofty thought, and of elevated opinions."

Lester, is almost as retiring and reticent as his classmate of the same name, still they claim to have no relationship this side of the original Adam and Eve.

It is this very fact that makes us believe in the old adage, that the traits of the forefathers will be visited upon the descendants—even to the nine hundred and ninth generation.

Who says our theory of inheritance is not a fathom ahead of modern eugenics.

Axis Club Peoria, Ill.

"The axis 'neath the atlas, and Yonder's the man."

Occasionally there are lesions between the atlas and the axis, but not so in this case, we assure you. Osteopathy is able to remove most any lesion, it seems.

D. V. GLADMAN
Niagara Falls, Ontario
"Power is more safely retained by caution, than by severe counsels."

"Happy" is the man who says, "I don't know a thing about that", and will then proceed to write an "A" paper on the subject.

When he asks you for information, be sure he doesn't know more about it than you do yourself.

CHARLES R. GARDNER
Curtis, Nebraska
"Know this, that troubles come swifter than the things we desire."

Gardner has the idea that the way to get wisdom is to stick around an upper classman and acquire it by absorption. Still it is hard on the seniors to compel them to share with us their hard earned ripeness. Dr. Gerdine's advice is "rub out your greenness on the faculty".

CORA MAY FOWLER
Delta Omega
Belles Lettres, Kansas State Normal
Dodge City, Kansas

*"Pluck wins, it always wins.
Though days be slow and nights be dark 'twixt days that come and go."*

"Cozy" made her reputation during the first of the course by discovering a cheap process for the manufacture of chili sauce from chile saltpeter.

She claims that an electric coupe and a faithful bull-dog are two valuable assets for a lady D.O. However, when it comes down to brass tacks she would sacrifice both luxuries for a Kansas broncho and a good hound.

WILLIAM GARDNER
Acacia Club
Alpha Delta Phi
A. B., Amherst College.
Kirksville, Mo.

"In almost everything, experience is more valuable than precept."

He was originally cut to fit the pattern of a sky-pilot, but it was thought that the material could be used to better purpose in the form of a D.O., so he was sent to the A.S.O. to be re-cut.

By the end of the course, no doubt, he will be so well finished that we can guarantee him to fit the Osteopathic form, and to not shrink from anything except a cold draught.

ROY J. GABLE
Byesville, Ohio
*"The narrow vale is not for me,
I'll climb a mountain peak and see."*

Gable is the seventh son of the seventh son, all D.O.'s.

He is a hard worker and a good student, and is the only man in the class that can cause a worried look to appear on the face of Dr. Hollis.

DAVID THOMAS GRIFFITH
Atlas Club, Kirksville, Mo.
"Reason can generally do more than blind force."

"Davey" is acknowledged by all his classmates to be a jolly good fellow. Osteopathy is the only thing he ever took seriously, and the prognosis is that he will never recover.

NORMAN C. GLOVER
Theta Psi New York City
"On with the dance, let joy be unconfined."

"Kid" hails from way down east, if you do not believe it just listen to his accent and be convinced.

He looks and feels at home in a dress suit, and his favorite form of relaxation, from a strenuous week of study, is dancing, at which art he is said to be an adept.

BERTHA KATTMAN
Delta Omega Brazil, Ind.
"This above all, to thine own self be true,

Thou canst not then be false to any man."

Bertha, at one time, was the censor of manners, morals and the dance, but she has resigned that position to devote her whole time to the study of Osteopathy. She has come to the conclusion that she can't be Jack-of-all-trades and master practitioner of one.

FREDERICK T. HICKS
Acacia Club
Erie, Pennsylvania

"Zealous, yet modest; patient to toil."

Literally, Hicks understands how to make the dough, and this has enabled him to keep in the ranks of January 1915, and he will be able to make the other kind of "dough" when he gets into practice, and at the same time leaven the loaf of Osteopathy.

GEORGE HAMPTON
Tekamah, Nebraska
"He that departs with his own honesty,

For vulgar praise, doth it too dearly buy."

Hampton is the bustling, noisy student who always has an answer ready for every question, but is sometimes afraid to turn it loose.

George is one of the boys who does not believe in riding his pony inside, and is sure to get there just the same.

COLIN HOLLIDAY
Quebec City, Canada
*"My hand alone my work can do;
So, I can fish and study too."*
Though a Canadian, he speaks and thinks in U. S.

His chief diversion in class is to talk French to Mrs. Harrington.

He has fished so much he can tell from where the salmon came, by looking at the label on the can.

J. EARL KANE
Atlas Club
Phi Gamma Delta
St. John's College
Toledo, Ohio

"Courtesy is the cheapest thing in the world, and goes the farthest."

Kane is the one that puts sugar on the sour things of life, and still has plenty of sucrose left for himself. He is smooth of tongue, smooth of touch—not a grafter, however, but an Osteopath.

EDITH KIDDER
Axis Club
Waterville, Maine

"Affection is the broadest basis for a good life."

When it comes to that Yankee accent, Miss Kidder has Boston backed off the map.

She is one of that class of ladies who insist that they do not wish to be "encumbered" with a husband.

(Toast:—"May her sun never set".)

HARRY B. HOOK
Theta Psi
Phi Sigma Gamma
Corydon, Iowa
Iowa State Agricultural College

"He thought as a sage, tho he felt as a man."

We are convinced that the name does not fit him, for no one could be more straightforward than this ruddy son of Iowa.

FRANK H. HEALY
Theta Psi Kirksville, Mo.
*"To the sick, while there is life,
there is hope."*

We are sure that "Runt" will always be able to plow his way through the line for good gains.

The name—Healy—sounds good to us, and no doubt will to his patients. It also sounds familiar to our advertisers as "Runt" is an all around general booster, as he is our official advertising manager.

EPHONZO LINHART
Browning, Mo.

"Go forth, under the open sky, and list to Nature's teachings."

His specialty is "manips", and he is a connoisseur in the art. His motto is the same as that of his native state—"show me."

KATHLEEN MAYO
Delta Omega
Jackson, Tenn.

"Vaulting ambition doth o'erleap itself, and falls on the other side."

"Miss Tennessee" has a disposition as sunny as her home state, and this explains her immunity to the grouch and the blues.

HATTIE R. McCLAIN
Kirksville, Mo.
A. B. Kirksville State Normal School

"We were born to do benefits".

Why should a "normal" girl choose to associate with the abnormal all her life? We don't know—but in this case it is true. Perhaps she hopes to make all her patients normal. However, it is a bad policy to cure them all, and very unethical.

BLANCHE E. KINNEY
Bloomfield, Iowa

"Many a man's tongue shakes out his master's undoing."

She came here to take a course of study in the Y.W.C.A. As a side-line she carries some studies in the A.S.O., most of which are character studies, and she is an "A" student in this line. If there is anything you want to know about anybody, ask Kinney.

CYRUS P. KNOWLTON
Waterloo, Wis.

*"My tongue within my lips I reign,
For who talks much, must talk in vain."*

Percy is younger than the average student, but what he lacks in years he makes up by hard plugging at his studies.

His quiet, unobtrusive manner is no indication of his ability—so don't be misled.

DE LA TOURE MOSS
Burlington, Ia.

"We think a happy life consists in tranquility of mind."

There is not a more happy-go-lucky chap anywhere than "De". He never gets frustrated over anything—not even an "exam". Therefore he is the envy of all who are not so happily constituted.

JAMES ROSS MONROE
Toledo, Ohio

"Home is the resort of love, of joy, of peace, and plenty."

"Jimmy" is the "Casey Jones" of the class. He has craned his neck out of the right side of a locomotive cab window so much of his life that he still looks at things from a right view point.

PETER D. PAULS
Lehigh, Kansas

"I am not in the roll of common men."

"Oom Pauls", president of the Amalgamated Treating Table Trust, is not afraid to do his own work if necessary. His sideline is Osteopathy, in which he is very proficient.

Pauls is one who believes in doing his best at all times.

Atlas Club Portland, Ore.

"We enjoy ourselves only in our work, our doings, and our best doing is our best enjoyment."

Pengra, or "Pa", as he is known by his friends, has the distinction of being our first class-president.

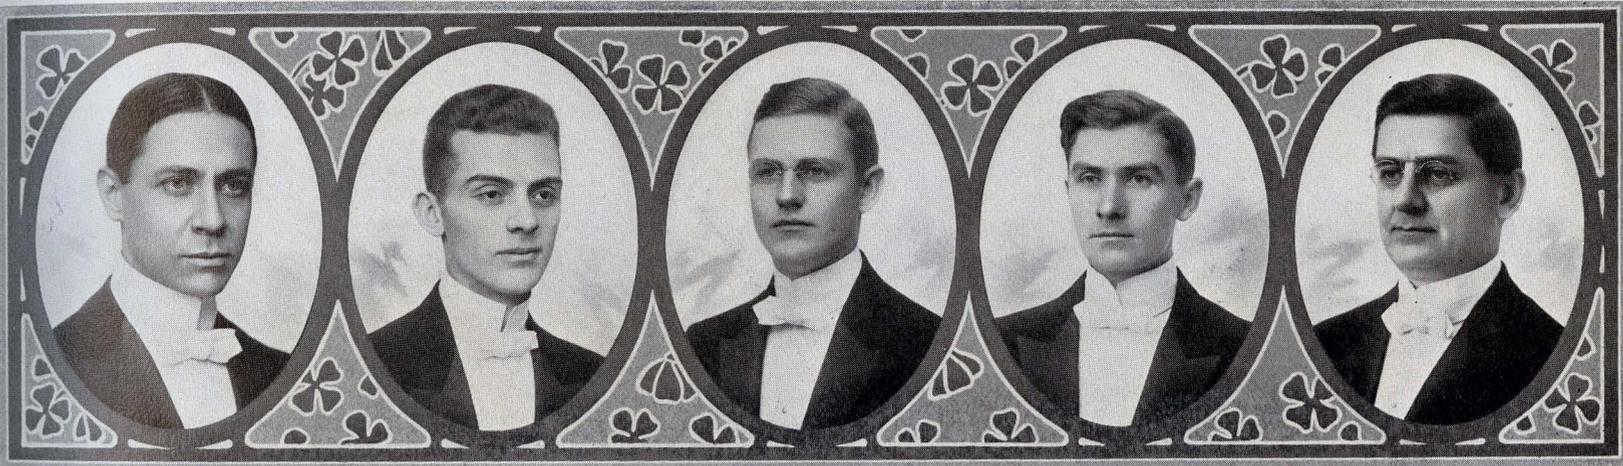

He has added to his domestic troubles by taking charge of Bacteriology lab.

Pa is always on his toes when he has anything to say.

LLOYD I. RIFENBARK
Atlas Club Huron College
Big Stone City, S. Dakota

"Virtue, the strength and beauty of the soul, is the best gift of heaven."

"Rife" is the one with the big voice. He claims he is too busy to use it—though we do hear it occasionally in the class room. He is one of the retiring kind who doesn't keep his talent on parade.

GEORGE D. SCOTT
Acacia Club
San Francisco, Cal.

"I came, I saw, I conquered."
Scotty, who was at one time owner and publisher of one of the greatest papers on the coast, decided Osteopathy needed a boost and came here to give it. He gained distinction by editing Dr. Deason's physiology and taking the task of instructing in physiology lab. Scotty hadn't been here long before he stirred the sea of scientific thought by the discovery of a new bacillus.

ROBERT E. SCHAEFER
Atlas Club
A. B., Leander Clark College
Wykoff, Minn.

"Moderation is the silken string, running through the pearl chain of all virtues."
If school interferes with matrimony, cut out school. "Deacon" followed this advice and slipped away long enough to wed a wife and bring her back with him, but we all forgave him.

BYRON J. SNYDER
Atlas Club      Fulton, Ill.

"The young venerate and look up to their teachers."
This is one of our forty-eight varieties. He wears his eye glasses like a veteran; by this trait you may know him. Its pretty hard to fool the professors but he is one that can do the trick and not bat an eyelid.

WILLIAM SCHULZ
Columbus, Ohio

"A friend is worth all hazards we can run."
"Germany" Schulz achieved fame in the inter-class contest by winning the heavy weight wrestling bout. Bill has a hobby, which is Shakespeare. Being very exact in his statements is such a habit that when Dr. Bigsby asked if the bacillus tuberculosis stained with difficulty, Bill answered, "No, with carbol-fuchsin".

J. F. SPITLER
Phi Omicron Gamma
L. L. B. Ohio Northern University.
Troy, Ohio

"There is no medicine equal to a merry laugh—well mixed with fresh air."
All agree that Spittler is the most quiet (?) fellow in school. If you are looking for a doctor to cure a case of blues send for him and his laugh. He would rather laugh than eat, but he can do the latter too, for he frankly acknowledges that he can assimilate a biscuit if he spies one a block away.

A. F. WINKLEMAN
Atlas Club St. Louis, Mo.
*"There are occasions and causes,
why and wherefore in all things."*

"Wink" is champion long distance walker of the class—but he always has someone to set the pace. The only dope he uses to maintain his rugged health is a well filled pipe of tobacco. Cigarette's were made for neurotics, he claims.

H. E. TUNNELL
Union Star, Mo.
"Good temper, like a sunny day, sheds brightness over everything."

He has the sand—both in his complexion and character. He will bear watching, for he will slip one over on you whenever he can.

We opine that January '15 will slip a good one over to the profession when he gets out.

FRED E. WILLIS
Theta Psi Wapella, Ill.
"The practical effect of a belief is the real test of its soundness."

He is one of the benedicts of our class. His answers are usually deliberate, but they are accurate and to the point. Detail worries him—so he takes refuge in "Potter's" Quiz, and "Hughes' Practice", etc. His motto is: "Take your work in concentrated doses."

OTHO M. WHITMORE
Atlas Club
M. A., Randolph Macon
College
Staunton, Va.

*"Though modest, on his unem-barrassed brow
Nature hath written—gentleman."*

"Whit" came from old "Virginney" and brought his southern dialect with him. He is the one man in the class who can make Gerdine's head swim by giving an exhaustive answer to a question. His spare time is spent in drumming up business for the A.S.O. "Y.M".

HARRY B. SYLER
Atlas Club Topeka, Kans.
*"He that is thy friend indeed,
He will help thee in thy need."*

"Sy" is one man that doesn't believe in letting opportunity slip by unnoticed, so he followed the example of several others of his class and married.

This isn't the only way he shows good judgment either. He will be a credit to his profession.

History of the January Class--1915

Two years have elapsed since we were introduced to Chemistry Hall and what a crude place we thought it was and still far worse when we heard those upper classmen yell "Let 'em out" we had another thought as to what the end might be.

After the first week we were positive of the fact that we could give a specific treatment, and wondered why we were to be kept here for three years, but since keeping in touch with our various subjects we have just begun to realize what it is all about.

Each semester brings new subjects more interesting than the last and now we are permitted to give real treatments, the one thing to which the students long look forward. Not until we came face to face with diseased conditions did we realize how much we still have to learn in the short time that is passing so rapidly.

The little god has not been idle during the past year. George Hampton took unto himself a golden-haired lady during the last Christmas vacation; Robert Schaefer also ventured, and reports favorably as he no longer gets homesick; Syler was also tempted and as a result changed from a "wee" room to a cottage in the extreme east end; Healy thought consultation better, and captured a lady after his own profession. Others may follow soon.

We have been unlucky in losing a few of our number, some entering other schools, some back to the farm, and some in practice in Arkansas, so Miss Wolfe reports.

Some of our scientific discoveries have been made by members of our class; Miss Fowler found a new use for chili saltpetre; Knowlton discovered a good treatment for the use of excessive amounts of whiskey; Miss Kinney invented a new and effective treatment, in the case of a child drinking varnish; Pengra found an original way of describing certain portions of the brain; Winkleman has an effective description for butyric acid.

On February fourteenth we met the baby Freshman class in an athletic contest which replaced the color rush, and as has been usual throughout our school history, we were victorious, winning four points out of seven and establishing a record of being able to take care of ourselves.

On February twenty-first the class honored itself in entertaining its late opponent, and the student body, at a reception in Memorial Hall. A good program was rendered, and a large number attended. We are under obligations to friends from other classes who helped to make the entertainment a success.

During the history of our class, death has twice invaded our ranks. On November twenty-seventh Mrs. Clara Blackford passed away after a long illness. Although she had been in school only one semester she had made many friends. On February twenty-seventh Miss Dora Johnson died at her home from an attack of pneumonia; she was only a member of our class for a short time but was well known to our members and her death occasioned profound regret.

We are glad to know that some members of our class are specializing along various lines, as Pengra, in Bacteriology; Scott in Physiology; Alexander in Pathology; Winkleman and Broadhurst in Heart lessons; success is surely their goal as they are always on the job.

As our class has been most active in all forms of school work we should enter this, our last year, with a more determined effort to accomplish the future work and to even make more steps toward the goal, so that we may be well qualified when January fifteenth comes to go out and face the world in a most intelligent way and win for ourselves, success.

June Class—1915

Apostrophe to the Class of June 1915

Thou stand'st for Truth! Emblazoned on thy shield
Is Honor, Right, Integrity and Worth!
Thy many units bow and homage yield
To thy fair name. Aye, at thy very birth
Men looked on thee and said, "No dross is there."
They called thee good; and steadily thy fame
Hath spread abroad, until distinctions, rare
And manifold, have made for thee a name
Unsullied. Peer thou art of any Class,
And Time shall mark thee well! Thy name shall be Among the first! And, as the years shall pass,
Achievement will proclaim the fame of thee
To all the world!
And those whose names are writ
Upon thy lists—now let them harken well:
For in their hands thy honor rests, and it Must e'er remain unspotted! Let them quell
All avarice, and greed, for these are vain!
Let each so live that, when his race is run,
He may return to thee thy perfect name,
And thou may'st say to him, "My son, well done!"

JOHN M. BERRY
Sharpsburg, Ky.

"In every rank, both great and small, it is industry that supports us all."

This is the other Berry. He is here to learn osteopathy and believes that anatomy is the foundation. John does not make much noise about it, but he will be heard from later.

ELLIS L. BLUE
Alpha Tau Sigma
London, Ohio

"The hisping infant prattling on his knee

Does his many cares beguile."

"Bluey" is rather bashful, and so it was some time before he found himself and before we found him. Fearing that time might hang heavily on his hands, he brought a family with him. Early marriage is his hobby. We know he thinks much because he seldom speaks.

ANNA MERLE BESLIN
Stillonian Club
Aberdeen, South Dakota

"And her modest answer and graceful air,

Show her wise and good as she is fair."

This sunny-haired maiden is possessed of just as sunny a disposition. For years she saw what her father, a successful D.O., could do, admiring, but unmoved toward Kirksville, until at times he must have feared that he would fail to make an osteopath of her. But she came, and who doubts that she will "make fail" (Mac Phail) spell success?

RUSSELL E. ANDREWS, Jr.
Chi Delta
Murfreesboro, Tenn.

"A genial disposition brings its owner many friends."

"Nigger" has established an enviable reputation as a toxicologist at school. His specialty is Marsh's test for arsenic, the technique of which he has at his tongue's end most of the time. His good humor is as contagious as is happiness in spring time, and we lay great store by "our member from Tennessee."

LOUIS J. BURK
Kirksville, Mo.

"If speech were golden, he would be a millionaire."

"Louie" is one of our local members. Previously he was engaged in the meat business, but he decided to change to the gentler pursuit of osteopathy, and hence his presence with us. He is one of the many Kirksville men and women who have heard the call of the "Old Doctor" and have turned aside to follow in his footsteps. We like our Louie, for he is as good natured as the day is long, and the "cares which infest the day" have no terrors for him. He just naturally ignores them.

ROLLA H. BROWN
Phi Omicron Gamma
Huron, Kans.

*"There was one whose open face
Did his innermost heart reveal."*

Rolla's demand for ocular stimuli in the classroom causes one to believe he is a Missourian, though he insists Kansas is his natural habitat. The flourishing practice last summer may be due to the knowledge derived from "being shown". In the fussing department, few excel Rolla. Loving variety, he sits with a different girl each day in North Hall.

HUGH M. BABBITT
Niles, Michigan

*"I am one, my liege, whom the vile blows and buffets of
the world,*

*Have so incens'd, that I am reckless what I do to spite
the world."*

"Huge" hails from Niles, Michigan. We can't blame him for that. His superb line of talk will admit him anywhere and carry him over much stormy ground. As a student he has never allowed his work to get the better of him.

LEANORA SIMS BRUNER
University of Illinois
Kappa Kappa Gamma
Axis Club Urbana, Ill.

"Oh Lady, nobility is thine, and thy form is the reflection of thy nature."

"Lee" is the university bred portion of her twin sister, Flora Kaempfen. Attractive in the highest degree and ladylike under all circumstances, many of us have found that she has something up her sleeve besides a pretty arm; that with little difficulty she maintains complete mastery over him, her or it, whichever it may be. In conversation she responds to anything—religion, socialism, fried rabbit, baby nieces.

DAVID W. BALMAT
Chi Delta
Carthage, N. Y.

*"Yes he thinks a lot of school,
And always makes it clear
After college days are gone
Comes the work of a career."*

Dave is very keen after knowledge and so we know him as a diligent student. He has a happy disposition, very decided views, and loves an argument above all things. A conflict with either words or fists appeals to him; to which any member of the June '16 class will testify.

SILAS M. BENNETT
Steamburg, N. Y.

*"A humble strength and willingness to bear
The burdens which strict duty ever layeth."*

Bennett decided that Osteopathy was much superior to railroading and left the iron trail for the trail of the lonesome spine. Although a man with family cares, his face is wreathed with smiles and crowned with curls. He is a good serious student and in dissection he specialized in bones.

MYRON B. BARSTOW
Atlas Club
Scotland, Conn.

"It is good to lengthen to the last sunny mood."

Myron claims the distinction of being the youngest member of our class. While he is not always in mischief, yet he will bear constant watching. Light hearted and cheerful he goes among us, boosting many a grouch into the rubbish pile, solving his problems in serious thought between the four walls of his room.

A. J. BADGETT
Knoxville, Tenn.

"Speech was made to open man to man, and not to hide him."

"Bag" is a gentleman of the South, a feather weight mimic, on a diet of his own prescribing, who is most active in the wee small hours, and in the class room where he "picks things up" readily. We understand that he has dreams once in a while that carry him back to Tennessee.

ETHEL BOYD
Axis Club
Glen Elder, Kans.

*"I slept and dreamed that life was beauty,
I woke and found that life was duty."*

Witty and humorous, Ethel possesses at the same time a sturdy independence and unfaltering devotion to what she considers her duty. In the lighter vein her favorite diversion is teasing her friends. Her grade card can never be used for an alphabet for there is only one letter on it—"A".

ANDREW E. BERRY
Kane, Illinois

*"I know what's right, nor only so
But also practice what I know."*

Berry says that he drifted in from the farm, but we don't believe it. He is a dairyman in the A.S.O. neighborhood, cocciferous to be sure, supports a large family, runs a "Ford", and as a minor matter keeps up his studies.

S. L. BAILEY
Chi Delta
Phi Lambda Epsilon
B. PD. Kirksville State
Normal School
Kirksville, Mo.

"He is a self-made man, and he adores his maker."

Bailey, the present head of our Histology Laboratory, is not the man who wrote Bailey's "Histology", as one might think after attending one of his lectures, but he is an able exponent of the same. He is another of our local members, having attended the Normal School before entering A.S.O. He is a veritable bundle of enthusiasm, an earnest student, and a prime favorite with the ladies.

C. S. BROOKE
Brownstown, Ind.

"A man who loves his own fire-side."

"Brookie" is an all-around man, husband, father, Osteopath and musician. He is energetic, diligent and persevering; and if he does not make a name for himself high up in the annals of the profession, rest assured that it will be because of an obstacle too great for moral hands to combat. He has been a faithful member of the Band, is now one of its officers, and has always been one of its ablest performers on the "squeal-stick."

A. LINCOLN BLACK
Washburn, Ill.

"Every man rejoices when he has a partner to his joy."

"Judge" sells health foods while studying osteopathy. Truly 'tis a consistent occupation. Once he thought to leave us, but the call of the "Old Doctor" proved too strong to be resisted, and so he came back again to sit with us at the feet of "David" and learn from him the great truths underlying our chosen field of endeavor. Black is white. You will believe it when you know him.

MAUDE C. BONSHIRE
Stillonian Club
Anderson, Indiana

"For when she will, she will and you can depend on it,

And when she won't, she won't, and there's an end on it."

"You can't tell me what osteopathy can do, I know from experience."

Born of "medical parents" this Hoosier daughter was early converted to osteopathy. Not inclining to treat her conversion as a serious matter, she enjoys many a good laugh by the way, as she keeps her face ever set toward her Mecca—June, 1915, and State Board.

THOMAS ALVIN BOYER
Alpha Tau Sigma
Payne, Ohio

"I know thou'rt full of love and honesty

And weigh'st thy words before thou giv'st them breath."

"T. B." early won a reputation for his steady nerve and was much sought after by the girls in Chemistry Lab. where the blowing up of all the test tubes in the rack left him serene and unperturbed. He is fond of flowers, taking long walks unaccompanied and sitting on the piazza on moonlight nights accompanied (?). Silent as a sphinx is "Tom" until called upon for information; then we know that he, like the sphinx, has listened much.

FLOYD HARRIS BROWN
Atlas Club
Winchester, Ind.

"Give me, O give me a girl,

With twinkling eye and winsome curl,

With dainty hand and dimpled cheek,

Ever so pretty and never so meek. Just to be near me, yes, just to cheer me,

Always mine to be, always her to see."

Brownie believes that the first duty of every osteopath is to marry. Since he arrived he has been working at a process of elimination and we hope that before he graduates he will find the right girl and settle down to get a little osteopathy. If he will devote himself to his studies with as much zeal as he devotes himself to the ladies he will be our star student. His winsome smile gains entrance for him into many a heart.

WALTER R. CARLIN
Alpha Tau Sigma
Golden, Ill.

"Yon Cassius hath a lean and hungry look. He thinks too much."

"Shorty" is our socialistic base ball fan. An hour spent with him is more enlightening on the fine points of the "Great American Game" than a library of Spalding publications, and when it comes to Socialism he could convince a wooden Indian! Incidental to these pursuits, however, he finds time to absorb a good bit of Osteopathy, and when he says "It is"—It is, that's all.

CHARLES ELMER BROWN
Alpha Tau Sigma
Brownstown, Ind.

"Before we proceed any further hear me speak."

"Brownie" is rather long and drawn out. Once he was a "Hoosier School Master", but now reminds us of a personage in the Legend of Sleepy Hollow. He seldom takes active part in class meetings, but when he does it is "Patrick Henry" style.

AMANDA CHRISTIANSON
Stillonian Club
Corning, Kans.

"Virtue is bold and goodness never fearful."

You might not think on first meeting that Amanda has almost sublime faith in her own ability and beliefs, but she has. Of a very thoughtful disposition she takes everything, even herself, seriously, and believes that Arkansas is the best State in which to locate either before or after graduation.

FRANK E. BROWN
Acacia Club
Horton, Kans.

*"He was frank,
Fresh, hardy, of a joyous mind and strong;
Looked all things straight in the face."*

Frank decided that repairing the human machine is a greater work than repairing U.S. Battle-ships and so cast his lot with us. He is an earnest student as well as a great hunter.

E. M. BURKHARDT
Theta Psi
Morgantown, W. Va.

"The fashion wears out more apparel than the man."

Unassuming and of a retiring disposition "Burkie" never startles the whole class with flashes of his intellectual brilliance, but does make his intimate friends open their eyes at times. He says his fog horn voice was developed during fueds among his native mountaineers in West Virginia. If he conducts himself among them as he behaves in football and class scraps he is a true general.

ARTHUR WALLIS CHAPLIN
Phi Omicron Gamma
Savannah, Georgia

"Every one is the son of his own works."

"Southe'n" never hurries, never worries, draws his "r"s. He states he is still heart free, but from frequent letters received from a fair one in Georgia, we would question this statement. We wish him equal success in wooing and his chosen profession.

OPAL E. COFFEY
Axis Club Oakland, Ill

"She never complies against her will,

For her own opinion is her opinion still."

Her neighbors on her views may ne'er get mixed;

She thinks an opinion, like a lesion, should be found and fixed;

And when for every quiz she has one grounded,

'Tis seen to be a plan well founded.

Nickname: "Coffee—Tea".

CARRIE CHANCE CRUMP
Axis Club Denver Colo.

"Discretion of speech is more than eloquence; and to speak agreeably to him with whom we deal is more than to speak in good words or in good order."

"Chancey" entered school a few years ago, but fell from grace at the close of the first year. Last March she became Mrs. Crump and entered our ranks last fall in time to occupy a conspicuous place in the wagon during the ride for the newlyweds. Her animation, alertness and devotion to her work make her a valuable addition to the class.

ALICE M. CHRISTIANSEN
Delta Omega
Wellesley College,
Boston, Mass.

"The improvement of the understanding is for two ends; first, for our own increase of knowledge; secondly, to enable us to deliver and make out that knowledge to others."

What is it that Christy can not do? Just now we are not prepared to say but would wager that it is something that she has not yet tried. Capability claims her for her own, altho if she is aware of this her manner never betrays it. Her interests are many and varied and include athletics, literature, and senior studies. She has been endowed with a keen mind, a steady hand and a womanly charm. We hope that wherever she locates she will find a good pasture.

J. GILBERT CHAPMAN
Stillionian Club
Washta, Iowa

*"What is in a name? That which we call a rose,
By any other name would smell as sweet."*

"Chap" spent his first year in fighting for proper recognition in class, owing to a similarity of names. Now he has decided to expend his energy along more profitable lines. He is known by his ability to discuss Socialism and to root at a foot ball game.

ALFRED M. CLARK
Hammond, Ill.

"An honest man is the noblest work of God."

Some fellows always talk, others don't. "Fatty" is the other fellow. At home he was a clerk and dispensed marriage licenses; but was not guilty of purloining one for himself.

CLYDE R. CLARK
Goshen, Indiana

"None preaches better than the ant, and she says nothing."

Clyde is one of the boys who does not say much, but all the time he is cultivating an acquaintance with Cunningham and Delafield and Prudden in his own room. He also spends occasionally a few spare moments with Shakespeare.

GUY LEE DAVIDSON
Iota Tau Sigma
Greenville, Texas

"Information is a commodity for which all humanity strives."

"Davie" brought with him the twinkle from the Lone Star State. Through genuine compassion for his quizzed classmates, he committed to memory the index of Tanner's Toxicology that he might assist the more unfortunate in finding the page. For his service and his good nature the class is truly grateful.

CHARLES C. COOK
Atlas Club Saginaw, Mich.

"Of Science and Logic he chatters As fast as he possibly can; And, 'tho I'm no judge of such matters,

I'm sure he's a talented man." Cook, who originally hailed from Michigan, but later from Helena (accent on first syllable, please) is one of those who "stands head and shoulders above us all," not only in stature but in intellectual attainment. He has the courage of his convictions and although he sometimes retreats under the press of necessity, he will fight for his ideas to the last ditch.

CLARENCE J. DAVIS
Acacia Club Barry, Ill.

"Seldom ever was any knowledge given to keep but to impart; the grace of the rich jewel is lost in concealment."

"C. J." is one of our bright students—especially in Chemistry and Bacteriology. If he does not accept a chair in the A.S.O., he will probably locate in Illinois. Being then as willing to relieve suffering as he is to dispense information to his fellow students during a quiz, he will be known as a benefactor to mankind.

EDWIN M. DEMAREST
Acacia Club
Delaware, Ohio

"Without virtue, thou canst not have peace. Like the rainbow, peace rests upon the earth, but its arch is lost in heaven."

"Demifacet" is a terror in the class room. He cannot intimidate the lecturer, but because of the affinity his note book has for the row of heads in front of him, he has caused more than one scare.

RAYMOND L. DeLONG
Alpha Tau Sigma
Lewistown, Pennsylvania

"A man of strong intellectual powers and strong character, given to meditation."

Evidence of "Dee's" artistic temperament is seen in the drawings in his note book. Genius is always accompanied by some weakness and here, as usual, it concerns the fair sex. His friends have not decided whether he is a woman hater or a true lover. Let us hope the latter.

MILDRED DYE
University of California
Axis Club Chicago, Ill.

*"On one she smiled, and he was blest,
But 'twas not love which heaved her breast."*

If good, hard, conscientious work will bring success, Mildred will be successful. Like many another of our girls she used to teach, but decided that Osteopathy offered greater possibilities. Her only regret is that she was compelled to leave Joplin to come to Kirksville. We love her ready smile, even tho there is a naughty twinkle in her eye.

F. A. DILATUSH
Ohio State University
Delta Upsilon

Atlas Club Lebanon, O.
"His life was gentle, and the elements so mix'd in him, that Nature might stand up and say to all the World, 'This is a man.'"

"Dilly" came to Kirksville after having seen many of the more important places of interest in this country, in Europe, and on the South American Coast. Needless to say, the place took his fancy and our class gained another strong recruit. "Dilly" was the initiating impulse on the Neuron, is a strong factor in athletics a willing supporter of any forward movement in class or student body, and an all around "Good Indian".

HOWARD A. DREW
Atlas Club Randolph, Vt.

"His eye begets occasion for his wit"

*For every object that the one doth catch
The other turns to mirth-loving jest."*

The patronal atmosphere with which he surrounds himself, together with his reserved actions towards the fair sex, (except while instructing in Bacteriology Laboratory), has caused much conjecture as to whether or not "Dave" was married. However, he yet enjoys single blessedness. He also possesses a goodly share of dry wit, good humor, common sense, and a fondness for Boston baked beans.

GEORGE SALMON ELKINS
Atlas Club
A.A., McGill University
Granby, Quebec, Canada
"A lion among the ladies is a dreadful thing."

S. George is from Boston—he says. He taught school, practiced palmistry among the fair sex, acted as private secretary, etc., etc. He likes variety and was never known to take the same girl out twice, and is very much in demand at parties and dances, in fact, none are complete without him. Having a good time is his principal object in life, although as our president he demonstrated his executive ability.

EDWARD L. EICHHORN
Acacia Club Delaware, O.
"I see, but cannot reach, the height,

That lies forever in the light."
"Iky" is a tailor, and as such, clothes the frame of man tastefully and well. But none the less efficacious will he be in his practice of Osteopathy, for with the former he makes better the outward appearance, but with the latter, we feel assured he will clothe the body itself with the healthy glow of rich, red blood, coming only from a perfect adjustment of the integral parts of it. And we know that he can do it.

RUBY V. ENGLER
Axis Club
Clay Center, Kans.
"You are the best guardian of your own."

Ruby is of a peaceable disposition, but there are two things which she will defend with her whole life—her state and her personal rights. We all admire her motherly care of her Freshman brother and see in her the unmistakable characteristics of a good doctor.

ADRIAN ELDER
Acacia Club Goodell, Ia.
"Natural things only are lasting."

A kindly man and a hard worker is Adrian. Having spent the greater portion of his life close to nature, it is but natural that he should prefer osteopathy as a healing art. Even with the care of a family he finds time for extra work at the High School, and his tasks are all well done.

ROSS EDWARDS
Carrelton, Ill.
"Destiny is not about thee, but within.

Thyself must make thyself."
Ross must have been a professional juggler before coming to the A.S.O. if one may judge by his manouvers during a rush hour at the College Inn. He has the appearance of a ring aspirant, and the disposition of an angel, and—we like our Ross! At one time his golden fleece did not hang over his temples!

JAMES M. FRASER
Phi Omicron Gamma
Detroit, Mich.

"He doth indeed show some sparks that are like wit."

Jim has acted in the capacity of Assistant Foot-ball Manager during the past season, and has ably seconded the efforts of "Larry" Hess for a good team and a good schedule. Then, too, he is a "news sleuth", hunting down and rounding up all happenings worthy of notice, embellishing them with the spice of human interest, and serving them up to us all via the Daily Express.

LEWIS G. FITE
Kirkville, Mo.

"Everywhere in life, the true question is, not what we gain, but what we do."

Even tho his name might not indicate it, they say that he is more of a base ball player than a scrapper; however, he was surely in both color rushes, regardless of the efforts of the fair sex to vote him out. We predict that he will be in the game for many years to come.

NORA EMELINE FLEMING
Stillonian Club
A.B. Grove City College
West Sunbury, Pa.

"Each day's good work makes the next day's better."

"Nell" has a way of appealing to your judgment and then acting just as she originally intended. She has a splendid idea as to what is worth while in life and lives accordingly. Her many interests are by no means all self centered.

HAROLD PUTNAM FROST
A.B., Wesleyan University (Conn.)

Phi Nu Theta
Phi Beta Kappa
Atlas Club Auburn, Me.

"Man's destiny is limited but by man's will to do."

"Jack" was pretty familiar with the ins and outs of college life before coming to Kirkville. By birth a Yankee, he is a broker by talent. Coupled with his business tendencies are the push, ability and willingness to work which have made Jack one of the most useful men of which the class can boast. One question only has been unsolved by him from the first and could we but read of this in his diary we would find an interesting chapter on women.

OMER E. EVANS
Cambridge, Ill.

"I dare do all that may become a man; who dares do more is none."

Omer, unlike the majority of us, is not far away from home. This fact, together with the circumstance of being a minister's son may account for his dignity in the class room and elsewhere. Although he never volunteers, he is always prepared to answer. When it comes to dissipation he draws the line on everything but the "movies" and a stroll around the square. He is veritably a model youth.

BERTLE L. GLEASON
Stillonian Club
Larned, Kans.

"No man was ever so completely skilled in the conduct of life as to not receive new information from age and experience."

After finishing his High School course Gleason decided to continue his education in Kirksville. Time and experience have done much for him. He is one of our members who has been able to win a wife and now that this has been accomplished we feel that success along other lines will follow.

IRVING D. GARTRELL
Stillonian Club
Speed, Kansas

"Give me eighty acres and a plow and I'll plow my way to success."

A studious lad who passes among us and is seldom heard except when quizzed. On such occasions he never fails to talk as long as the best of us. He considers Kansas a fertile field for young osteopaths and already has his claim staked out.

FRANCES GRAVES
Delta Omega Sorority
Greenfield, Mass.

"A smile for all, a welcome glad, A jovial coaxing way she had."

Oh yes, "Gravy" is from the cultured East, altho she isn't telling about it. She firmly believes that if one teaches school for ten years, all hope is gone. The Neuron could not exist without her. Not only does she preach health but she practices it. When it comes to hunting rabbits, she knows how, and can finish them in the chafing dish too! And have you seen her Osteo-blast-it diary?

SAMUEL B. GRISSO
Cerro Gordo, Ill.

"Attention is a corner stone in great lives."

From the vantage point of his front seat, gazing at the instructor over a pair of semilunar spectacles, he impressed us from the first, as one who intended that nothing should escape his notice. He has gradually evolved through the stages of chiropractor-carpenter and minister. We wish him success as an osteopath.

RUFUS VON GUNTEN
Oberlin College
Berne, Indiana

"To say that a man is fallen in love is a phrase not at all to my liking, it carries an idiomatical kind of implication that love is a thing below man."

"Gundy" comes to us from Oberlin College where he took his "prep" work before entering the A.S.O. During his freshman year he soon decided that he was an atom and could not longer exist by himself. "Nuf sed".

O. P. GROW
New Point, Ind.

"He once trimmed men, but will soon put men in trim."
"G.O.P." is following in the footsteps of two elder brothers, who graduated from the A.S.O. He first attracted our attention when Dr. Boyes nicknamed him. Since then he has been keeping in the lime-light for he always has an answer when quizzed or, if not an answer, a question instead.

JULIA GIBBONS
Delta Omega
Owosso, Mich.

"What nymph could e'er attract such crowds as thee?"
"Little Gibby", otherwise known as Thyroidea Ima, is one of the main stays of the Neuron, and if it were not for her the joke column could not exist. She always has her note book open at the right place when quizzed and is strong on making faces at the faculty. Who said she likes to sit with the boys?

ANNA E. GELANDER
Stillionian Club
Denison, Iowa

"Few words she wastes but has her quiet fun, Attends to work and minds not anyone."
This daughter of Iowa determined to leave her quiet mode of life but did not leave behind her grit and determination. She stands "serene mid shot and shell and din and roar and rattle."

LEANORA GRANT
Delta Omega Sorority
State Normal, Oneonta, N. Y.
Laurens, N. Y.

"Cheerfulness is the best promoter of health, and as friendly to the mind as to the body."
Altho "The General" comes from "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway", she denies all knowledge of George M. Cohan and the characters of that famous comedy, but a merry twinkle in her eye assures us that she appreciates a joke and perhaps can make one, too. When the G's are quizzed, Leanora is the saving grace of the Deltas. In dissection, if any structure escaped her notice it was not her fault.

W. D. GRAY
Stillionian Club
St. Thomas, Ont., Can.

"I, thus neglecting wordly ends all dedicated, to bettering of my mind."
Some one has said "Take off your hat to the man who minds his own business." Gray certainly deserves such honor.

CHAS. W. HARRIS
 Brooklyn, New York
*"A better student one can't find,
 Yet with it all he's not a grind."*
 Thinking that he could better help humanity by curing her ills, Charles forsook the life of a soldier to follow in "Daddy's" footsteps. He is a very earnest student and the possessor of a charming wife.

CHAS. HARTNER
 Stillonian Club
 Clay Center, Kans.
"A big man with a heart in proportion, fast enough to get there but never hasty."
 Our first memories of "Shortie" are his defence of the colors at our class rush, when he towered head and shoulders above the others with his shirt and long hair at the mercy of the Juniors—especially his shirt. He is proud possessor of the exclusive right to escort the Latin teacher home each evening.

MAUDE OWENS GRIGGS
 Axis Club Clinton, Mo.
 Graduate Nurse
"She has that final, that highest gift from heaven, a perfect self-forgetfulness."
 This inborn trait manifested itself when "G" became a nurse—and we are glad to say, an Osteopathic nurse. No where can we find anyone more capable or more willing to help others regardless of her own pleasure. Where men are concerned—some might say that her taste is decidedly perverted—her latest "case" being Bobby Sowers, age six months.

HERMAN PRICE HOYLE
 A.B. University of Wash.
 Atlas Club Waverly, Neb.
"High erected thoughts seated in the heart of courtesy."
 Hoyle is not the man who standardized the current rules for cards, but in his relation to Osteopathy, there is an analogy. Hard working and studious, he has made an enviable record among us. Things "According to Hoyle" in the class room are as final as they are at the card table.

H. F. HUTCHINSON
 Acacia Club
 Stuttgart, Kans.
"A cheerful face is nearly as good for an invalid as healthy weather."
 "Hutt" has it. He hails from the rice fields of Arkansas. When he came to Kirksville he was a Sir Knight and an Elk; now he is a "Daddy" and soon he will be a D.O.

FRANKLIN C. HUMBERT
Syracuse University
Kappa Sigma
Syracuse, N. Y.

"The truest wisdom in general is a resolute determination."

Humbert is "Big Chief" of the Osteoblast Board, and to his untiring efforts is due a large measure of whatever excellence the book embodies. He is a breezy talker, a good pal, and a doting father. Furthermore, the hirsute adornment of his upper lip was a thing of beauty, and by virtue of its possession he has more than qualified for the "Prophylactic Brigade".

THURSTON A. HURD
Atlas Club Clio, Mich.

"His hair is red, his eyes are blue

He's Scotch Irish through and through. And weighs one hundred and sixty two."

Good natured and a hard, consistent worker; Phoebé will leave a record behind him above the average. We are certain he will cure more than he kills. May success and long life of active service be his.

NANCY HOSELTON
Axis Club
Springfield, Ill.

"Haste thee, nymph, and bring with thee Jest and youthful jollity."

Though exacting and precise, she is one of the general favorites in the class. A flash from her large brown eyes is a warning to those who know her and indicative of a contrary opinion, which she is not reticent about expressing. Always zealously guarding the interests of others, Nancy is a steadfast friend whom you like the better the more you know her.

RALPH W. HUTCHISON
Chi Delta
Clintonville, Pa.

"Who does the best his circumstances allow, does well, acts nobly; angels could do no more."

"Huck's" enthusiasm for and loyalty to the principles laid down by the Old Doctor might well be emulated by all students of Osteopathy and practitioners as well. His hobby is, first, last and always—Osteopathy. At work or at play he gives the best that there is in him, and to know him is to like him, not a little, but well.

HARRY L. IRISH
Alpha Tau Sigma
Pontiac, Mich.

"To know that which before us lies in daily life is the prime wisdom."

Harry regretted having to leave his practice to come back to school, but owing to the state law he is required to complete the course whether he feels the need of it or not. Keen and attentive he is in the race to win.

CHARLES F. INLOW
Chi Delta

Manilla, Indiana
*"But the man worth while,
Is the one with a smile
When everything goes dead wrong."*

"Chintz" is another of our little men. But "Say, chile, when he do staht on dat ol' trombone, ain't he gran'?" For one so tiny, Inlow carries his load of sorrows with amazing ease. Always a smile and a cheery word. It is no wonder that the gentler sex swears by "Chintz".

MINNIE JODON
Axis Club Lincoln, Neb.
University of Nebraska

"A dimpled smile for every one."

"Jo" served as the leader of the suffragists when they ruled us during our second term, and proved her ability to maintain order among us as well as to suppress disturbing elements from other classes. If we use the non-partisan spirit shown in that work, to measure the breadth of her nature, we must conclude that it is by no means narrow. There is that something in her cheerful face and capable manner which gives evidence of power to meet and conquer the difficulties of professional life.

MRS. EUNICE INGHAM
Stillonian Club
Plainview, Texas

*"My girl-wife was as brave as she was good,
And helped me in every way she could,*

*She seemed to take to every osteopathic fee
As kindly as when first she took to me."*

"Whither thou goest, I ----" is the unspoken principle upon which this little woman acts. Of course this means neat notebooks, steady, faithful work, and (we predict) later a good osteopathic physician.

CHARLOTTE M. JACKSON
Delta Omega
Knoxboro, N. Y.

B.L.S. University of Ill.
*"Learn to live, and live to learn,
Ignorance like a fire doth burn
Little tasks make large returns."*

"Hylø Jack" is the girl with the dreamy eyes (she doesn't wish anybody to know this) who has already established herself as one of the members of "Christy, Jack and Co.", said company to have a flourishing practice on Commonwealth Ave., Boston, in the near future. "Jack" may be a little slow but when she gathers momentum nothing can resist her. If you don't believe it, engage her in conversation once, and you will note that she has every fact concerning anatomical terms classified and catalogued in her mind. It is only natural tho, having been a college librarian before studying osteopathy.

EZRA N. INGHAM
Stillonian Club
Washington, Iowa

"He enjoys an existence untroubled by envy or strife."

Ezra, perhaps better known as Mrs. Ingham's husband, is one of those quiet, likeable chaps whose personality is a living embodiment of the "Peace on earth good will to men" doctrine. He is a friend to everybody who deserves his friendship and is possessed of a happy smile which is as infectious as it is irresistible.

BEN KESLER
 Valparaiso University
 Alpha Epsilon
 Atlas Club Goshen, Ind.
"This gentleman is full of virtue, bounty, worth and quality."
 Ben, so-called because of his debut as a Ben-edict last summer, gave us the surprise of our lives when he substituted
 K-E-S-L for D-E-C-K in Decker. It was so "suddint like!" And we are confident that the firm of Kesler and Kesler will shine as a star of the first magnitude in the Osteopathic firmament.

GEORGE J. KASSMIR
 Pittsburgh, Pa.
"I am sure that Care is an enemy to life."
 "Katz" is one of our ablest exponents of the Terpsichorean Art. His fame as a tripper of the "light fantastic" has spread abroad; aye, even unto Queen City. And he is wont to journey once a week for the purpose of instructing the younger set of that locality with regard to this Queen of the Graces. He is always happy, always smiling, and is, therefore, a friend of us all.

JAMES LESLIE KEEN
 Mason City, Ill.
"He hath an excellent good name."
 During his Freshman year,
 "David" was mostly concerned with assuring us that he was single. But he's single no longer.
 "Keen" described him before but "two Keen" fits him better now!

RAYMER C. JEWELL
 Utica, Kentucky
"The only jewel you can carry beyond the grave is wisdom."
 "Dick" hails from Kentucky and before he had been here many months he had invented some clever "manips". Better look out for him! The "Kentucky Colonel" could hardly be called a fusser, but he is strong for the ladies.

ALBERT C. JOHNSON, Jr.
 Warren, Penn.
"He sits high in all the people's hearts."
 "Johnny" is our artist, and when his pencil speaks in a creation of beauty or satire, there is no need for words. He is also the guardian of Billy, our class mascot, who absorbs all his affection so that none remains for the fair sex. Here is a case of "Love me, love my dog!" and we sure do both.

A. O. LASH
Alpha Tau Sigma
London, England
*"He who did well in war
Just earns the right to begin doing well in peace."*

As class treasurer, "Our Major" has won merited respect. Not only do we honor him as a worthy class mate, but as a true son of England, and we feel that when he leaves, the ideals of our profession will find a way, through a noble man, into a great nation. As an avocation he is collecting choice bits of American slang which will prove "quite shocking don't you know" when he goes back to "London Town".

FLORA E. KAEMPEN
Stillonian Club
Quincy, Ill.
"Her speech was more effective because she never used words when action would do instead."

This modest and womanly maiden has not changed her attitude toward the stronger element in the class, to be sure, but still we have reason to believe that "her heart is not here".

MRS. ELIZABETH V. KEEN
Axis Club New York
*"Her air, her manner, all who saw admired.
Courteous, tho' coy, and gentle tho' retired."*

Always dainty, gracious, petite, so small we call her "The Doctorette", Mrs. Keen is the possessor of an individuality all her own. She is very decided in her opinions, especially in her dislikes. She is very patient in explaining that our Mr. Keen is not her Mr. Keen, who is sailing under the red, white and blue in the far off waters of China.

MRS. BEN KESLER
Delta Omega Goshen, Ind.
Registered Nurse
"A sweet temper is to the household what sunshine is to trees and flowers."

"Mother" felt the responsibility for the right conduct of various members of the class weighing heavily upon her, so found it necessary to add to the "family" a sterner will and a stronger hand. The decision came at first as a surprise but now we all compliment "Mother" on her discretion.

J. LOREN LEWIS
Acacia Club
Taylorville, Ill.
"He is a friend who in difficulty helps by deeds when there is need of deeds."

Lewis formerly "pounded a key" for the Wabash, but, becoming cognizant of the advantages which an osteopathic operator has over a telegraph operator, he wisely turned his back on the glamour of the railroad to become one of us. As an operator he was satisfactory, as a student he is thorough and enthusiastic, and we have no hesitancy in predicting that as a physician he will be a success.

WADE M. LOCKMAN
Cleburne, Texas

"You may trust him in the dark."
"Texas" is musically and artistically inclined but prefers Osteopathy. His cute little bracelet watch always makes him a favorite with the ladies, especially in the dissecting room where he had a fair partner. When and where he started smoking is a mystery but it is certain he never drinks anything stronger than H 2 O. He just loves to have his picture taken with the fellows after a class scrap, even tho he doesn't engage in the fight.

CLIFTON M. LEVY
Alpha Tau Sigma
Owensboro, Ky.

"What should a man do but be merry?"
Levy comes from Kentucky, naturally, therefore, he is a bit pugnacious. However, he is peacefully inclined most of the time, and is a personification of the sentiment expressed in the lines of "Please go 'way, and let me sleep!" Before coming to A.S.O. Levy was a drug clerk, but, having seen the error of his ways, he is now with us, and is very well grounded in the Faith.

DEL MARTZ
Theta Psi
Kirksville, Mo.

"Wer liebt nicht Wein, Weib, und Gesang, Er bleibt ein Narr sein Leben lang."
Del is one of Kirksville's own and because of past business experience he has the principle of efficiency well established. He does not believe in wasting time; hence when the "Prof." begins to repeat, you may see him reach for his "Week End" Post to steady himself. As a society light and conversationalist he puts us all in the shade.

FRANK A. LOVING
Sherman, Texas

"There is unspeakable pleasure attending the life of a voluntary student."
From Texas via California, we have acquired this member. "We like a little loving now and then".

LEO LESLEY LUX
Union City, Mich.

"The friend thou hast and their adoption tried, Grapple them to thy soul with hooks of steel."
Lux is one of the cleverest li'l dissectors you ever saw. He fairly revels in origins and insertions, nerve and blood supplies, et cetera ad infinitum. And coupled with his passion for Anatomy he has a genial, happy personality which makes him a very welcome member of the class of June '15. We all like Lux and he "lux" us, so "nuff sed".

CLASSES OSTEOBLAST. 1915

CLAY MURPEY
Sidney, Ohio

"The greatest truths are simplest; and so are the greatest men."

Originally, "Pat's" ambition was to be a minister of the Gospel, but he, too, heard the call of the Old Doctor, and decided to enter the perhaps broader field of Osteopathy. For as an Osteopath he felt that there was not only an opportunity for ministering to the soul but to the body as well, the one supplementing the other. He is an earnest and diligent worker and will make Osteopathy trusted and loved by all with whom he comes in contact.

EMMA LAURA MEADER
Axis Club Needham, Mass.

"Who knows only good can never speak ill."

"Emmy Lou" through the persistent efforts of her two Axis sisters, can now say idea (ideal) as well as any one. She is an earnest student, a steadfast friend, always willing to lend a helping hand.

LOUETTA E. MORGAN
Delta Omega
El Paso, Ill.

*"But she was a soft landscape of mild earth,
While all was harmony and calm and quiet,
Luxuriant, budding, cheerful without mirth."*

This little maiden with the big brown eyes is a general favorite with both sexes. She is the most radical, ardent anti-suffragette you ever did see, for while women may do everything else in creation, she thinks the men should rule the nation. As a specialist in dietetics her success is assured.

MARIAN MERRY
Stillonian Club
Farmington, Me.

*"And the rushing of great rivers,
Through their palisades of pine-trees."*

And it came to pass in the days of Merry of Maine, that behold there came Osteopathy from Missouri saying: "Where is the girl who is born queen of a love of healing, strong enough to make her lay aside her pen and leave the fragrant pine-needles, to delve in Deaver; for we have seen her work in the East and are come to bring her to Missouri".

LEW A. MAY
Kirksville, Mo.

"True fortitude of understanding consists in not letting what you know be embarrassed by what you do not know."

May is one of the most professional looking men in school (when he is there); a very enthusiastic student of new thought literature and economic conditions. He developed a special affinity for myology in the anatomical laboratory, but he is incompatible with the nervous system.

R. F. MOSES
Fort Wayne, Ind.

"He is not merely a chip of the old block, but the old block itself."

"Mo" is an artist—that is, he paints and draws. He has none of the stock appearance of a wielder of the pen or brush, but he succeeds in getting his ideas across just the same. He is quiet and earnest, and possessed of a mind of his own, and in him the class has a member who will go forth and make achievement the every-day rule of his life.

J. GAELORD MOYER
Phi Omicron Gamma
Beloit College
Waterloo, Wis.

"Silence is more eloquent than words."

"Pee Wee" is a firm believer in well-pressed trousers and the latest styles in neckties. Good natured and somewhat of a fusser, he has sweethearts in Canada and soft spoken señoritas of Mexico. Aside from "fussing" and assisting Prof. Kimmel he spends considerable time in studying how to alleviate human ills.

ANNA ELVIRA NORTHRUP
Granville, N. Y.

"Here's to the girl with a heart and a smile"

Who makes this bubble of life worth while."

"Sister" has earned her title by a sisterly interest in her many friends. She is one of those girls who, no matter how busy, always has time to do more. Fate decreed to make her an artist, but she declined. Though from New York, the indications are that she will locate in the "Sucker" state.

GEORGE L. NOLL
Winchester, Kans.

"In every rank, or great or small, 'Tis industry that supports us all."

Few of us have worked harder and more conscientiously than Noll. He has labored under difficulties but his boundless capacity for work and his cheerful frame of mind will carry him to the final goal even tho it be over a tortuous road.

NORMAN J. NEILSON
Stillonian Club
Toronto, Canada

"He who never forgets a friend and always forgives a foe makes no mistakes."

His name sounds of Scandinavia, but he says it originated in Scotland. His parents are natives of Canada but he was born in Colorado. Will he have to be naturalized to vote in Missouri?

FRED NORRIS
Kewanee, Ill.

"The mind delighteth in knowledge."

"Fritz" established his reputation as a student during his Freshman year when he traced a nerve impulse from the large toe to the cerebral cortex and back again. Feeling the dignity of his knowledge he attempted to grow a mustache during his Junior year. Sad to say 'tis of the "Selvage" style.

EDWARD P. PREANTEAU
Atlas Club Chicago, Ill.

*"True as the needle to the pole
Or as the dial to the sun."*

Enthusiasm radiates from "Crip" like the lines of magnetic force around a bar magnet. Attacking his work with a characteristic vim he has builded his osteopathic framework readily, aided possibly by principles absorbed thru companionship with his mother, a practicing osteopathic physician.

HARRY W. OLDEG
St. Louis, Mo.

*"Thine for the studious shade
King Nature formed."*

Deciding that he could better serve the world and himself in the practice of Osteopathy, Oldeg gave up his position in a St. Louis Railroad Office and came to Kirksville. If his work in school is an indication of his future achievements, success is assured.

A. PETTEFER
Stillonian Club
Monett, Mo.

"There is no genius in life like the genius of energy and industry."

Pettefer formerly was connected with the U. S. Railway Mail Service, and came to us after a long and successful career in that department. His ambitions are to be a good husband and father, and to become a good Osteopath. The former he has realized and we feel confident that the latter will logically follow, as he is a conscientious and energetic searcher after the truth.

FRED CUTLER OLDS
Phi Omicron Gamma
Phi Delta Theta
Delaware, Ohio

Ohio Wesleyan University
"Hang sorrow! Care will kill a cat,

And therefore let's be merry."
Freddie's main object in life is to amuse himself and his associates. His meek, innocent look after perpetrating a practical joke, has saved him much censure. But "when he do laugh," we all laugh. Aggressive in all departments, he has made his "O" in foot-ball, base ball and track. Fritz has also caused confusion among the hearts of the fair sex, but when it comes to walking, he would rather Cart(h)er.

JOHN LE ROY RALSTON
Atlas Club Butler, Pa.

"Wherever you find him, he proves to be a man."

Ralston is a quiet, unassuming chap, whom to know is to like. His Lodge and Club fill his desire for venturings out of the routine, and to one who has not been initiated he might seem bored by the antics of the less reserved. But there is a twinkle in his eye and a slight smile, more felt than seen, which proves to one who knows him that he is not.

JEWEL ANGELL PURDY
Axis Club
Stevens Point, Wis.

"A good laugh is sunshine in a house."

As Jewel Angell, she entered the A.S.O. four years ago. At the end of that year, Cupid claimed her for a D.O. and she was no longer an "Angell." Her self confidence and persistence induced her husband to permit her to enter the June '15 class. Her eagerness to reach the Post Office each morning is only exceeded by her pride in her husband and in her horsemanship.

HELEN R. PELOUBET
Axis Club Asheville, N. C.

"In tracing the shade, I shall find the sun. Trust to me."

Helen says she is not a relative of the man who wrote "Peloubet's Notes" on Sunday School Lessons. Osteopathy is her religion and her notes on her lessons here might be published sometime, who knows? This trim little maiden has no idea where she will practice, but would like information as to whether it is best to practice doubly or singly.

MRS. M. A. PETTEFER
Stillonian Club
Monett, Mo.

"Disguise our bondage as we will,

'Tis woman, woman rules us still."

The second semester Mrs. Pettefer wielded the Big Stick in our class by virtue of her office as sergeant-at-arms, which position she filled with grace and efficiency, having wielded such a weapon at home to keep her fractious husband in subjection. Mr. Pettefer knows her value in toxicology lore and will take her with him on poison cases. She is so prominent in W.C.T.U. work that her temperance sentiments lead her to balk at a spirometer sterilized with alcohol in physiology laboratory.

IRA L. PARKER
Alpha Tau Sigma
Phi Beta Kappa
A.B. Ohio Wesleyan Univ.
Bellville, Ohio

"A fine volley of words, gentlemen, and quickly shot off."

"Iry" has failed in some respects, 'tis sad to relate. He has not yet found a partner to his joy, though he has discussed the felicity of matrimony with every woman in the class. Otherwise he flings the banner of success high and wide. The prophylactic growth on his upper lip is perhaps misplaced, but nevertheless, it is the envy of a corps of "would-bes". He has never failed a quiz in chemistry, refuses to repeat an answer whispered to him and is one of the few in the class who can make a speech.

CHARLES F. ROBINSON
Stillonian Club
Monticello, Ind.

"Victory belongs to the most persevering."

If "Robbie" had grown twice as long, he would have been a very tall man. When he stopped growing he was about as tall as Napoleon and like that individual, thinks the world not too large to conquer. "Robbie" decided, however, to use osteopathy instead of the sword.

C. W. REINHART
Alpha Tau Sigma
Sidney, Ohio

"To keep my health; to do my work; to live!

To see to it that I grow and gain and give!"

"Reinie" with his great bulk distinguished himself on the foot-ball field. He was the logical candidate for sergeant-at-arms, to which office he was unanimously elected. Mrs. "Reinie" says that she simply cannot do anything with him and she sometimes wishes he were not so large. His specialty is carrying out the ladies when they faint in class.

FLORA RICHARDSON
Axis Club Elgin, Minn.

"A winning way, a pleasant smile,

A kindly word for all."

Flora is one of the few women who have presided in a school-room and came out without the earmarks. She is meek and patient, but recognizes and demands a square deal. Her ability to adapt herself to circumstances will be a valuable asset to her in her practice, especially when it is necessary to handle heavy weights.

ISAAC M. ROBERTS
A.B. University of Pa.
Tarlton, Ohio

"And Isaac brought her—and she became his wife; and he loved her." Gen. 25, 67.

"Bob" left Kirksville after the middle of July—went back to Pennsylvania—had the knot tied and returned for the convention. When school opened, he escaped a joy ride with the other newly weds by running away. Who would have guessed that he could move so fast?

EUGENE EDWIN RUBY
Alpha Tau Sigma
A.B., B.S. Lebanon Univ.
Owensboro, Ky.

"He has achieved success, who has lived well, laughed often and loved much."

Ruby is a native of Kentucky and a devotee of peace, paradoxical, but true. Of course, the training of his early environment may crop out in an occasional color rush, but only at such times. He has taken to Osteopathy as a fish to water, and is never so much at home as when he is talking, and reading and thinking Osteopathy.

JOHN S. RODERICK
Alpha Tau Sigma
La Harpe, Ill.

"He does good to himself who does good to his fellows."

If "Rodie" is not a descendant of "Roderick, the last of the Goths," he at least has many of that individual's characteristics. From all indications he is making good use of his time and we are sure that a good osteopath will graduate when Rodie leaves our midst.

CHARLES G. RUSSELL
Phi Omicron Gamma
Lexington, Mo.

"He who is firm in will moulds the world to himself."

"Birdie" hails from Lexington, Missouri, and has strong convictions with nerve to stand back of them. He takes to music like a duck to water and has always been a pleasure to those who knew him, because of his willingness to perform. Despite his habit of taking everything too seriously, he is a prince of good fellows. His real and only ambition is to make good after leaving here.

ANNA RIMOL
A.B. Bethany College
Axis Club
Concordia, Kans.

"Some natures are too good to be spoiled by praise, and whenever the vein of thought reaches down into the profound, there is no danger from vanity."

She comes from "Sockless Jerry's" state, as her independence, self-confidence and singleness of purpose testify. Her voluminous note books are the marvel of the class—unfortunately they are not indexed—and she shows evidence of using them outside the class room. She is a finished linguist and if her intentions are fulfilled, she will become equally proficient at the side of the treatment table.

ROBERT P. SALLANDER
Theta Psi
Ft. Madison, Iowa

"Still waters run deep"
Bleached-Blond-Blaze-Bob.

"Sal's" fondness for base ball and his hatred for girls who order planked steaks and then won't eat them, are his chief characteristics. He is seldom seen and less often heard. Dr. Gerdine has a standing offer for anyone who ever heard Bob talk.

P. S.—He's married.

ROY G. RUSSELL
Fort Worth, Tex.

*You behold in me
Only a travelling physician;
One of the few who have a mission
To cure incurable diseases,
Or those that are called so.*

"Tex" or "Rus," we sometimes think, prefers the railroad and the billiard room to his Anatomy class. With Potter as a mascot he takes life leisurely and has an encouraging word and jest for us all. As "Tex" has a pretty wife and a brilliant son to support we expect him to make good in his chosen field of labor.

CLARENCE W. SNYDER
Acacia Club
Ashmore, Ill.

"Small cheer and great welcome make a merry feast."

Good nature and hospitality are written all over "Snyde's" face. He is the third of his family to follow the Osteopathic trail and is so in love with the science that he takes a treating table in class every day.

GEORGE ANDREW SHORT
Seymour, Ind.

*"In arguing, too, the parson owned his skill,
For, e'en though vanquish'd, he could argue still."*

Short in name but not in stature—initials G.A.S. In all fields of endeavor this worthy gentleman has won a place. He is versatile in politics, a research worker in the Physiology Laboratory, and a scientific (?) investigator among the normal school girls. In this latter precinct his suspicions have been aroused, for he has the impression that each and every girl has come here with the avowed intention of marrying an osteopath. Beware, Short.

JOHN H. STYLES, JR.
Macalester College
Atlas Club
Willmar, Minn.

"He was a man of unbounded stomach, but a merrier man within the limit of becoming mirth, I never spent an hour's talk withal."

Owing to the redundancy of his anatomical structure, "Slim" has been made to "suffer the slings and arrows" of both class and faculty. However, through it all he smiles and demonstrates that there is something bigger about him than his corporeal frame. Literature and music are his dissipation; impersonation and hypnotism; his recreation; hustling baggage and the pipe organ his vocation; leading the band and the choir his avocation and osteopathy his amusement. Everybody likes Styles—Excelsior. Osteopathy brought "Slim" to Kirksville, but that is not the only "link" that keeps him with us.

ALMA EDWARD SEYMOUR
Kansas City, Mo.

*"My object all sublime
I shall achieve in time."*

Seymour is one of the quiet, steady supporters of the "blue and white". We would like to "see more" of him and the professors occasionally ask him to "say more".

CLYDE H. STROH
Alpha Tau Sigma
Union City, Mich.

"Words are small; 'Tis life speaks plain."

"Hal" works hard in school because he likes to work hard. His is the joy of achievement—always zealous, always striving, always accomplishing. Being by nature a musician he has, in times past, lent much harmony by his manipulation of his tuba in our school band. An all around man, Stroh is, and we are confident that when he has gone forth to do battle for Osteopathy he will come off more than a conqueror.

WALTER H. SIEHL
Stillonian Club
Cincinnati, Ohio

"Character is perfectly educated will."

Siehl was formerly an iron worker, but realizing the limitations set about such a vocation, very wisely chose to break away from environment and make it. He is enthusiastic and possessed of a dogged determination that will place his name high in the annals of professional history.

ALBERT O. SCHARFF
Alpha Tau Sigma
Brazil, Ind.

"Work as tho you would live forever; but live as tho you would die today."

This "Hoosier" optimist, retired banker, otherwise known as "Bert", is a native of Brazil but wears a name that evidently was "made in Germany." His straight forward manner won him the confidence and respect of the class and, incidentally, the position of Class-Treasurer. Fresh air, milk diet and plenty of exercise are realities to him. There are rumors that he might qualify in the long distance walking contest.

MRS. LAURA G. SIMMONS
Axis Club
Trained Nurse, Children's Hospital, Buffalo, N. Y.
Kirksville, Mo.

*"What is there in the vale of life
Half so delightful as a wife,
When friendship, love, and peace combine
To stamp the marriage bond divine?"*

Our "Lady Gay" is a good argument for equal suffrage, as she proves that a woman can be a good home-maker and much besides. The promoters of all undertakings of the class look to her as an important factor, and in church work and social functions she appears equally at home, a "womanly woman" always.

JAMES E. SHEPPARD
Phi Omicron Gamma
Pittsburgh, Pa.

*"If the heart of man is depressed with cares
The mist is dispelled when a woman appears."*

Light hearted young "Shep" has not known a care since he stumbled over Chemistry in his Freshman year. But even if he does not know the difference between an atomic weight and a sulphur ion, he can tell more about the fair sex than any other man in class. He cannot be called a chronic fusser—just an acute one. The friendship of whom so ever he meets will be won by his sterling qualities.

E. RAY SLUYTER
Atlas Club Flint, Mich.

*"Deep! Deep! flows his stream of thought
Broken almost never by a silver work!
In a golden silence ever wrought, Magnificent wonder yet to be heard."*

Quiet, modest, unassuming and perhaps at times self conscious, "Schlitz" moves among us always acting the role of a gentleman. On three occasions his quiet demeanor is cast aside—when quizzed—when a pretty girl appears—when an argument is launched.

L. EDGAR SOWERS
Phi Omicron Gamma
Phi Delta Theta
Wabash College
Sharon, Pa.

*"A hit makes he
With all who see
His smiling physiognomy."*
"Ted" is from Sharon, Pa. If you doubt it, ask him. Unlike many others he is successful in combining work and amusement. By keeping all the automobiles owned by the Faculty in good running order, he lubricates his passage thru the school. Ted is the proud father of a fine baby boy "Bobbie" who some day will be an Osteopath too.

HERBERT C. SPENCER
Stillonian Club
Caldwell, Idaho

"Why as I told thee, 'tis a custom ever and anon for him to sleep."
Spencer is as enthusiastic a disciple of Osteopathy as we have ever known but, coming from Idaho as he does, apparently the change in altitude has been too much for him, for he just can't seem to keep his eyes open in class. Frequently he has to be unceremoniously jerked back from the vale of dreams where his thoughts have wandered, in order that he may give attention to the mundane considerations incident to the work in hand. But he'll be with us at the finish all right!

JENNIE L. SPALDING
Stillonian Club
De Land, Fla.

"How often a man has cause to return thanks for the enthusiasm of his friends."
In the strenuous life at the A.S.O., she still finds channels for expressing the missionary spirit expended formerly in varied experiences in the Southern field. None of the faculty intimidate her when she wishes to ask a question. And, as to telling stories even Dr. Henry will have to look to his laurels.

GEORGE B. SHEPARDSON
Kalamazoo, Mich.

"He has a tear for pity, and a hand open as day for charity."
Alopecia simplex caused "Shep" to be misjudged as a man of ripened knowledge. Later it developed that he was a boy with a kinder heart than the average man. His occupation is that of a camera shooter; his spare moments being divided between the church and his lady friends. Thus far his greater asset in osteopathy is his enthusiasm.

THEODORE N. SMITH
Alpha Tau Sigma
Bethany College, Sigma Nu
Ashtabula, Ohio

*"An honest man, close-buttoned to the chin
Broad cloth without, and a warm heart within."*
When "Ted" sings, one thinks of the "Sweet Singer of Israel." Anatomically he has been compared to Daniel Webster and as signs point to further similarity to that gentleman, we are expecting great things of him along scientific lines.
Extra—It was a fine baby girl.

CHARLES LESLIE SHAW
Stillonian Club
Payette, Idaho

"What is the use of health, or life, if not to do some work therewith?"

Here we have one of the bricks in the osteopathic wall. It will require more than one shot from a medical gatling gun or a chiropractic peashooter to topple him over. He always gives desirable support to his brother bricks.

ERNEST L. STEELE
Quaker City, Ohio

"Take him and use him well! He's worthy of it."

Steele is known chiefly as Soldner's room-mate. Quietly and unobtrusively he has worked among us, doing much and saying little altho well tempered and sharp as his name indicates. Whatever reward there is for merit, he will certainly come in for his share, and he well deserves it, too.

WILDAS H. SOLDNER
Berne, Ind.

"I am a man that from my first have been inclined to thrift."

Soldner is French by descent, a Hoosier by adoption, a Missourian by chance, and he will be an Osteopath by "the grace of God and the good will of the faculty." Earnest and faithful, he has made for himself a large place in the hearts of us all and we look for big things from him.

LLOYD E. THOMAS
Stillonian Club
Fort Scott, Kans.

"Moderation is the silken string running through the pearl chain of all virtues."

Since seeing "Tommy" we believe in evolution. He is at once the joy and the despair of the barber. Kirksville is not strange to him, for he lived here while his father was studying osteopathy. Even though his lenses are of the late glass variety, he cannot see why his classmates should flood him with notes, just because he happens to be seated next to a visitor. Yes, he's married!

CHARLES E. TILLEY
Alpha Tau Sigma
Pawnee, Ill.

"He was a friend indeed, with all a friend's best virtues shining bright."

Tilley has endeared himself to a goodly number of us via our stomachs. He maketh glad the inner man thrice daily with the good grub that he dispenses, and also by the genial, good-natured ways in which he dispenses it. There is not a man among us who works harder than he does, in school and out. He is always on the job, earnestly and energetically striving toward our common goal.

THEO. G. THOMPSON
Atlas Club
Grove City College
Grove City, Penn.

"A warm and faithful friend, to cheer the adverse hour."

Tommy is one of our little men. Little of stature, mayhap, but when it comes to answering up in quiz, he stands with the best. And say, did you ever hear him at the piano? He is surely "there". When he begins to "tickle the ivories" the harmony is truly infectious. Then it is that even the staidest Methodist feet develop Episcopalian tendencies with alarming readiness.

MABEL TOBIN
Axis Club
Illinois State Normal Univ.
Rochester, Ill.

"I well believe thou hast a mind that suits with this thy fair and outward character."

Has just one grouch—she would like to be willowy. Her jolly outlook on life and her ready laugh will be invaluable in her profession. Her hair—well what would you call it? Someone, we believe the gentleman from Paris, called it "unique." Anyway, it reflects the brightness from within.

ADELLINA THAISSON
North Texas State Normal
Axis Club Laredo, Tex.

"Those who bring sunshine into the lives of others cannot keep it from themselves."

Miss Thaison's gracious manner, sunny disposition and many accomplishments have won our hearts as completely as her ability in her studies has won our admiration. She never forgets anything—except the slight wrongs done her and occasionally her own name.

IDA G. TORKELSON
Axis Club
Black River Falls, Wis.

"Thy modesty's a candle to thy merits."

So dignified, we wonder who dared first call her "Torkie." Conscientiousness is the key note to her character. Unlike the majority of us she is so absorbed in Osteopathy that she experiences in regular sequence all symptoms described in a lecture. This makes her a very helpful classmate; for she serves as a practical review to those who forget.

GEORGE B. TOME
Milford, Ind.

"You cannot dream yourself into a character; you must hammer and forge yourself one."

Tome, as his name suggests, is a veritable compendium of things Osteopathic! His only trouble is in expressing himself. "Sliv" never seems to have a care in the world, and has been known to sleep peacefully on with the voice of the entire school intoning "Let's go!" in one magnificent chant into his very ear.

HARRY W. THOMAS
Elwood, Ind.

"Few men have an opinion of their own, well reflected and founded upon reason."
Thomas is a "git thar" man. He is here to get Osteopathy and is doing it. He never rides a "pony," and all of the merit of honest endeavor should rightly come to him. Previously he was a mechanic, and so the work here comes right in his line. He has merely to change his perspective, not the principle of the thing.

DUDLEY B. TURNER
Phar. D., N. Y. College of Pharmacy
Atlas Club Towanda, Pa.

"He hath a heart as sound as a bell and his tongue is the clapper; for what his heart thinks his tongue speaks."
"Dud" could conscientiously place S. H. (strictly, not sometimes, honest) after his name. He would rather fight fire than argue, and rather argue than eat, and he has never suffered from anorexia. "Dud" instructs in Chemistry but knows that HCL is also the abbreviation for High Cost of Living. He has steadfastly refused to mingle with the girls of the class, preferring the absent society of the girl back in Pennsylvania.

CLARENCE D. VOSELLER
Alpha Tau Sigma
White Hall, Ill.

"The man who does more than is expected of him will get more than he expects."
"Voss" does not believe in straining his eyes to examine Pathology specimens, when he can get just as good a drawing from his next-door neighbor. Though he does talk in his sleep, there is really nothing wrong with him except a slight affection of the heart. Industrious, and possessed of the right conception of a worthy goal to this life, he can laugh with the merriest of us and often provide something to laugh at.

JEROME M. WATTERS
Newark, N. Y.

"The census embraces seventeen million women. I'd like to be the census."
With music many a savage breast has been soothed. It is one expedient we have not tried in class meetings. When "Romeo" sings we glance around involuntarily to find the bird cage.

WILLIAM W. TURNER
Atlas Club
Petersburg, Ill.

"There is a lot of devilry beneath his mild exterior."
When the June '15 class is turned loose on the unsuspecting public, one at least will do us honor. Dr. Turner with his genial, kindly manner will captivate his patients as he has his classmates. It has been suggested that W. W. stands for Weary Willie; but we would rather think it stands for Worth White.

DANA L. WEED
Atlas Club
Calexico, Calif.

*"There's a halcyon smile spreads o'er his face
Shedding a calm and radiant grace;
There's a sweetness of sound in his talking tones
Betraying the gentle spirit he owns."*

Dana aided materially in changing a desert into one of America's richest valleys. His close association with Nature gave him strength of body and mind. In his face, one may see reflected the sunshine which so characterizes his native State. Quiet he certainly is, but there is that intangible radiation of a happy personality about him which brightens and cheers all with whom he comes in contact and makes them feel the joy of living.

MRS. DANA L. WEED
Calexico, Calif.

*"A perfect woman nobly planned
To warm, to comfort, to command
And yet a spirit still and bright
With something of an angel light."*

To think of Mrs. Weed without Dana is like—"well it can't be did"—until it comes to answering in quiz. Then she asks no favors of anybody but answers from her own knowledge—and correctly too.

MRS. JESSIE A. WYATT
Winchester, Ill.

"Calmness of mind is one of the beautiful jewels of wisdom."

Mrs. Adams became weary of always being the first to be quizzed, although never wanting with a ready answer, so decided to change her initial to the other end of the alphabet and became Mrs. Wyatt.

ADAH PEARL WATSON
Axis Club Derry, N. H.

"Her smile was like a rainbow flashing from a misty sky."

A light from the east broke on the A.S.O. one fair September morn, and lo! "A. Pearl" was with us. At that time the fascinating widow was not certain that osteopathy was a cure-all, but as a result of being "shown" she can now give a learned discussion on the efficiency of her beloved science. But the question is "Is A. Pearl a jewel?" "The ideal!"

CLAUDE VINCENT WHITE
Larned, Kans.

*"That man that hath a tongue, I say is no man,
If with that tongue he cannot win
a woman."*

"Now look who's here" and from Kansas too. See the significance? "Bob White's" specialties—ladies and jokes. Perhaps he has never married because he hates to break so many hearts. At any rate "With all his false we love him still" and vow he is a sure cure for the blues.

Jay is another of the scintillating stars in our local firmament. He is a fusser "par excellence," treasurer of the Osteoblast Board, and student of Osteopathy only in so far as the exigencies of the particular situation in which he happens to be may demand. His favorite maxim is, "Fussing is the art of paying attention without avowing intention."

HARRISON J. WEAVER

"Fame is what you have taken; Character's what you give."

"Buck" enjoys the distinction of having been popular at the start and remaining so. As President of the Athletic Association, he has been a reformer; and as football coach, there has been none better. On the rostrum he can make a speech like an embryo senator and sway the mob like Mark Antony. We will all smile at him from the class picture which he says he is going to place in a gold frame.

Achievement

Respectfully dedicated to "Daddy" A. T. Still

Where e'er there is a will, there is a way!
 So God hath wrought since man first waked to see
 The wonders of a world new-born. So He Brings forth for every need a greater mind
 Exalted by a vision of the days
 Yet distant. Aye, while other minds are filled
 With doubt, and fear, and disbelief the while,
 And they but laugh; one man there is whose faith
 In God is steadfast! One whose eyes have seen
 Beyond the scope of present earthly things
 And caught a glimpse of ages yet unborn.

In other days, when superstition held Enthralled the art of those who strove to give Relief to pain, and cure the ills of men;
 One man there was who caught the vision then
 Of what might be, were he but bold enough
 To blaze the way for other men to see
 That in itself the "House of Man" contained
 Enough of all things needful for its health.
 Instead of vain experiment with drugs,
 Which at their best are but uncertain things,
 He pled for right adjustment of the parts
 Which go to make the "Master-work of God;"
 And said that, rightly kept, the human frame
 Could suffer naught from ravage of disease!
 He held this vision close and treasured it,
 Until his heart was sure it would not fail;
 Then told to others what his eyes had seen
 And sought from them encouragement and aid.
 But, doubting him, they turned away and laughed—
 Aye, ridiculed him as a dreamer blind—

And would not listen, sympathize or help.
 Although rebuffed, he struggled on and worked;
 Alone he strove to make his dreams come true
 And force those scoffing ones to realize
 In after years, his prophecy fulfilled.
 So, step by step his plans he laid, until
 He saw a sure reality arise
 Above the dim horizon of his dreams
 And shape itself according to his will.
 With this accomplished, those who scorned before
 Now honored him with lavish words of praise;
 This man whose faith had worked the marvel there.

So it has been, and always will be so!
 As long as man is human, so the World
 Will ever slight the one whose eyes have seen
 Beyond the present, and whose soul has grasped
 It's opportunity! But if he rise
 Above the common throng, and keep his face
 Fast set upon the goal of Greater Things—
 As he succeeds, the World will stiller grow,
 Until, where once it mocked, it bows ashamed.

L' ENVOI

But with the silent passing of the years
 Let not the World forget those other men
 Who struggled too, and gave their better days
 In loyal service to the master mind.
 For with their hands they fashioned what he wrought
 And in the end accomplished everything!

"Where did I come from, mama?"
A little girl asked one day,
And at her query the mother sighed,
Scarce knowing what to say.

The angels, the stork, or the doctor,
Which had it better be?
Then she met the little one's trust with truth,
"Darling, you came from me."

So she told her the old, old story,
The story so hard to tell,
With a clutch of fear at her mother's heart
Lest it might not all be well.

But the little one only answered,
With kisses that calmed her fear,
"That's why we love each other so well,
Isn't it, mother dear?"

Oh, mother, the truth is holy,
While a lie can never be white,
And the heart of a child will understand
If you tell it the story right.

Evelyn Marie Stuart, in the Cavalier.

Class History--June 1915

Someone has said "History repeats itself," but few will admit that anyone else has ever had experiences any thing like his own, and we as a class refuse to believe that any other class has ever been like ours.

We are not the largest class, numerically, ever matriculated; but we make the proud boast that we have the largest and the smallest, the shortest and the tallest, the thinnest and the fattest, the brightest and the dullest members of the student body; and for further information we refer you to "Who's Who and Why."

We struggled along thru our freshman year, which seemed, to many of us, like an ocean of unfathomable depth over which contrary winds attempted to blow us back to our starting point rather than assist us to reach the far distant goal.

Some of us, not many, gave up the struggle and were caught and sucked down by the under tow, and when we, the survivors, saw ourselves nearing the first turn in the course marked "Junior Year" we began to wonder if it was really meant for us, and if we had safely passed the first lap.

During the summer months vague rumors were heard of a peculiar malady which had attacked many of the members of our Class; but not until we had returned to Kirksville did we learn the real extent of the ravages of the Bacillus Matri-monicus.

The average student of the A. S. O. has frequently seen cases of which the above mentioned micro-organism is the causative factor, and for information regarding etiology and prognosis the laity may apply to him.

Another attack of the epidemic appeared about Christmas time, but was less wide spread and assumed the form of a children's disease attacking only certain juvenile members of the Class.

The day school opened last September the Freshmen were properly spanked and on every hand was heard "When is the Color Rush"?

A push ball contest was decided upon as the best method of settling the difference of opinion regarding the relative merits of the 1915 Blue and White, and the 1916 Orange and Black.

For full and detailed discription of that interesting event see History of the June 1916 Class.

The Junior Reception was one of the most brilliant social events of the year. Departing from the usual custom of holding the Reception in North and Memorial Halls we engaged the largest hall in the city and it was taxed to its utmost capacity by the crowd which braved a down pour of rain to be present. The main hall was tastefully decorated with the June 1916 Colors and banked with leaves of gorgeous autumnal tints. The refreshment room was a bower of green in which four fair damsels served delicious punch and wafers. After a short program and a few words of welcome by the President of the Junior Class, music was furnished by the orchestra and dancing was indulged in until a late hour, and altogether it was said to have been one of the most successful receptions held in the history of the school.

Several of our number have won scholarships, many have won distinction on the athletic field, some have been awarded laurels by "The little blind god" and every last man and woman is getting that which we came here to obtain, "Pure and Unadulterated Osteopathy", as outlined by our beloved "Daddy" and taught by our several instructors.

Some of our number have for various reasons gone to other schools of Osteopathy, some have entered Universities to fit themselves to maintain the high standard of our profession, some have left us for a time on account of their health and one has gone to Rest on the other side.

A democratic and fraternal spirit exists in our Class which rises above creed, races, fraternity or club and we trust this same spirit may last as long as there remains one member of the June 1915 Class on this mundane sphere.—S. G. E.

BILLY, OUR MASCOT

The Doctor

---

Jest if you like at the doctor's mistakes—
I suppose that we all make a few!
But he's giving this World far more than he takes,
And that's more than the most of us do!

Mould in your bullets your humorous chaff,
And tip them with satire and bile!
But don't ask your target to join in the laugh—
He's entirely too busy to smile!

For the general Physician and Guardian of Health
Is slaying the horrors you fear;
While you are discussing his "ill-gotten wealth,"
(Very likely a thousand a year!)

He is saving you illness and giving you strength!
Aye, it's easy to smile when you're strong;
But the Enemy, Sickness, may get you at length,
And after a chant of your song.

Then you will recall all the jests you have made,
And abjure his assistance, no doubt?
Ah no, you'll entreat him to come to your aid
With the skill you have jested about!

January Class—1916

CLASSES OSTEOBLAST. 1915.

History of the January Class---1916

Individually our history began from eighteen to ? years ago, but taken collectively the exact date was January twenty-seventh, nineteen hundred thirteen, and the exact place was Chemistry Hall. We were rather mildly introduced to our new environment for a few minutes by Dr. Henry, but there were certain persons, afterwards found to be Upper Freshmen, who thought that Dr. Henry was not equal to the occasion and their assistance was an absolute necessity. "Let us at 'em", "Come on", "Let 'em out", and other remarks caused teeth to chatter and knees to tremble. A consolidation of forces, however, got us past the firing line with only a few bruises to show for a strenuous two minutes. No more classes that day.

On the following day we got acquainted with a few more of the faculty and commenced to begin to get ready to start to settle down. We discovered about this time that we were starting out with fifty-seven varieties and as we looked over the bunch it did look like a variety at that. However, we were all new to each other except the seven representatives from Kirksville and we all experience the same thing when we are in a strange place and among strange people. Everybody looks so different from the folks back home. But now we are getting better acquainted and the sharp corners of contrast are all worn off.

The class met and was organized. Officers were elected and the usual questions came before the body. First, because of its nearness, the class color rush had to be settled. Now we all dislike to give up old traditions and methods regardless of knowing of newer and better ones. It was this way with the color rush. We all wanted a "rush", that is, we wanted to establish ourselves, and we wanted to come out of it all in one piece. After a great deal of talk on both sides it was decided with the Juniors to abolish the "Color Rush" as it had been known, and to substitute in its place an athletic contest in which there was less danger of anyone being disabled. If only one was hurt on either side that would be one too many. A committee was appointed and preparation began. This committee headed by Mark DeGraff, certainly did excellent work in getting things together and going. The contest proved a success. We lost, but in losing we feel that we have gained a point in favor of abolishing the rough-house color rush that has caused so many pains and aches and in some cases very serious accidents.

February the fourteenth was the day. We lost the eight-man tug-of-war, the relay race, and one wrestling match, making the standing at the end of the day four to three in favor of the Juniors. The contest was a success thruout. The only grumble we heard was from a few, and a very few, members of classes who are so far advanced that they do not have to participate in any such scraps. Naturally they want a fight. They could have grandstand seats and tell their girls how they had fought. We feel very well satisfied over the day and hope that other classes that follow will establish themselves in a similar manner.

The class rush was not the only rush in which we took part. We were entertained by the several clubs and organizations. Some of us to the extent that we had to put our engagements in a book and then got badly mixed at times. Special mention should be made of the receptions given by the Y. M. C. A. and the Stillionians. Our Class Reception was given February twenty-first in North Hall. Practically every member was present except some who were participating in a special reception held for their particular benefit. We all understood when we saw them the next day. The Juniors certainly should be complimented upon the delightful entertainment they furnished us. We could not but feel at home after that. The hall was beautifully decorated and every minute of the time showed many minutes of preparation. It was another success for the Juniors.

By the end of the first term we were very much settled and felt quite at home. We were beginning to feel like a large family and of course had the bad boys and good girls as do all large families. Yes, "Everybody do". It was hard to find the same seat in Library Hall every day, but we managed to get within three or four feet of the usual spot so Dr. Boyes would not have to learn the roll all over again. By the middle of the term we had added seven new members to the list making the total sixty-four—one from France, two from Canada, and the remainder divided among eighteen states, Illinois and Missouri each contributing eleven. Our extremes are Massachusetts, Minnesota, Texas and Oregon.

Examinations commenced on Saturday May the twenty-fourth, and we took the last chance on Wednesday the twenty-eighth. Some caught the eleven-fifteen Wabash that morning, so anxious were they to be out of Kirksville. At the last minute we decided to present Dr. Deason with a remembrance and the few that were left after Wednesday attended to this. Miss Raymond, Messrs. Claverie, Griffith and Halladay were appointed and completed the task much to the satisfaction of the Doctor.

Checking up at the close of the term we find that Mrs. Wolcott quit us on account of having a hubby, and that Miss Ada Snyder, our secretary, would not return in the Fall on account of not having a hubby. (An article which she expressed her intent of securing soon). The term closed with everyone in a happy state, all anxious to get a chance to study on some of the things they did not have time for during the school session. Quite a few prepared to stay and take special work during the summer and be on hand for the big convention in August.

Well, it seemed that the conductor had no more than pocketed the last piece of our ticket than we were buying another to return to Kirksville. The summer sure went it's "wentest". September the fifteenth found a lot of us shaking others' hands and so glad to get back. Our first day was not much of a success from the standpoint of class work. The most of the members were down in the vicinity of the Chemistry Hall waiting for a chance at the Freshman. It was with a clear conscience that we took advantage of our elevated position this term and armed with a board, got back at our superiors by lambasting our inferiors. They are a husky bunch. Class work started on Tuesday but sorry to say we are a few shy this year. We had almost given up all hope of having Mrs. Wieland with us, but, better late than never, she arrived the fourteenth of October.

After all the excitement at school was over we discovered that we had not elected officers for the new term so got busy and placed W. V. Shepherdson at the head of an entire new set of officials. We are not making history this term. We have been too busy dodging "labs". We are quite proud of our record so far, but will leave our boasts until a later date.

Write Them a Letter Tonight

Don't go to the concert, the opera or ball,
But stay in your room tonight;
Deny the laughing young friends that call,
And a good long letter write!
Write to the dear old folks at home,
Who sit, when the day is done,
With folded hands and with dimming eyes
As they think of the absent one.

Don't selfishly scribble, "Excuse my haste,
I've scarcely time to write,"
Lest in retrospection their memory turn
To many a bygone night,
When they lost their needed sleep and rest,
And every breath was a prayer
That God would leave their beloved babe
To their tender love and care.

So write to the dear old folks at home,—
With locks fast turning white.
They're longing to hear from their daughter or son;
Write them a letter tonight!

Don't let them feel that you've no more need
Of their love and counsel wise—
For the heart grows strongly sensitive
When Time has dimmed the eyes.
Far better now, if you let them know
That you never forget them quite,
That the happiest moments at A.S.O.
Are spent as you to them write.

Don't think that the young and joyous friends
Who make for a pastime gay,
Have half the anxious thoughts for you
That the old folks have today.
The duty of writing do not put off—
Let sleep or pleasure wait—
Lest the letter for which they look and live
Come a day or an hour too late.

June Class—1916

CLASSES OSTEOBLAST. 1915

Class History--June 1916

---

The Class of June '16 has many qualities to make it conspicuous. The members represent the flower of the citizenship of the communities from which they come.

The class has representatives from the frozen north, "The land of the pines and the hemlock." The east has contributed many of her choicest sons and daughters. We note members from the granary of the South and the land of flowers, that furnished the fountain of youth for the dreamers of old. The sunny Pacific and the Golden Gate and the land where "Rolls the Oregon" are represented in great numbers. Yea even from the Islands beyond the sea, from smoky London, comes a man to study the science that is now the greatest art of healing.

From the four corners of this country, toward the beginning of the month of the Ramadan, one hundred eighty-eight people with but a single thought turned their faces toward this Mecca of Osteopathy. For a few days we kept the people of Kirksville busy furnishing rooms and board. On September 15th, we assembled for the first time as a class. There was one of the greatest classes that ever entered the A. S. O. brought into being.

Dr. Henry breathed into us the breath of life which was almost immediately knocked out by the sociable Juniors. We were unacquainted but there was a bond of union and a common cause, which we manifested in a united effort to get away. However the Juniors made a hit that was a stinger for us. This was our first appearance in public. Then it was that the June '16 class began to make History. Since that time we have been on the job all of the time and in a great many instances we have worked overtime.

A few weeks passed. One day we awoke to the fact that it was necessary to elect class officers and prepare for the second reception to be given by the proud and haughty Juniors. After much trouble we elected Mr. W. W. Carson President of the class, drafted a constitution, and selected Orange and Black for class colors. We were now an organization that could work for itself and help promote the best interests of the school.

We boosted the athletics of the school by furnishing ten men for the foot ball squad. We voted unanimously to pay two dollars apiece to the Athletic Association for a season ticket. We then decided to do away with the Color Rush. After many debates and much oratory we concluded to have a Push Ball contest on Still Field. There was trouble getting the ball. The Juniors became impatient waiting for something to happen, so they decided to give us the Annual Reception this year before the fight.

On October 17th we met our host in Heinzman-Swigert Hall. There were music, punch, and an abundance of good cheer. We tripped the light fantastic until a late hour. When we returned to our homes we felt as though we had been honored and treated as well as man can treat his fellowman.

After the Junior reception the all absorbing question was the class fight. We elected W. C. Jackson captain for the day and laid our plans for a great victory. On the night of October 22nd some of our fellows carelessly ambled out alone and had their hair cut, but for every Freshman dehaired a Junior lost locks. So the preliminary scrap was a draw.

At one o'clock, on October 23rd, we met on the postoffice square when we were informed that the Push Ball had not arrived. We decided to substitute a foot ball. We then marched to the field and lined up for the struggle. Then it was that one of the prettiest spectacles that was ever seen in Kirksville was shown to the spectators. The girls of the class, the heroines of Osteopathy, who have entertained and advised us in sunshine and in storm, ran across the field and back waving the class colors in ribbons of black and orange.

The act provoked cheer after cheer from the class and spectators. We realized at that moment that the Juniors were a whipped class.

The fight started immediately and raged until dark, the score alternating between the classes, so that the outcome was always uncertain. Finally the Freshmen made a touch down in the last quarter winning in one of the most sensational class fights in the history of the institution.

We now felt as though we were an important class in the school, and that our troubles were all over, but alas how oft are hopes blasted in their youth. We were doomed to have the most unjust indignity heaped upon us that any class ever suffered in the American School of Osteopathy.

By design, or otherwise, two Seniors had their hair cut one Sunday night. As there was no way of telling who committed the crime they very logically concluded that the Freshman Class was guilty. A mass meeting of all the upper classmen was held in Memorial hall and it was decided, in order to atone for the loss of Senior hair, that all the Freshmen should lose their cranial covering and all privileges.

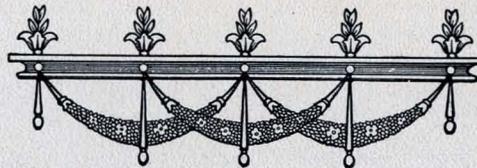

This demand did not appeal to us and we hesitated to submit to the ordeal. We were then given five minutes to produce the guilty parties. We failed to find them so the time was extended until the next morning when we were to produce the guilty or suffer the consequences of our supposed criminality.

Apparently we were friendless, but we showed our strength as a class. We were united in a great cause. The honor of the class was at stake and we were determined to fight for justice and punish the guilty if they could be found. We were unable to attach the crime on members of our class. To-day we can truthfully say that we are not guilty.

The faculty then took a hand in the affair and the trouble quieted down. Mob rule was replaced by reason and we were allowed to pursue the even tenor of our way.

We stand today one of the best organized classes in the institution. We look into the future and predict a success never attained by any class prior to this. We stand for justice in all things. We will respect the rights of our fellow classmen and we are determined to exalt the school and our profession.

CLASSES OSTEOBLAST. 1915

---

As that of previous classes, our history commenced in Chemistry Hall where we were welcomed by several members of the faculty.

Dr. Henry spoke a few words of encouragement, saying those outside were not quite what they seemed, they were really our best friends.

There were many spectators in addition to the ones actively engaged in giving us a warm reception, for the whole school had been adjourned in the honor of our coming.

Our boys showed the right spirit in the meeting with the upper classmen and no hard feelings are harbored on either side. The ladies were heartily but courteously received.

On February third, our regular routine of duties was established. Our attendance has been good. Although it may sound contradictory, nearly all those not being "present" at roll call, were "here."

During the first week of school we held a class meeting. Not knowing each other personally we had to judge solely from appearances. Mr. Parker was unanimously chosen president, his good qualities have appeared since. Our other officers are: Mrs. Swanson, Vice-President; Mrs. Foley, Secretary; Mr. Miller, Treasurer.

We have been entertained in a royal manner by the various clubs and organizations, making each of us feel at home and glad we are here.

Our class is made up of a larger percentage of college men and women than the average class. It numbers about sixty. Nearly all the states of the Union are represented, also England and Canada.

We are just beginning our history, as a class, and during the next three years—we will work and strive with all our might to support our colors, maroon and white.

RECEPTION TO JANUARY '17 CLASS

Kirksville

Frank Stockton has made one of his pen children say that there are but three places on the map—here, there and I don't know where. Though this seems to simplify geography, it may cause confusion. If you were asked to locate Kirksville, you would promptly reply: "It is the center of I don't know where," while I might maintain that it is there, way out in Missouri, close to the Chariton Hills, unless they have been loosened by the spring-rains, and slipped down into the river and pumped out by the city water system.

Say you come in early September, when the melons thump "pank, pank," change cars at Moberly, take the brown car at the west end of the platform, you soon learn what Markham meant by being a brother to the ox—you will be "shipped."

You will go jerking along, shrieking shrewishly at the brown stations that stop your northern progress. When darkness begins to gather about the creeping train you will hear the welcome call, "Kirksville—Don't forget your packages."

A look from a western window will tell you that shoes are made in Kirksville, as well as Osteopaths. You will soon determine that there cannot be more than eight thousand inhabitants, though the houses are not bunched or corralled, but picketed apart over a large tract of land. Then you will notice that it is a low town, the business blocks are but two stories high and the residences mostly cottages. "Plenty of room" is one reason for this; a second might lie in the fact that Missourians like to see to the top of things as well as to the bottom. This continual looking up is hard on the neck. To adapt himself to conditions, the coming resident of the sky-scraping city will have a hinged atlas and axis—a heavy cerebellum—no chain. The Missourian is no innovator.

Take a surface view of the town next; you will probably walk east on Washington St., south on Main to Jefferson—the Mason and Dixon line of the town. However before you have meandered long your mitral cells of the olfactory apparatus will be stimulated by the odor from the gas tank and the cells of the organs of Corti will be startled by the fire-whistle.

You will notice that many of the stores are department stores—groceries on one side, dry-goods on the other, vegetables in the basement (do not ask for the elevator), chickens in the rear. Saturday is bargain day and how the shoppers crowd the streets! It is the "off" day for the farmer; his family comes with him to the town. If you are interested in farmers, why not study street life? You will note the many horseless carriages—perambulators—from which the chubby little ones smile trustfully at you. The women will gather in good natured groups and discuss, as do their city sisters, their three d's—dress, disease and domestic affairs. The men will seem brown and brawny. There is no patent leather, no broadcloth. Although they seem unkempt and uncultured, they have not the puffed and beared faces that trouble your dreams after late mince pie. They may misuse their nominative case, but they are faithful to their friends. They may divorce their relative classes, but seldom break family ties. Their plural verbs may go flirting around with singular subjects, but they themselves are generally circumspect.

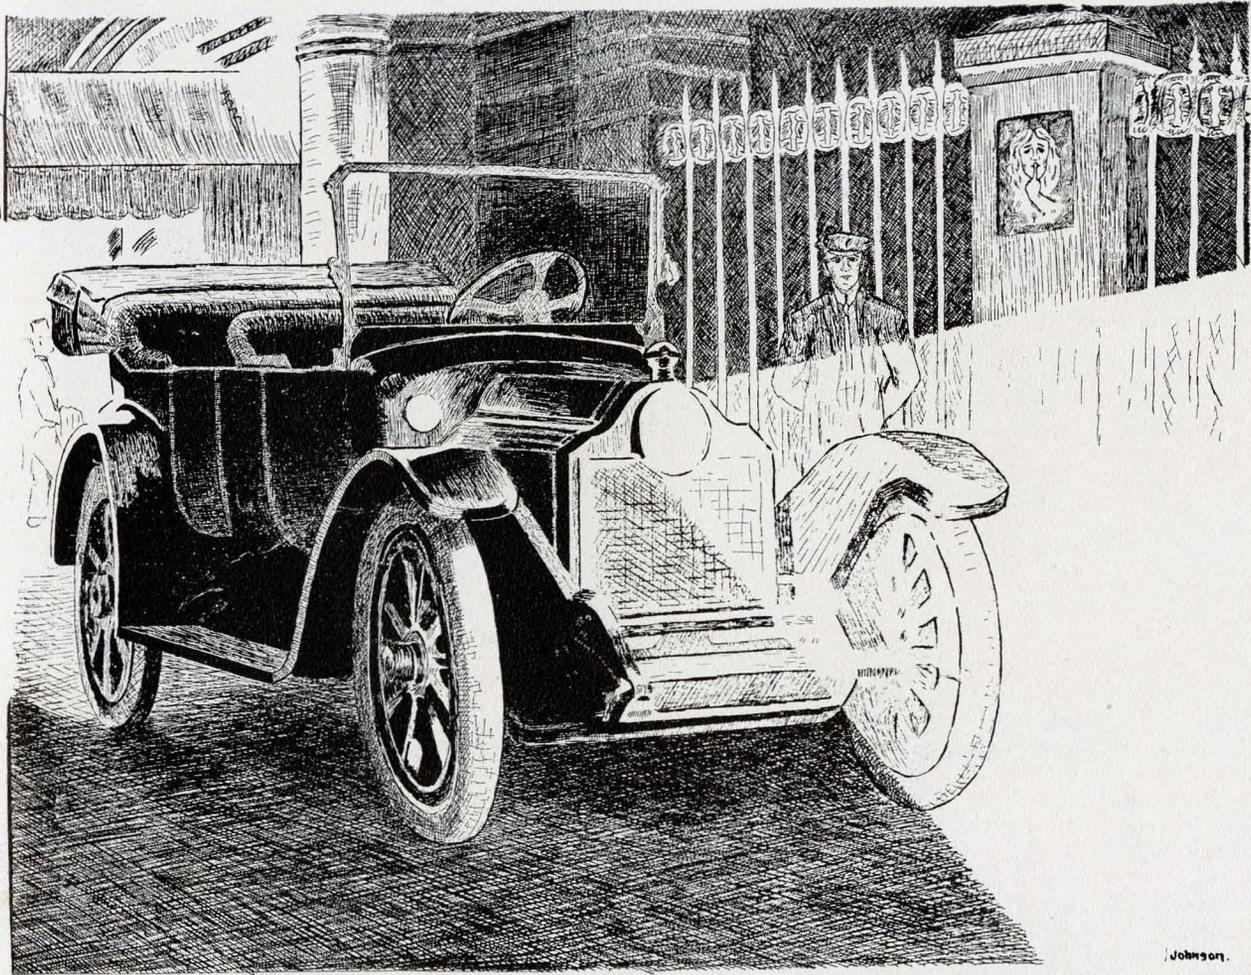

But my land of "there," though both are called Kirksville, is some what different. The buildings are no taller, no more numerous; the town seems no less raw. But to us, The Old Doctor, the school, the faculty, our classmates and fellow students are more than the town—more than any city.

We have come for a common purpose, to strive to learn the science our "Great Leader" has pointed out to us. And while here we mean to be optimists; we say, "please pass me the cream," when we mean "hand me the milk."

Laugh not at the little red college and low campus; from the walls of this school have gone forth some of the greatest healers the world has known.

In after years when our thoughts go wandering back, linked with the memories of our happy school days will always be a kindly feeling for the Home of Osteopathy—the little town called Kirksville.

ELKS HOME

Our Skeleton

---

We've fourteen bones within the face, and eight within the head;
And three small bones complete the ear, to help us hear what's said.

It takes but one to move the tongue, and thirty-two are teeth;
Then summing all, both great and small, write sixty-one beneath.

Two parietals on top the head, the frontal joins sublimely;
Two temporals on either side remind us we are timely.
The ethmoids so delicate have eyes and nose for minions:
The sphenoid's at the base of skull like birds with double pinions.

Superior maxillaries unite beneath the vomer:
Their lower lines are upper jaws, which seems quite a misnomer.
Inferior maxillary like them contains the sockets
For all our teeth, which fill them up like over-flowing pockets.
Its common name is the lower jaw, the largest and the longest Bone in the face, and we may add it also is the strongest.
The vomer, mentioned once before, fits 'twixt the nostrils snugly,

For noses large or noses small, long, short or fair or ugly.
The turbinated bones extend each side the nasal fossa;
Though small in size, they curl around just like a tiny lasso.
The nasal bones between the eyes unite to form a ridge
On which the spectacles can cross as we would cross a bridge.
The lacrymals are very sad, intended just for weeping:

Within the sockets of the eyes we see their edges peeping.
The malar bones on either side, their name on apple founded, Uphold the beauty of the cheeks and make them smooth and rounded.

The palate bones, between the two, both mouth and nose
espouse;

The formers' roof, the latters' floor, like a two story house.
The stapes, just like stirrups, bind round the internal ear;
Three on each side, by means of which it has been made to hear.
Some bones are very neighborly and on each other wait
With processes or edges joined, 'tis called articulate.

The hyoid at the root of tongue articulates with none,
But lets the tongue articulate enough for either one.
Six bones for hearing, one for speech, from this it would appear
That nature meant us just to tell one sixth of what we hear.

The twenty-four called vertebrae make up the spinal column;
All neatly joined they follow up like a procession solemn.
The Axis joins the Atlas, which with edges well unfurled
Holds up the head as Atlas old was said to hold the world.

The ribs, called Costos, form a cage for the liver, lungs and heart
Twelve on each side and in the front for breathing bent apart.
The Scapula our shoulder blades are fan like at the back
With Clavicles in front that firmness do not lack

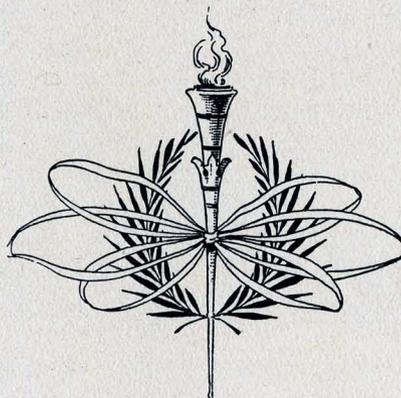

The Sternum up and down the breast gives fullness to the form
The Humerus on either side is called the upper arm.

The Forearms have two bones apiece, the Ulna is the longer,
 The Radius in front of it is shorter but is stronger.
 Eight Carpal bones are in each wrist with Metacarpals five Join at the fingers, and the thumbs, are busy and alive.
 Two sturdy bones are in the thumb, The Phalanges or fingers
 Have three apiece all neatly joined like rows of beaded stringers.
 The pelvis holds the lower limbs in balance straight and clear
 It bears the trunk, the Sacrum and the Coccyx are its rear.
 Iliac, Ischial, Pubic bones the Pelvis help to make,
 Upon each side and in the front are strong and hard to break.
 The Femurs to the Pelvis joined are found within the thighs,
 No other bones in all the frame can equal them in size.
 Patellas, within each knee are loose but there to stay,
 Support us and protect the joints when ere we kneel to pray.

The Tibia and the Fibula unite beneath the knee
 Again they at the ankle join to complete the leg, you see.
 Each ankle seven Tarsals has with Metatarsals five Join at the toes all skeletons of dead men, and alive.
 The hair, the teeth, the finger-nails are neither flesh nor bone
 But very useful in their place as every one will own.
 Now count these bones, omit the teeth before you leave the spot.
 You will find two hundred six besides, just to complete the lot
 We'll leave unnamed a bone or two, but we have counted all Because our Muse is tired now we'll drive him to his stall.

The American Osteopathic Convention

Kirksville, Mo., August 4-9, 1913

KIRKSVILLE, during the week of August 6, 1913! How many pleasant memories these few words recall. We might tell of the old friendships that were revived, and the class and fraternity reunions that were enjoyed during the days that the great Kirksville Convention met—the greatest osteopathic convention that has yet been held. It is not, however, our purpose in this article solely to expand upon the emotional aspects of this Convention. Rather we wish briefly to show a few points of main importance and interest as they were presented during the days mentioned, and at the same time to urge the wonderful power of the sentimental pull as it is felt at such a time.

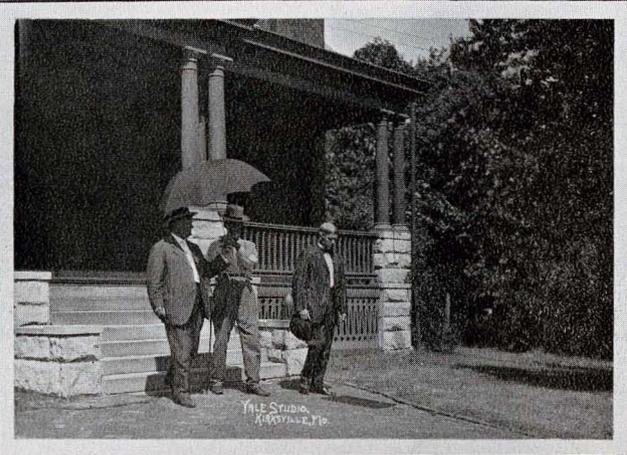

The Convention was opened on Monday, August 4, and it continued until Friday, August 8. The third day of these five, being the "Old Doctor's" birthday, was devoted to celebrations of a nature that Kirksville had never seen before. The fact that this day of celebration was the third of the five devoted to this meeting was especially opportune as in this way the day of pleasure was exactly sandwiched in between the days of work and serious undertaking. It is impossible to divorce the question of sentiment from the discussion of the more practical aspects of the Convention, for the reason that—regard it how we may—the sentimental phase of a meeting of this kind is of tremendous moment.

Dr. H. L. Chiles, the Editor of the A. O. A. Journal, wrote at the conclusion of an article on the Kirksville meeting in the August issue of that Journal as follows: "Doctor, does the fact that you were not at the Convention mean that you are attempting 'to live on bread alone'? Man's nature is too much spiritual and social to permit of success being wrought out from eating and drinking. If you are not succeeding may not the cause be that you are not keeping step with the profession, that you are not availing yourself of what it has to offer. If you are succeeding, are you doing your duty in not freely giving what you have freely received? Cannot we work ourselves up to the point of recognising our possibilities if we pool our interests and make our associations wholly mutual, as indeed they are?" Right here indeed is struck a key-note of great importance in reference to the value of a mass meeting of men and women with common interests and common aims.

It is possible that there is someone who attended this Convention who can say that he gleaned nothing of great importance from the ultra-practical standpoint; we say it is possible, but it is not likely, as many choice tit-bits were offered. Granted however that there may be such an one; we challenge the profession to produce a single example of any member who attended this Convention and entered into it with zeal and enthusiasm, who did not leave Kirksville with renewed confidence in his work, with a certain indefinable feeling in his inmost self that his life-work was one which was indeed worth while and that in his hands he held a key that placed him—in practical usefulness—far above the most learned and skillful medical physician. And is not this something that would amply repay anyone for the expense and trouble of the trip? But remember, as we said above, but very few, if any, left the Convention without having gleaned some new thoughts that will perhaps mean dollars and cents to them during the coming year.

One of the most noticeable features of this Convention was the breadth of thought that was manifested in the demonstrations and lectures. No attempt was made to exaggerate the statements as to what Osteopathy would do and what it would not do. Everywhere was evidence that it was the truth that was being sought, that, when found, it might be put into practice. As a recent writer in an article on the Convention stated: "I for one came away from the Convention with a calm feeling in my heart in regard to the future of Osteopathy; I decided that all the changes that I had noted were only a widening of Osteopathy to its own big self. I now welcome all the new ideas that have come into our school, in so far as they are in harmony with truth and sense and lessen human suffering. I feel that Osteopathy is broadening into a bigger usefulness as the years advance and when I heard the Old Doctor proclaim with feeble voice but with strong emotion, that 'The God I worship demonstrates all His work' I realized that the leaven of Osteopathy that he had planted into his boys and girls was verily bringing forth fruit, and that the principles of our Science were indeed being broadened into a larger truth than had ever been the case before."

Everyone felt that the visits made by the Old Doctor to the main tent from time to time were fraught with especial interest and value. Not that he spoke words of striking moment—and indeed but very few actually heard what he said—but as he stood on the rostrum, every heart swelled with pride, realizing that there stood a man who had scorned ridicule and abuse, one who had been unmoved by poverty and by loss of friends, one who in his search after that truth which he knew he could grasp, had dared all for the sake of that very world which had tried to crush him and had scorned his discoveries. They were indeed inspiring moments, and all who witnessed those scenes will remember them for many years.

No account of the Convention would be complete without some special mention of the greatest day of all, the Old Doctor's birthday, August 6. The day was fine and all seemed determined to enjoy it to the utmost. It is true that it was hot, but who minded that? It was simply an incident. The parade was of an enormous length and many beautiful floats and costumes were to be seen. In a reviewing stand was the Old Doctor and he stood through the entire parade, returning salutes and enjoying pleasantries with those around. Then came the great barbecue which defies description and then the speeches on the Normal Campus and the unveiling of the Old Doctor's statue in the evening at the reunion of the Adair County osteopaths. The whole day was so inspiring that its mere memories, as we write, almost thrill us again.

But what of the practical side of the work. This too was noteworthy and reflected the greatest credit upon those who had planned the programs. Many good papers were read and enjoyed while at least one interesting innovation proved a great success. This last was the introduction of a number of sections on technique each afternoon by osteopaths who had been chosen as fitted, for one reason or another, to suggest thoughts or demonstrate manipulations of unusual interest from any standpoint. We trust that this plan will be followed in other Conventions year by year.

Several "experience" meetings were held of evenings and these were delightful in the spontaneity of their entertainment and in the opportunities afforded to meet with friends and to renew acquaintances, etc. And what is more delightful than this? Few things, if any.

A feature of the Convention that attracted considerable interest was the tent that was devoted to the exhibits. Books, instruments, tables, foods, etc., all were shown and appreciated.

Of course the town was well decorated; there was scarcely a house that had not some bunting or pennants displayed, and the square was especially festive with a large number of lights strung from the Court House to the various stores.

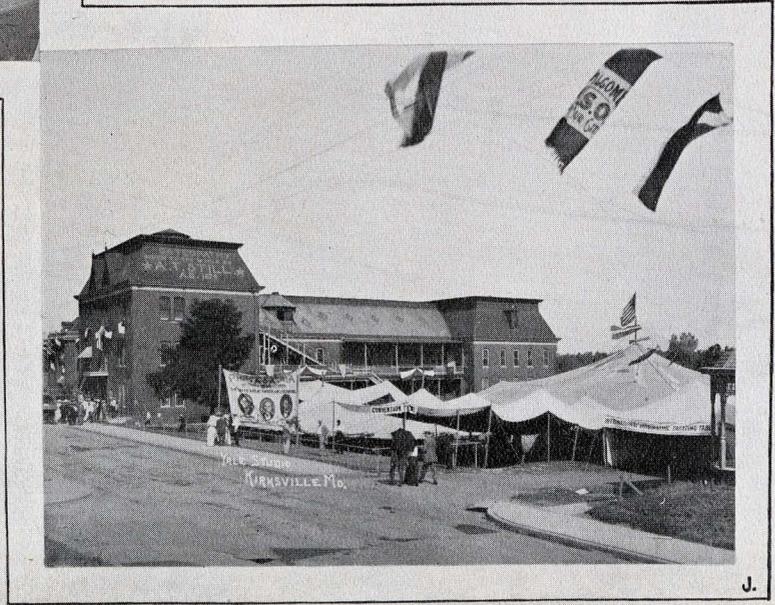

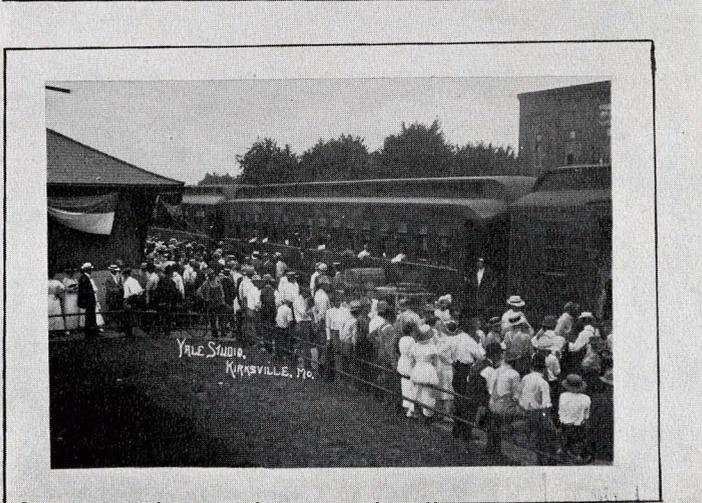

So the Kirksville Convention of August 1913 has come and gone and the time is approaching for the next annual meeting, but no one who attended the festivities of the Old Doctor's birthday and profited by the lectures and demonstrations at the general exercises will ever regret the days he spent in the old town at this time. It is said that most everything is perishable and this is true, but pleasant memories are very hard to efface, and the Kirksville Convention is synonymous with pleasant memories.

Results of the Orthopedic Cases

Dr. George M. Laughlin

Those who attended the A.S.O. Convention last summer at Kirksville, will recall the Orthopedic section, two sessions of which were held in the Hospital Pit on two afternoons of the week. During this time there were ten cases operated upon by Dr. Akin, Dr. Smith and myself.

I have been asked to make a report of this work for the year book. A report at this time, February 17th, will, of course be of more value than a report given at the time of the work, on account of the fact that we have been able to keep track of most of the cases and know the results of the operations.

There were two cases of unilateral congenital dislocation of the hip, one case of double congenital dislocation of the hips, two cases of fixed lateral curvature, treated by the Abbott method, one case of acquired club foot following infantile paralysis; one case of ankylosis of the knee joint, following acute inflammation; and one case of Pott's disease, treated by the Albee method of bone transplanation, and also one case of tuberculosis of the hip with deformity.

A short history of these cases with the results of the operations, so far as I know them, are here given:—

The two unilateral hip cases were girls at the ages of four and five. The hips were readily reduced under anesthesia and casts applied in the usual abductive position. These cases left the hospital in a few days. Both returned about three months later and had the casts removed. I found both hips in good position and second casts were applied, after the legs had been brought down into nearly normal position. We have heard from both of these cases since the second casts were removed. Perfect cures are reported.

The third case of congenital dislocation was that of a boy two years old where both hips were out. These were readily reduced under anesthesia, cast applied around the pelvis clear down to the feet, thighs flexed and abducted at about right angles. This little fellow wore his cast for over four months. I removed the cast the last of December and found both hips in good position. The legs were brought down, reducing the position about one-half and the second cast applied. I think the results in this case will be perfect.

The other hip case was a case of tuberculosis of the hip joint with considerable deformity in the joint. As a result of the disease, the thigh was flexed nearly 90 degrees, so that the patient was unable to walk without crutches. The diseased process, however, apparently had been quiet for several years. In this case the patient was anesthetized and the limb brought down to nearly full extension. The pelvis and leg were placed into a plaster cast and the patient allowed to leave the hospital after about a week. I have heard from this case several times, and it was reported that the patient has done well. The deformity did not recur to any considerable extent. The patient is now able to walk without the aid of crutches.

The case of club foot was in a little girl four years of age, who had had infantile paralysis. The deformity was not a bad one, but there was considerable contraction of the tendo-achilles with noticeable equinovarus deformity. The operation consisted of dividing the plantar fascia and the tendo-achilles, moulding the foot into good shape and applying the cast. The results of this case were very satisfactory.

I CLASSES OSTEOBLAST. 1915 I

The cases of fixed lateral curvatures were in girls of the ages of 15 and 16. There was in each case a very marked fixed lateral curvature in the dorsal region of the spine. Casts were applied in the Abbott frame after the curvatures had been corrected as much as possible. In one case the cast was worn about three months. It was then taken off and the patient given osteopathic treatment. There was considerable improvement in the curvature as a result of the use of the cast but the curvature in this case is not over-corrected and another cast will be applied in the near future. In the other case, the first cast was worn about two months. There was a marked improvement from this cast. After its removal I had the patient treated for about a week, and a second cast was applied in the same manner as the first. This cast is still being worn and the spine appears to be over-corrected. I look for excellent results in both of these cases, as the patients have stood the treatment well and they are in excellent general health.

The patient with the stiff knee, a woman age 34, had had an acute inflammation in the knee some years ago, probably four or five, which left the knee perfectly stiff, but the ankylosis was only fibrous. This was broken down under an anesthetic. Good motion was secured between the femur and tibia and also between the patella and femur. This patient remained in the hospital for only about ten days. Up to that time the motion was still good, although of course, there was considerable inflammation as a result of treatment. I have not heard of this case since the patient left the hospital, so do not know the results.

The case which attracted the most attention, on account of the newness of the treatment, was that of a young woman, 22 years old, with Pott's disease. In this case there was considerable deformity in the mid dorsal region of the spine, the disease involving probably three of four vertebra. There was quite a marked posterior deformity. The disease was quite active in as much as the patient was running some temperature, and there was considerable pain in the back and in the intercostal regions. The operation performed on this case is known as the Albee method, which consisted of exposing the spinal processes of the diseased area of the spine and splitting them down to their bases, producing a green stick fracture so as to allow the fragments to separate at their ends. A piece of bone about four or five inches long was then taken from the crest of the tibia and grafted into the spines of the vertebrae.

The object of the treatment is to secure a bony ankylosis between the diseased vertebra, thus securing perfect immobility. This treatment when successful, prevents further deformity and shortens the period of convalescence in Pott's disease. In this case the patient stayed in the hospital for two months following the operation and apparently the graft took before she was discharged. A plaster paris cast was put on and the patient moved about without any discomfort. I have not heard from this case since the patient left the hospital and do not know the ultimate results.

The Surgical Work at the Anniversary Convention

Geo. A. Still

During the entire convention week operations were performed each morning beginning at seven o'clock and sometimes not ending until nearly noon. Many of these were private and many clinic. They varied all the way from nose and throat cases up to malignant tumors. The majority of them would come under the head of major operations, five in succession being abdominal cases.

The press, not only locally but generally, gave quite a bit of publicity to the record of sixty-some cases in six days, all performed by one man, these of course in addition to those performed by Dr. Laughlin and others. Reports of this sort from papers in fourteen different states were mailed to me alone and I believe the item had as wide spread a circulation as anything that happened at the Convention, but the remarkable part of the surgical work done at the Convention was not the fact that I did a large number of operations in a short while, nor that I did it unassisted, nor that they all left the hospital alive.

The most remarkable feature of the cases was the fact that Osteopathy played a very big part in the whole thing; indeed, I will say almost the entire part. Every patient was treated following the operation by osteopathic methods. Every nurse in the hospital, who nursed the cases after the operation and who prepared them for the operation, was an osteopathically trained nurse. Not one of them had ever been in a medical training school, not one of them gave any patient any medicine, except a post-operative opiate in some cases, and not a patient had any medicine except that, during the entire convalescence.

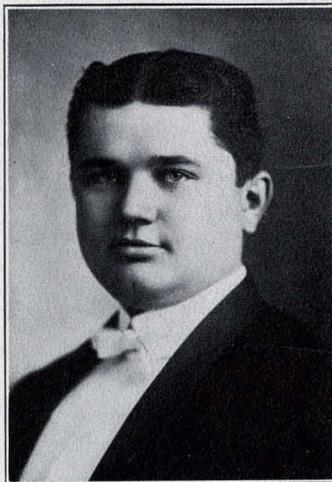

More than that, an osteopath or rather three osteopaths gave all the anesthetics. Osteopaths treated their post-operative complications with Osteopathy.

Even osteopaths often ask what Osteopathy can do in post-operative cases. I wish these people could have seen two cases that I have had in the past month or that they could have watched this bunch of cases, or any week's bunch of cases at the A.S.O. Hospital, and they would be convinced that PURE OSTEOPATHY in its purest form can be mined rich here in a surgical hospital and assay one hundred per cent.

The two cases I thought of especially, illustrate very well what can often be done, and they are things that no medical doctor could believe without seeing them; and I know many osteopaths, who claim they are the "real thing," who I know wouldn't have confidence enough to tackle these cases. They were treated by an old-time osteopath, who is still capable of absorbing new things and has won one of the internships at the hospital for this year.

One case was the second case of post-operative pneumonia we have ever had here, although the greatest surgeon of the world states that they are his worst trouble today.

This patient went from 104 and a fraction at two o'clock one morning with an undoubted beginning pneumonia down to normal three nights later. Dr. H. T. Ashlock, who treated the case, undoubtedly broke the disease up by staying with the patient from two o'clock until seven a. m. the first day and prevented real consolidation, the case then being just on the border of red hepatization.

This patient got no alcohol, no strychnine, no digitalis; nothing but osteopathic treatment; though after mentioning the results I possibly might have left this to be understood, as it is the only way it could have happened, I believe.

The other was a case of anuria that had had the same condition in two previous operations, the condition lasting over a week both times and almost causing death under medical treatment. In this instance there was partial relief after the first treatment and complete after the second day.

To return to the Convention and osteopathic nurses and anesthetists let me say first that osteopathic nursing does not include giving osteopathic treatment. It simply includes relying on hygiene, dietetics and real nursing, and not giving medicine, unless ordered by an osteopathic doctor. We are often asked how an osteopathic nurse can nurse for medical men, but when you come to think of it, the osteopathic nurse has learned more nursing than the medical nurse as far as nursing goes and, when it comes to giving medicine according to instructions, it doesn't take a very massive intellect to pour ten drops of this or that into a spoon and then insert the spoon into the patients' features. All this requires, is to be able to count ten and to tell the time of day, if the medicine is to be given, say every three or four hours.

I was in a medico-legal case the other day, where four medical men in charge of three hospitals, were on the other side. It amused me to note that every one of these has had a graduate from my own hospital when we only had a two year's training course for nurses, to take full charge of his hospital and surgical cases particularly. This is in spite of the fact that every one of these men hates osteopathy and at least seventy-five per cent of them enjoy the same feeling towards me personally. I am glad to say that I do not allow myself to return this feeling, as I can see that they have some good points or they would not have selected these nurses, when there are so many medically graduated nurses looking for jobs. A diploma from the A.S.O. Training School for Nurses is a certificate of health, ability, intellect, character and training. They have been so used to seeing hard things done easily that things that would ordinarily frustrate some other nurse, they handle by second nature.

To the nineteen nurses, who helped make the convention cases a success in spite of an already nearly filled hospital, we all owe a vote of thanks and especially to Miss Cora Gottreu, the Superintendent, who personally oversaw the preparation, helped in the operating room and superintended the after-care of all of them. She is also an osteopathic product and at that the best surgical nurse in the country. She worked day and night to make the cases a success and following the Convention the rush kept up until she worked herself into an illness, which nearly cost her sight, and would have, but for osteopathy and surgery. Another straight osteopathic nurse, who helped materially to smooth out the rough spots during the rush, was Miss Ruth Story, who successfully handled the office and the hundred and one details that go with the general management of an institution.

Miss Cecil McLaughlin, an A.S.O. nurse graduate of exceptional ability, also assisted materially in the night superintending.

As to anesthetists not one of them ever saw a medical school except as a visitor and yet we didn't have the least bit of anesthetic trouble; indeed, using straight osteopathic anesthetists we have never had any particular trouble, excepting four cases and none of them was fatal. This is out of many thousands and a record that might possibly be equalled but not beaten.

So, taking it all in all I think you will agree with me that, though the surgeon got some credit at the Convention, osteopathy deserved most of it.

History of the Nurses Training School of the A. S. O. Hospital

Few people realize that eleven years ago there was no such thing in the world as an osteopathic nurse and it was just ten years ago this spring that the first osteopathic training school for nurses graduated its first and only class and I am proud to say that a fair part of the surface of those four hand written diplomas is covered by my own name.

It was about this time that the A.S.O. purchased the above mentioned hospital and its equipment including myself; everything but the hospital building being moved to Kirksville, where they were just starting a new hospital of their own. The regular training school with a full two year course of instruction started under the charge of Dr. Mary Walters, now practicing osteopathy in Santa Barbara, California. Dr. Walters was a woman of sixteen years experience as a surgical nurse, both in this country and abroad and we owe it in part to her that the school got on its sound basis so soon.

The training school had the advantage that very many nurses school do not have and that was the advantage of the excellent instruction from various members of the teaching force of the American School of Osteopathy.

Another advantage was the wide range of cases admitted to the hospital which included practically everything except the actually contagious diseases and violently insane, which are sent to the Macon Sanatorium. We are informed by the Nurses Board of Registration of this state that many of the hospitals of this state graduate nurses that have never seen nor nursed an obstetrical case and there is no question that few of them get the surgical experience that our graduates get.

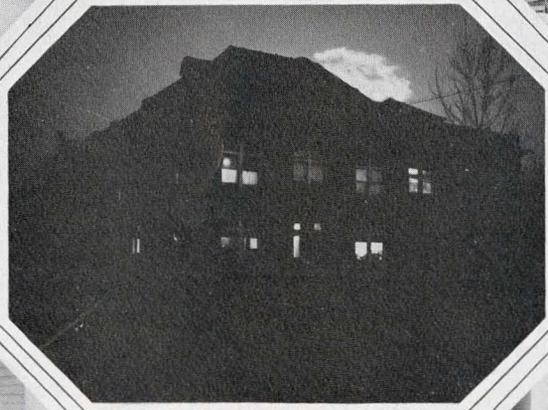

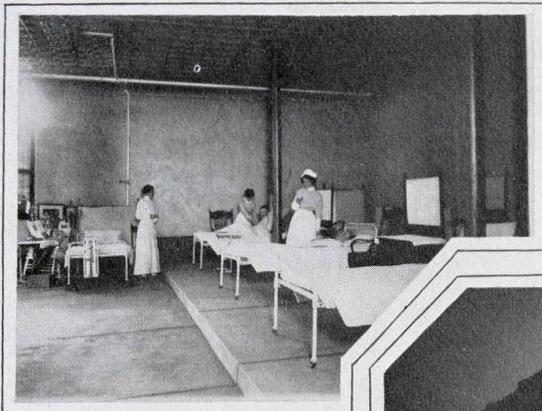

The course, which was originally two years was lengthened to three years recently, which is the standard for the better class of training schools in the world. It was once thought that graduating from an osteopathic hospital might be a handicap. Experience has taught us differently, as scarcely a week passes that we do not have to turn down calls for our graduates and several times we have had two or three calls in a single day that we could not supply and it may be mentioned that our graduates get full "union rates."

The required course includes:

1. The care of the sick-rooms and wards, and the principles of warming and ventilating.
2. Bed-making; changing bed and body linen while patient is in bed; giving baths; management of helpless patients; prevention of bed sores.
3. The administration of enemata and douches, and the use of catheter.
4. Obstetrical nursing, and the nursing of sick children.
5. Care of patients in diseases of the eye and ear.
6. The care of patients before, during and after operation; the prevention and control of hemorrhage; artificial respiration.
7. Care of orthopedic cases.
8. Care of gynecological cases.
9. Care of neurological cases.
10. Modification of diet in disease.
11. Bandaging and bandage-making.
12. Disinfection and prevention of contagion.
13. Observation and record of the state of secretions, expectorations, skin, temperature, pulse, respiration, sleep, mental condition, and effects of the diet.
14. Lectures are given by members of the Hospital Staff. Practical Ward work by the Head Nurses.
15. If satisfactory examinations are passed, a Diploma will be granted at the end of the course.
16. Bacteriology and chemistry.
17. Practical instruction in sick-room cookery.
18. Surgical operating room work after an extra examination showing fitness for this work.
19. Where possible, each nurse is sent out on at least one outside case during the senior year.

The Board of Control

THE Board of Control is made up of a President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer, elected from the student body at a mass meeting; two members from each class in school, elected at regular class meetings; and the managers of the football, baseball, track and basketball teams. Its function is to govern all student activities, such as games in the major sports, regulate class scraps and take care of financing athletics. Proposed schedules in any line of athletics must be approved by this body before the contracts can be signed, and all bills must pass through the Board before being ordered paid. The Board also has charge of awarding "O's" to men who have earned their letters in the major sports. Coaches for the various teams are elected by the Board, selections being made from bids sent in by applicants.

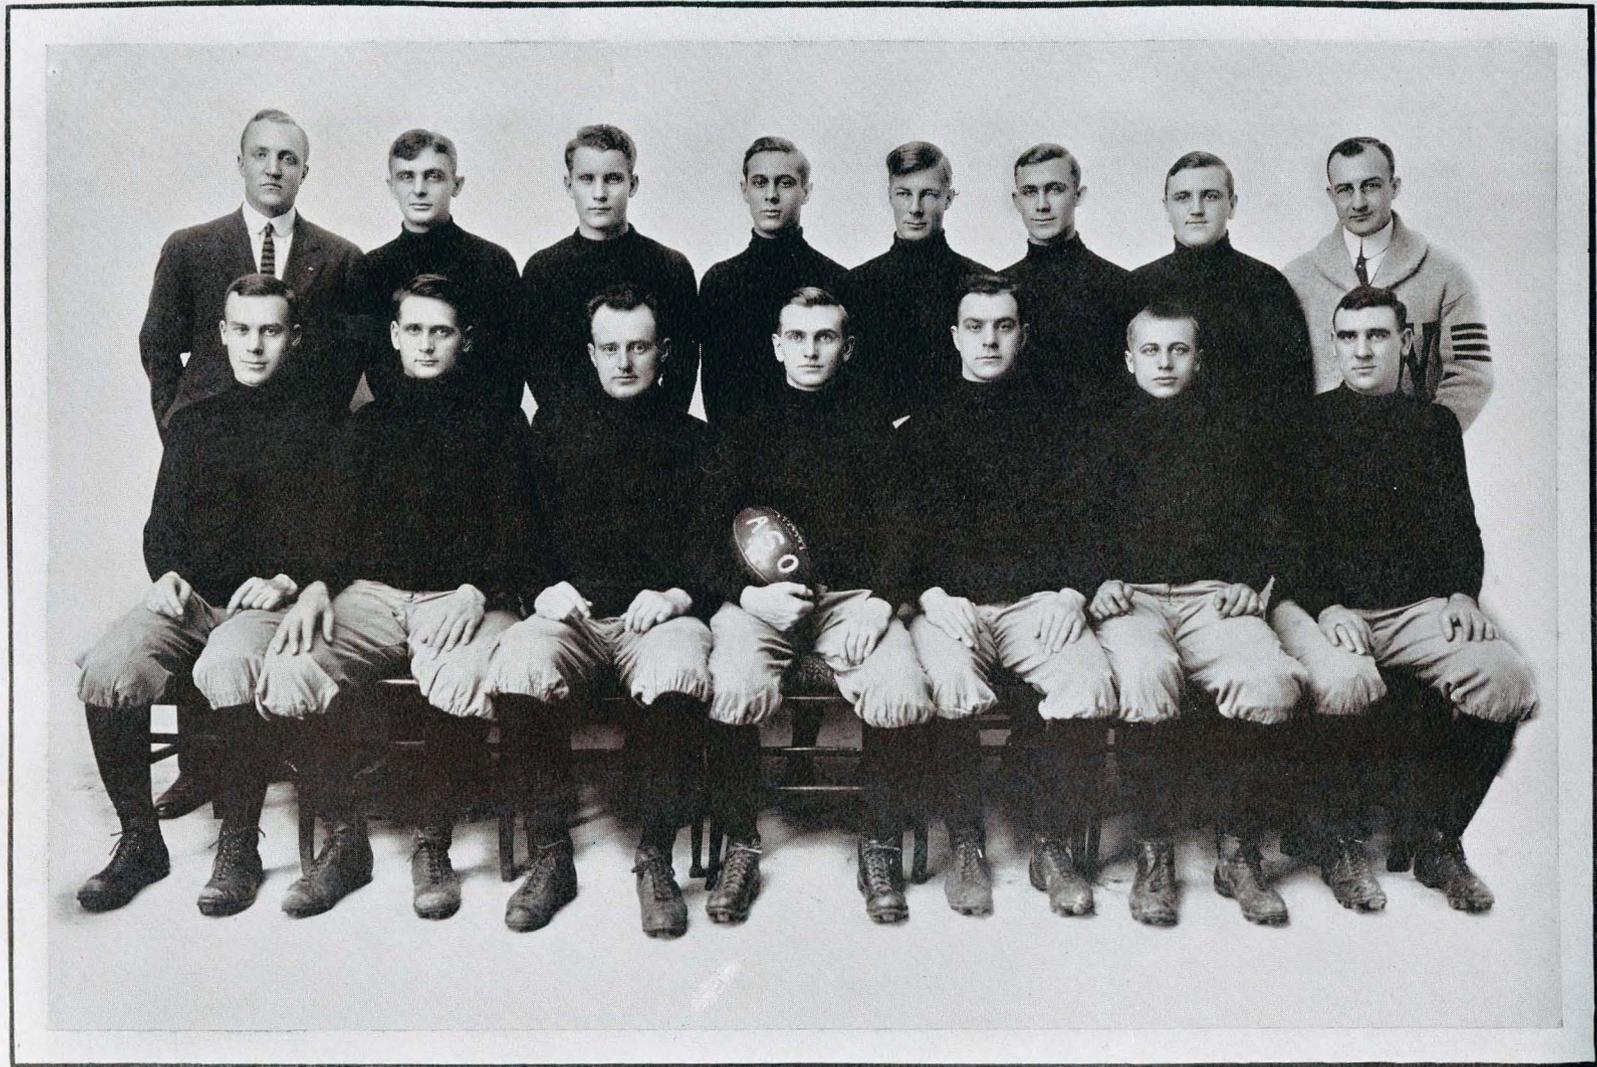

Last fall the Board of Control, headed by H. J. Weaver, put before the student body a measure which bids fair to rejuvenate athletics at the A.S.O., and put them on a paying basis. The proposition is this: Each student, on paying tuition, pays at the same time a fee of two (2) dollars, and in return receives a ticket which admits him or her to all Varsity games in football and baseball. This brings into the treasury a sum, which, with the annual appropriation from the school authorities, is sufficient to carry on athletics without a deficit. At the same time it assures a large attendance at the various games, and a large crowd of enthusiastic rooters makes for a winning team. This proposition received an almost unanimous vote when presented to the different classes, and practically all of the students in school have paid their fees. There has been some talk of raising the fee to three (3) dollars, but this has not been done as yet.

Having charge, as it does, of all student activities, and being the only student governing body at the A.S.O., the Board is necessarily an important institution, election to it being considered no small honor. Its members at present are men who are at the top in the various sports and there are enough men on the Board of sound business sense and ability to warrant judicious decisions on any questions which may arise.

LARRY T. HESS

Working against odds that would have discouraged any other man, with the weather and canceled games pulling against him, Larry T. Hess brought the football season of 1913 to a successful close, both from the standpoint of games won and dollars spent. In making out the schedule he was handicapped all along by the fact that many of the games were canceled for various reasons, and that so late that it was impossible to fill their places on the schedule. This made our schedule two games shorter than usual. The weather man seemed to be working against him too, and only one game was played in Kirksville on a dry field. But Larry certainly did himself proud when he landed the Thanksgiving game, accomplishing more than any manager in the past ten years had done. He is to be complimented also on the success he had in scheduling games with schools which play in a higher class than we have been accustomed to playing in. In seeing that the men were well cared for and in keeping track of the uniforms he was also "there," and the men were especially well looked after. On the trips he had things so arranged that there was never any mix up or mistake, and he always saw that the men had the best of hotel accommodations. We believe he can be justly proud of the progress of the team under his management.

HARRISON J. WEAVER

Harrison J. Weaver, coach of the squad, is a veteran football man, he having been in the game constantly for the past fifteen years as player and coach. He started football on the high school team at Miamisburg, Ohio, and later played on the team at Ohio Wesleyan in '05, '06, '07 and '08. In 1908 he was chosen All-Ohio tackle, an honor which really means something in that state where the men from dozens of college teams are eligible. For four years he coached a professional team at Miamisburg which was considered the best professional eleven in the state. Later he coached Steele High at Dayton for one season. His work with the A.S.O. squad showed that he was up to the minute in everything pertaining to football and he turned out a machine nothing short of wonderful, considering the difficulties encountered in the shape of a small squad, limited gymnasium facilities, etc. As a player acquainted with all the ins and outs of football he accomplished wonders for the team and his accurate toe twice saved the men from shut outs. His defensive work was the best seen here in years and he is a sure tackler. He will be with the squad another year.

FRED M. HAINES

Fred M. Haines, captain and left half of the 1913 team, closed his third year on the team with an enviable record. As a broken field runner he was without equal on the squad, while his work on running the ends and smashing off tackle was of a class that would easily win him a place on any college team. His speed and sure tackling made him invaluable on defense in backing up the line. In short, Fred is the kind of a player that makes a winning team, and it is with much regret that we think of him leaving. He received his training in football on the high school team at Hutchison, Kansas, playing there for four years. We expect to hear of him coaching there next season, if he goes back to Kansas.

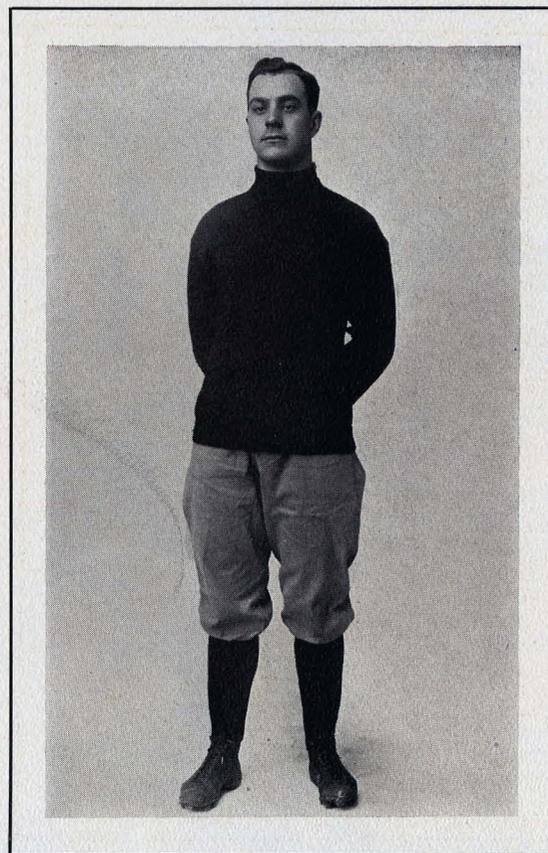

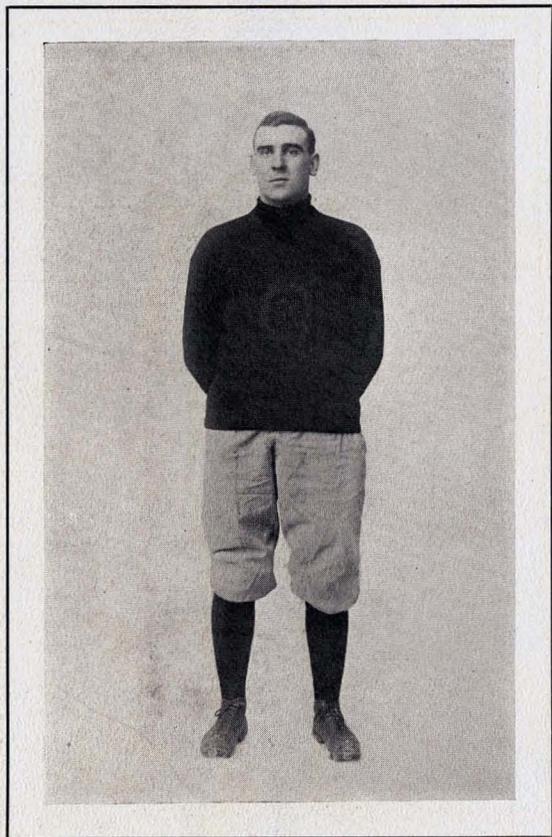

FREDERICK C. OLDS

Freddie used to specialize only in baseball, basketball and track, but since he came to Kirksville he has added football to his repertoire. His work in the other sports gave him a good start and it wasn't long before he developed into one of the school's best ends. Last year he gained quite a reputation receiving forward passes and this year showed some classy work in the same line. In the Missouri game Freddie "almost" got away for a touchdown, in spite of his bad knee, and his gains in that game were the only substantial ones made. He still has another year to play and if we are any judges of human nature we think that Freddie will be out on the gridiron next fall, in spite of his being a senior.

H. G. EDWIN

H. G. Edwin comes from Marinette, Wisconsin, where he played on the high school team in '09, '10 and '11. In 1912 he was assistant coach of the Marinette team and he says they turned out some bunch of huskies. "Hub" decided to try for his old position at left tackle and his work in practice convinced Coach Weaver that here was a real find. He is a wonder on defense, being aggressive in the extreme, and he seldom fails to stop any plays directed toward his spot in the line. He worked consistently all season and could be depended on at any time. This was his first year at the A.S.O. and the rooters are counting on seeing him at his favorite position of left tackle in 1914 and 1915.

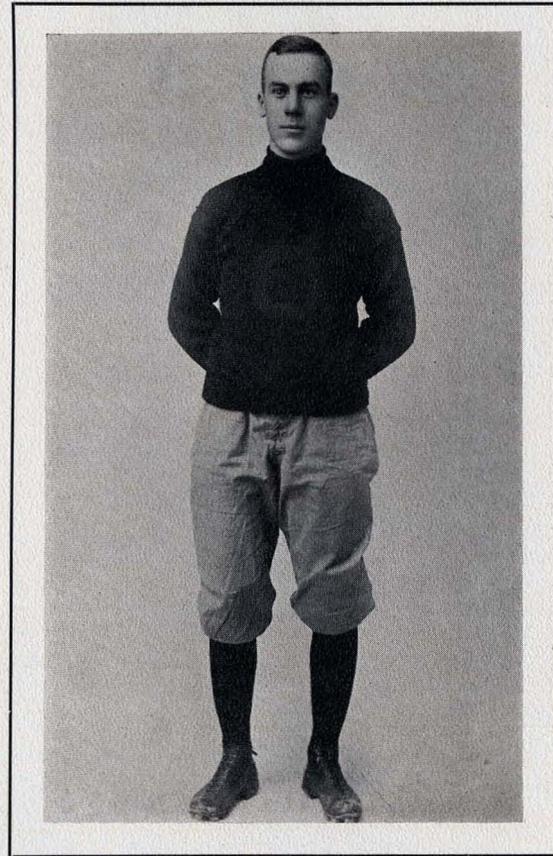

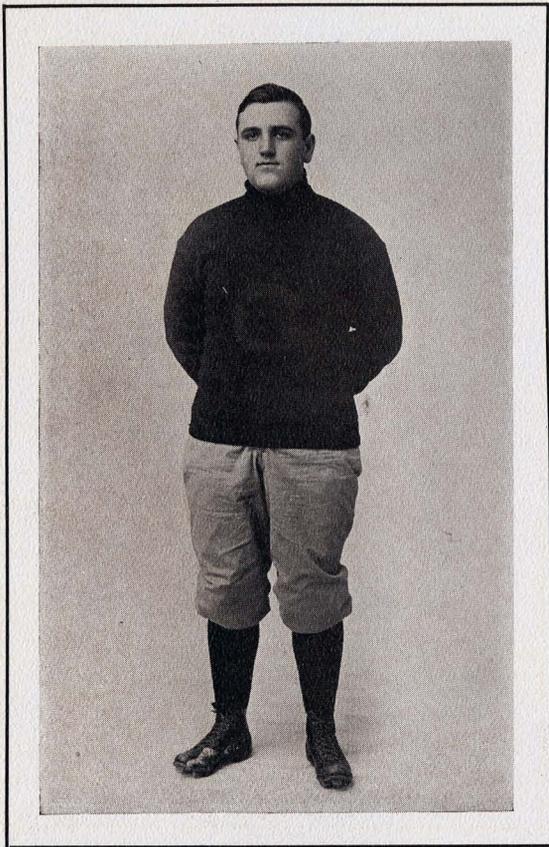

E. J. SUMMERS

E. J. Summers began his foot ball career on the Brownson Hall team at Notre Dame. He is built from the ground up and the various teams we played against last fall found that they might as well send a man up against a stone wall as to try to send him through our left guard. His work on offense was equally as good and he was right there when it came to making holes, blocking, etc. Summers is an authority on training, and he and Erwin are going to write a book on "How Horse-Shoe Increases the Lung Capacity," or "What to Chew to Become a Football Player". Summers enjoys the unique distinction of having played in every minute of football last season, and at his same position of left guard. He has two more years to play.

F. A. DILATUSH

F. A. Dilatush, captain elect of the 1914 team, has played with the A.S.O. the past two seasons. He started football with the Lebanon (Ohio) high school team, playing there in '05, '06, '07, and '08, captaining the '08 team. In 1911 he played center on the freshman team at Ohio State University and while there had the advantage of training under some of the best eastern coaches. "Dilly" is light for the center position but his head work and knowledge of the game enable him to hold his own against heavier opponents. During the past two seasons he has lost but thirty-five minutes of play and he says there is nothing like a run to the shoe factory for wind development. He and Erwin furnish Horse Shoe for the squad.

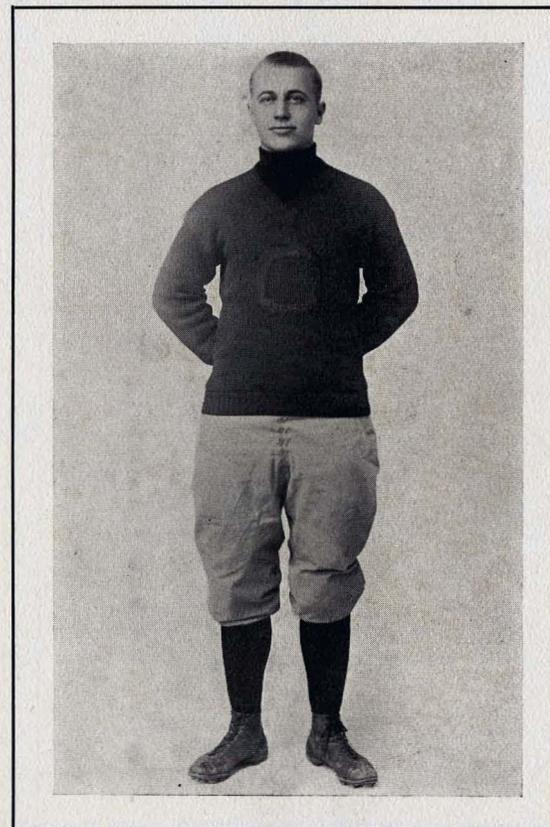

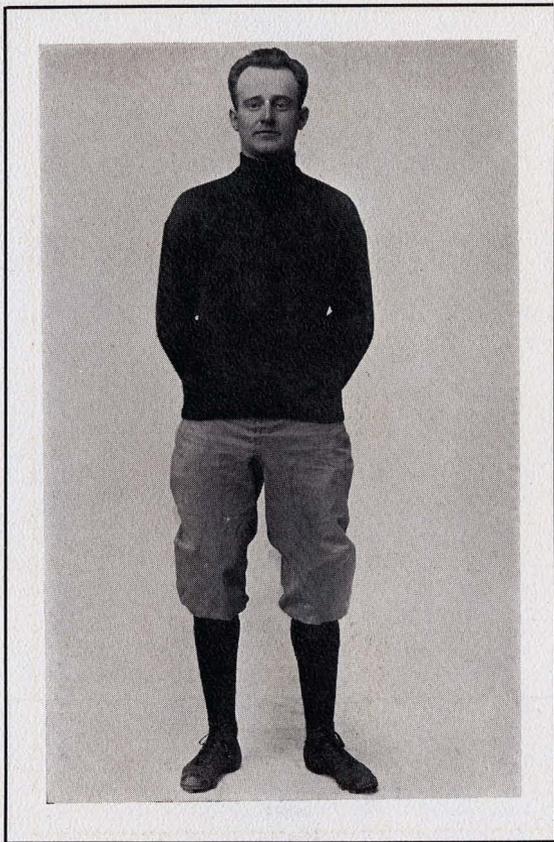

R. A. WILLIAMS

R. A. Williams comes from the state that is noted for its football warriors, namely, Ohio. "Chub" hails from up around Lorain way and played on the Lorain high school team in '08, '09, '10 and '11. The following year he coached a city team in his home town, and 1913 found him playing right guard with the A.S.O. aggregation. He combines a good football build with a maximum of head work and they have to go some to fool Williams. He demonstrated his ability to do the right thing at the right time on several occasions last fall and he seems to have an almost uncanny knack for falling on the ball on fumbles. He says he can't keep out of the game and so we are assured of a right guard for next season.

MORRIS J. ERWIN

The directory calls him Morris J. Erwin, but Morris saves that name for state occasions and usually answers to "Urn". Before he came to Kirksville, Morris played on the high school team at Jerseyville, Illinois, for about seven years, more or less. We never heard much about Jerseyville but we'll bet they had some team if Morris is a fair sample of the men they turned out. He has played a consistent game at right tackle the past two seasons, and if there is a left tackle in the state of whom he is afraid, we have never seen him. A sprained ankle kept Morris out of the last two games and nearly broke his heart, but he says he is going to make up for it by taking P. G. work next fall.

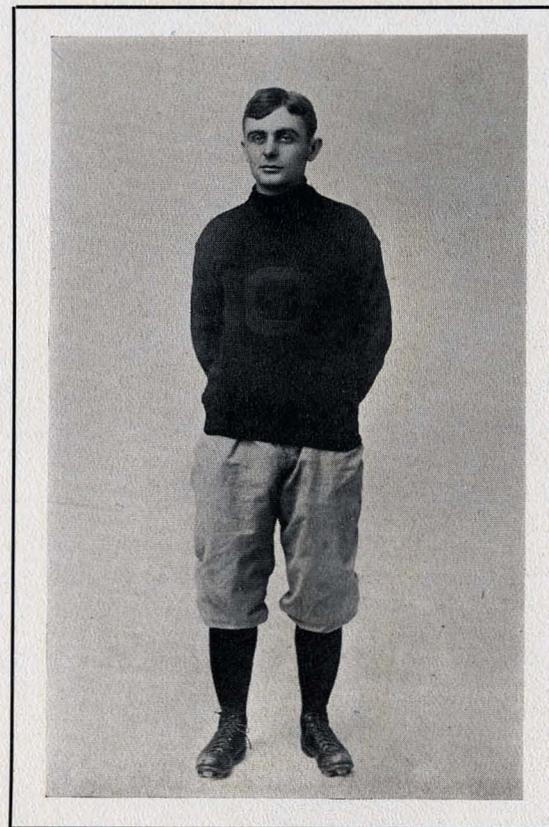

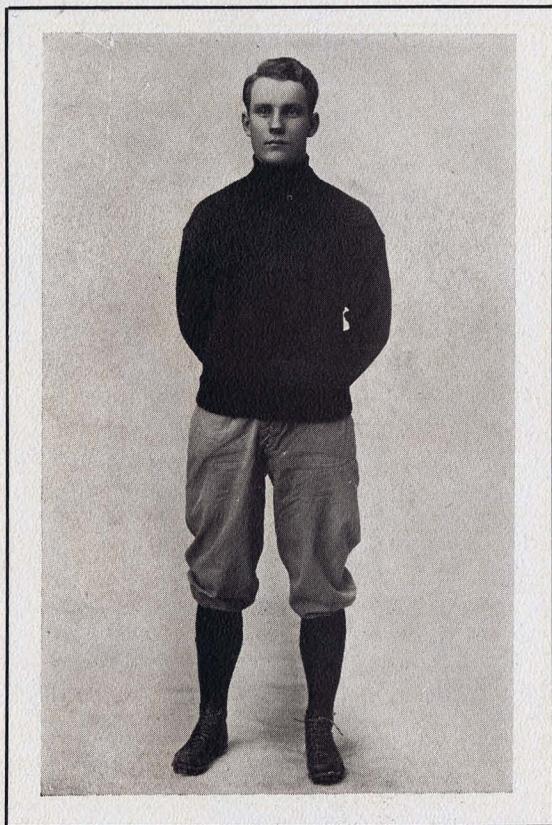

S. L. GROSSMAN

S. L. Grossman comes to Kirksville after playing three years on the Slippery Rock Normal team at Slippery Rock, Pennsylvania. He was a valuable addition to the squad and played well at both guard and tackle. He is almost as big as a house and he usually stops everything that comes his way. Being one of the few men on the team who trains religiously, he is always in the best of shape and is just as fresh at the end of the game as at the first. Late in the season it was found that he possessed wonderful kicking abilities, and his punting in the Missouri game showed that he keeps his head under trying circumstances, not one of his kicks being blocked. He will be with us for two more seasons.

J. P. PATTIN

J. P. Pattin is one of the men on the team who sticks up for Kansas, he having played football in that country since he could walk. He played on the Dixon County High School team one year, two years on the high school team of Topeka, Kansas, and one year on the team at Washburn College. All this training has developed him into a quarter back who uses his head to make gains and save his men. Under his generalship the team runs smoothly and works like a machine, and his sure and hard tackling makes him a man to be feared back of the line. His forward passes are fast and true and he is also good for substantial gains around the ends when ground is needed. A bad hand kept Pat out of the last few games but he says he is coming back next year.

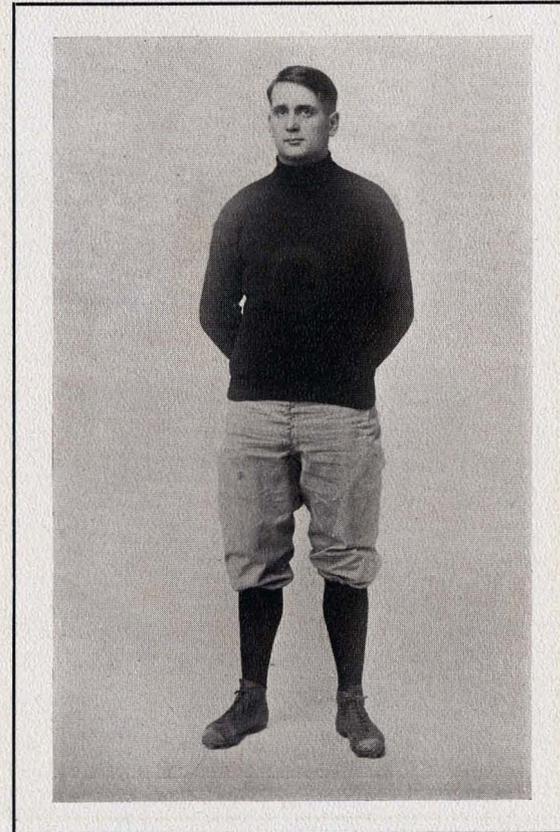

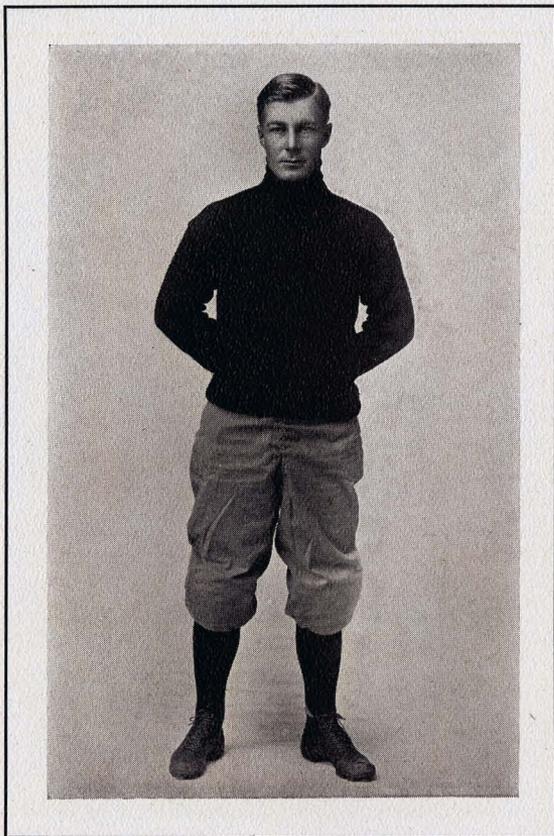

G. K. WILSON

G. K. Wilson is a southern product, his home being in Cleburne, Texas. His first football was played on the high school team of that city and later he played two years at right half on the Southwestern University team. He shows the advantage of university coaching and is one of the headiest men on the team. Although a little light for a back, he makes up for it in speed and inside knowledge of the game. He is especially good on line bucks and seems to have an inborn gift of slipping away from would-be tacklers for a few more yards. As a broken field runner he ranks next to Haines and was undoubtedly of much service to the team as a ground gainer. He will be with us for two more years.

J. H. GARRETSON

J. H. Garretson is one of the men that made Iowa Wesleyan so hard to beat in 1912. He began his football career in a prep school in Iowa, played on the Iowa Wesleyan team in '11 and '12, making his letter both years, and is now finishing up his gridiron work at the A.S.O. "Garry" combines weight and speed with an unlimited bunch of nerve, and that makes a combination that can't be beat. As fullback of the team he was a substantial and consistent ground gainer, always ready to fight for the needed yards. He was the only man from Kirksville who had the honor of being chosen for the All-Missouri collegiate team, and the school is justly proud of him. He will be with the A.S.O. bunch for two more seasons.

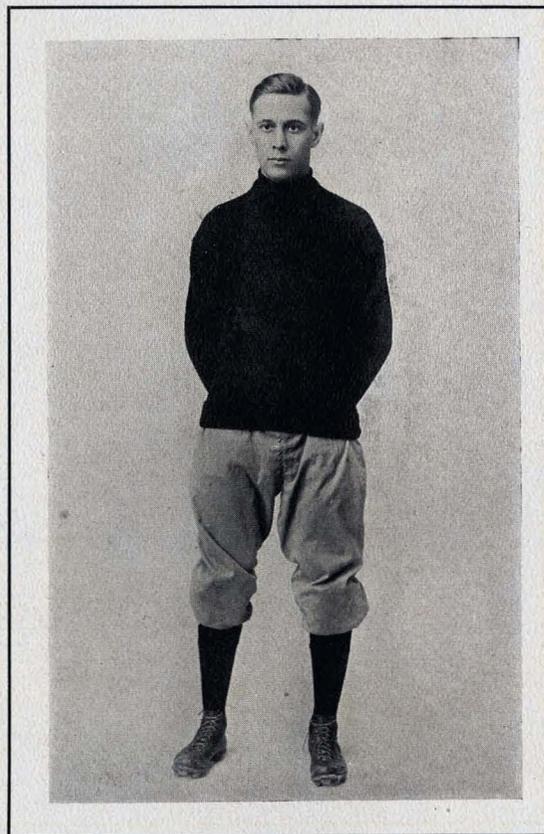

WALTER I. REID

Walter I. Reid is a brother of the famous Tommy Reid who was one of the A.S.O. stars of a few years ago. Walter comes from Columbus, Kansas, where he played three years with the Cherokee County High School and one year with the Baxter Indian team. In 1911 he was chosen left half for the All Star High School Team, picked from southern Missouri and Kansas. His work on the team here was of the highest character and he showed equally well at either half. Of a stocky build with plenty of speed and nerve he makes a good smashing back, and on defense he has proven a good man also. Owing to the short schedule he missed a letter by a few minutes, but was awarded the "Association O".

C. P. HARTH

C. P. Harth comes from Paducah, Kentucky, where he left an enviable record as quarter back on the high school team, making his letter four successive years. He weighs only 124 pounds but its nearly all nerve and brains and it was a real joy to see him sail into big two hundred pounders, downing them neatly and without the loss of a foot. Another of his strong points is running interference and the man with the ball can be sure of a substantial gain if Harth is in front of him. He has a clear head and uses judgment in calling his men. He alternated with Pattin at quarter and lacked a few minutes of playing the time required for a letter, but was awarded the "Association O" for good playing.

A Review of the Football Season

While the records of the season of 1913 show that we lost one more game than in 1912, yet we believe the season as a whole was a long step toward better football. The addition of the games with Christian Brothers College and the "Columbia Missouri Athletics" to the schedule marks a new era in football at the A.S.O., and means that we are gradually raising the standard of our games and breaking into a higher class of ball. Three other games of considerable importance were canceled, William Jewell, Iowa Wesleyan and Tarkio, leaving us with a short schedule, but the weather and bad luck were responsible for these cancelations and we hope to have these teams on our list next year.

As for the improvement in the team: Westminster has beat us for a number of years straight but this year the score was 6 to 6. Wentworth, whom we have tied for the past three years, was beaten on November 17th by a score of 14 to 0. Our two defeats, one by Christian Brothers College and one by the Columbia team, were expected, and the team really deserves much credit for holding the score in these games so low when the odds against them were so heavy. Westminster and Christian Brothers both stand high in Missouri collegiate ball, and the bunch of huskies from Columbia needs no introduction.

The team itself worked better this year than last, being equally good at line smashing and open field work. The back field men demonstrated their ability to skirt the ends for good gains even in the hardest games, and at no time was our opponents' defense so strong but that a forward pass could be worked successfully a few times. On defense the team showed lack of scrimmage practice, and, as was the case in the game with C.B.C., it usually took the men five or ten minutes to settle down to a consistent method of defense. Tackling was our weakest point and was for the most part poor, conclusively proving that a team cannot hope to present a strong defense without hard scrimmage practice. Scrimmage would have been carried on nightly but for the fact that only about twenty men could be induced to report for practice.

Financially the season was a success, due both to the efficient management of Manager Hess and the athletic fee system which was introduced early in the fall. Practically all back bills have been paid and there is still a tidy sum in the treasury with which to start the baseball season. A larger surplus would have remained had not the weather man decided to have rain at all of the games played at home except one.

On account of the game with Christian University being called with two periods yet to play, it was only possible for a player to participate in twenty-two quarters, while a full twelve are necessary to earn a letter. Twelve men were awarded their O's while two others who lacked but a few minutes of the required time were awarded the "Association O" for faithful service.

Viewed from all angles, we believe this season has been one of the most successful in the history of the school, and from the preparations already being made by Manager Fraser for next year, the 1914 season will eclipse the one just completed.

A.S.O. versus Westminster

On October 10th our team went up against the bunch of huskies from Westminster. The game was bitterly contested and victory for either side was uncertain until the final whistle. The field was heavy and a steady downpour of rain fell during most of the first half. Necessarily no open field plays were used, both sides depending mainly on straight line plunging for their gains. The line up follows:

A.S.O.	WESTMINSTER
Summers.....	left guard..... Harrison
Dilatush.....	center..... Vaughan
Reinhart, Williams.....	right guard..... Welch
Erwin, Grossman.....	right tackle..... McAllester
Roddy, Erwin.....	right end..... Singleton
Pattin.....	quarter..... Hord
Wilson, Haines.....	left half..... Bandy
Shenefelt, Reid.....	right half..... Bushman
Garretson, Weaver.....	full back..... Hefner

Touchdowns: Bandy and Wilson. Time of quarters: 15, 12, 15, 12.

A.S.O. versus Christian University

Christian University of Canton, Missouri, was the second school on our schedule. This game was also played on a heavy field and was characterized throughout by continual penalties. The Christian men seemed not to know what off-side meant and were penalized repeatedly. Our team had little difficulty in scoring and before the second period was completed had piled up twenty-eight points. Late in the second quarter one of the Christian men made some remarks about the referee and was ordered from the field; he refused to leave within two minutes and the game was forfeited to the A.S.O. The line up follows:

A.S.O.	CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY
Edwin.....	left tackle..... Thompson
Summers.....	left guard..... Shiplett
Dilatush.....	center..... Reed
Williams.....	right guard..... Snyder
Erwin.....	right tackle..... Blue
Weaver.....	right end..... Odor
Pattin.....	quarter..... Nation
Wilson.....	right half..... Robertson
Garretson.....	full back..... O'Heeron

Touchdowns: Wilson, Garretson, Pattin, Olds. Goals from touchdowns: Weaver 4.

A.S.O versus Kemper

On October 31st the squad played Kemper at Boonville, Missouri. The day was beautiful with the field in perfect condition and quite a little bit of classy open field work was displayed by the A.S.O. boys. Kemper had a game team but they were too light for the local boys and clearly outclassed. During the first three quarters the ball was continually in Kemper territory and we scored six touchdowns and kicked four goals. In the fourth quarter Weaver sent in an almost entirely new team and for a few minutes it looked as if Kemper might score, but the boys took a brace and soon had the ball on the safe end of the field. Garretson's work at full back was particularly worthy of note and the Kemper backs never downed him for a loss. Following is the line up:

A.S.O.		KEMPER
Edwin.....	left tackle.....	Piper
Summers.....	left guard.....	Brandes
Dilatush.....	center.....	Dodson
Williams.....	right guard.....	Adkins
Erwin.....	right tackle.....	Pendleberry
Weaver.....	right end.....	Jackson
Pattin.....	quarter.....	Meredith
Reid.....	left half.....	Stewart
Wilson.....	right half.....	Heller
Garretson.....	full back.....	Earl

Touchdowns: Wilson 3, Reid 2, Garretson 1. Goals from touchdowns; Weaver 4. Time of quarters; 15, 15, 15, 15.

A.S.O. versus Christian Brothers College

On November 8th our bunch of gridiron stars bucked up against the real thing in St. Louis when they played Christian Brothers College of that city. Christian had a heavy and fast team and their back field men seemed impossible to stop, short of the secondary defense. Their line held like a stone wall and our boys were unable to make any substantial and consistent gains on line smashes. Christian got away in the first few minutes of play with a flying start and before the A.S.O. team realized it, had scored two touchdowns. Our boys then settled down to their accustomed form and played them even for the rest of the game, with the exception of the last minute of play, when Ratican slipped through the whole team on a fake forward pass. In the last quarter Edwin made sixty-five yards on an intercepted forward pass and Weaver kicked a beautiful goal from placement, in spite of the high wind. Weaver and Wilson starred for the A.S.O. as ground gainers, while Gallagher, Shea and Ratican were the best bets for Christian. The line up follows:

A.S.O.		C.B.C.
Summers.....	left guard.....	Ohmeyer
Dilatush.....	center.....	Menges
Williams.....	right guard.....	Diver
Erwin.....	right tackle.....	Loeffler
Weaver.....	right end.....	McGinnis
Pattin.....	quarter.....	Gallagher
Wilson.....	right half.....	Ratican
Garretson.....	full back.....	White

Touchdowns: Gallagher, Shea and Ratican. Field goal; Weaver. Goals from touchdowns; Ratican 3. Time of quarters: 15, 15, 15, 15.

A.S.O. versus Wentworth

On the afternoon of November 17th the local warriors sent Wentworth home defeated for the first time in three years. The field was very muddy and fast playing was impossible. Wentworth always has one of the scrappiest and hardest playing teams we buck up against and the boys were looking for no easy time. During the first two periods Wentworth played an entirely defensive game, punting on first down whenever securing the ball. During this time the A.S.O. boys played like demons and succeeded in forcing the ball over Wentworth's goal twice. The third and fourth quarters showed some classy football, Wentworth taking the offense at every opportunity and pulling off some plays that made the side liners open their eyes. No scores were made by either team in these periods, although we were within the fifteen yard line several times. Following is the line up:

A.S.O.		WENTWORTH
Summers.....	left guard.....	Hartzell
Dilatush.....	center.....	Askew
Williams.....	right guard.....	Garrison, Teal
Erwin, Grossman.....	right tackle.....	Clore
Weaver.....	right end.....	Fence, Harvey
Harth.....	quarter.....	Ewing
Haines.....	left half.....	Long
Wilson, Reid.....	right half.....	Walker
Garretson.....	full back.....	Nimmons

Touchdowns: Garretson, Haines. Goals from touchdowns:
Weaver 2. Time of quarters: 15, 15, 15, 15.

A.S.O. versus Columbia Missouri Athletics

Thanksgiving afternoon on Normal Field our bunch of gridiron stars went down to the third defeat in two years at the hands of the fast Columbia bunch. There hadn't been any hope that we would win the game but at the same time such a defeat came pretty hard. The afternoon was perfect, the field was in fine condition and more than two thousand enthusiastic rooters were lined up in the bleachers when the whistle blew. When Columbia first got the ball she proceeded to smash through our line like a house afire and it didn't take very long to see that our boys were bound to go down to a crushing defeat, but they got together better after the first touchdown and all efforts were made to hold our opponents to as low a score as possible and to score a few points on our own side. In the second quarter the stands nearly went wild when by a beautiful forward pass and a few long end runs our team got within striking distance of the Columbia goal. Unable to gain more through the line or around the ends, Weaver dropped back to the thirty-five yard line for a difficult try at goal from placement. The line held and the kick was true, sailing neatly between the bars. In the third quarter our boys again electrified the bleachers by taking a spurt that took them clear to Columbia's five yard line. Here a mistake in signals and an incomplete forward pass, which grounded behind the goal line, lost the ball to the A.S.O. and Columbia scrimmaged on the twenty yard line. Although the score was so one sided, yet the game was interesting clear through and not one of the two thousand rooters left the ground before the final whistle blew. No one was able to foretell just when the A.S.O. team would take a spurt, as time after time they tore off sensational plays for good gains. McWilliams and Moore were undoubtedly the stars for the visitors, although their whole team is in the star class, five of them having been chosen for the All-Missouri Valley team. The A.S.O. boys put up a scrappy game and fought like demons to the very last. Following is the line up:

A.S.O.		COLUMBIA MISSOURI ATHLETICS
Summers.....	left guard.....	Clay
Dilatush.....	center.....	Gallagher

The Class Foot Ball Team

Here's Ho! to the Junior foot-ball team;
That all-star aggregation,
Composed of those whose talents seem
To fit each for his station.

Now first we have the "center-rush";
And who could play it prettier
Than our doughty little champion
Of right—our Mrs. Pettifer.

Next come the guards, and here we have Those warriors, brave, demure;
Those mighty men of words, you know,
Malone and Lockman—sure!

The tackles now we'd call to mind
And sing a verse or so
Of all the merits of the work
Of Gleason and Grisso.

Then too, the ends must have their due,—
And they deserve it quite;

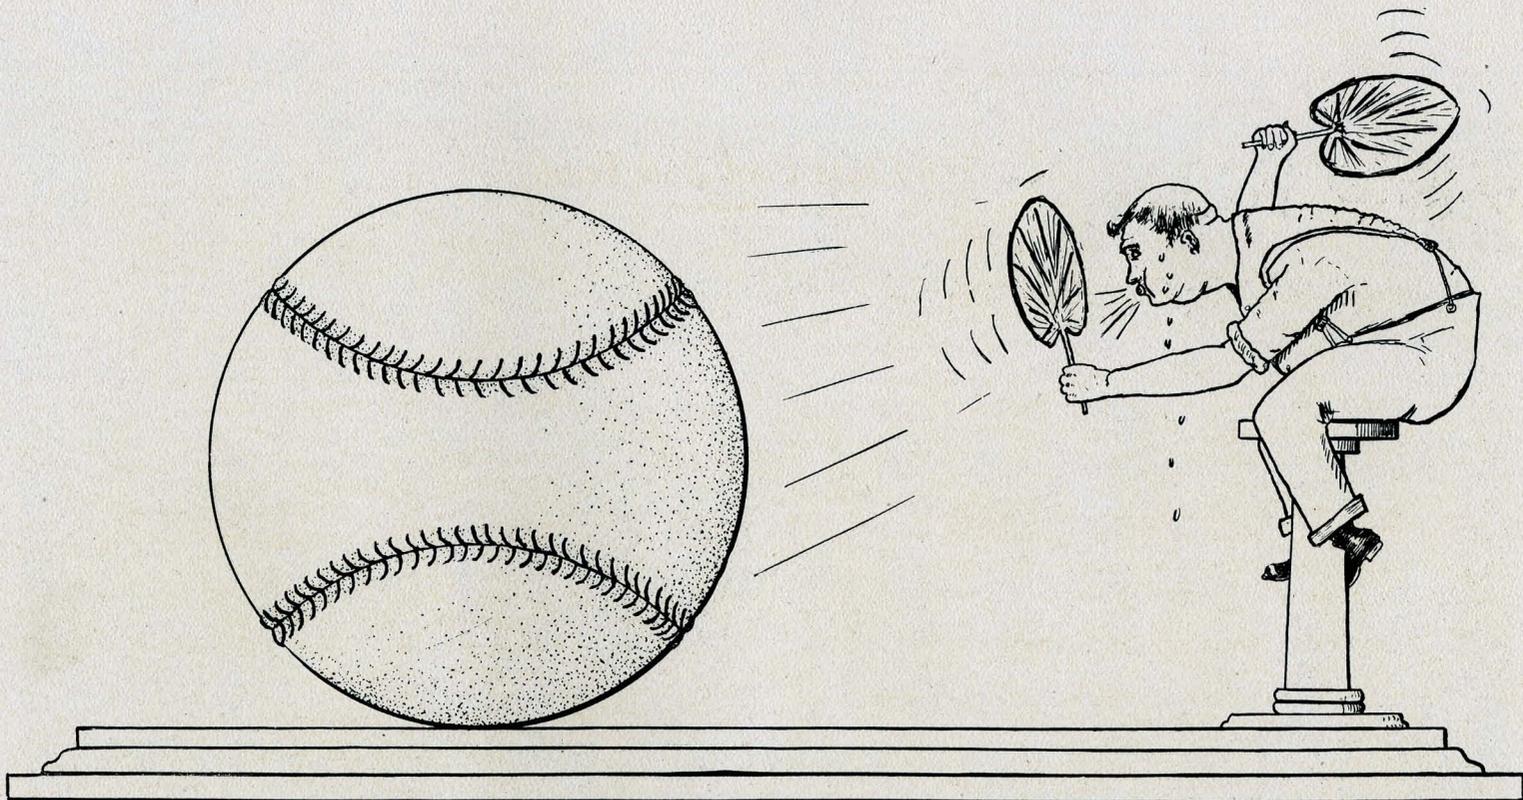

For who has not admired the spunk
Of Roberts and of White?

The half-backs too, have made a place
Within the Halls of Fame;
Miss Bedford right, and Parker left
Have played a mighty game!

The full-back, who is Captain, too,
Must next receive attention;
And here we have Miss Mildred Dye
Who brooks no intervention.

And, last, but in no measure least,
The quarter-back has come
To take his place among the brave—
Our heady Shepardson.

So here's to all, both great and small,—
To those whose genius made 'em
Into the team whose valor brought Defeat to all who played 'em!

JOHNSON.

The 1913 Base Ball Season

The base ball season of 1913 was a success as a whole, and quite an improvement over the previous year, partly because there was much more good material from which to pick a team and partly because such a good schedule had been arranged by Manager Gilcrest. Coach McCleery used his base ball knowledge and training to good advantage in drilling the squad, and he turned out a bunch of players thoroughly proficient in every detail of the game.

A.S.O. versus Westminster

The season started with a trip through the central part of the state on which games were played with Westminster, Kemper and Central. The game with Westminster took place at Fulton on the 13th of April. Although the score was very close, the playing was more or less ragged, especially in the first few innings. Sallander was in the best of form and held the Blue Jays scoreless after the third inning. Errors in the first and third gave Westminster their runs, while we were kept from tying in the ninth by a close decision. The score follows.

	Hits	Runs	Errors
A.S.O.,	3	2	1
Westminster	7	3	3

A.S.O. versus Kemper

The second game of the season was played with Kemper at Boonville, Missouri, on April 14th. The A.S.O. boys romped all over the soldiers and had eleven runs to their credit before the game was over. Shook knocked one into the lake for a home run and the rest of the boys were batting well. Jelks pitched a good game, Kemper making only one hit after the third. The score follows.

A.S.O. versus Central

The last game of the trip was played with Central College at Fayette, Missouri, on April 15th. The Central team was pretty strong, being especially good in batting. The umpire was rather partial and the boys say the score should have been five to three in their favor. The score follows.

A.S.O. versus K.S.N.S.

The first of a series of games with the Kirksville State Normal School was played on Normal Field April 17th. The squad had just returned from a hard trip and the Normal boys were expecting an easy victory, but the men proved to be just rounding into shape. There were a few errors, of course, but as a whole the team worked smoothly. The Normal, on the other hand, played very indifferently, a total of thirteen errors being chalked up against them. About 935 people attended the contest. The score follows.

A.S.O. versus K.S.N.S.

The second game with the Normal School was played on the afternoon of April 22nd. The A.S.O. had little trouble in winning, although this game was much better than the first of the series. The Normalites showed improvement in fielding but could do little with Sallander's curves. Crookshank pitched good ball, allowing only seven hits. Following is the score.

A.S.O.....	35	5	7	4
K.S.N.S.....	31	0	5	6

Struck out: Sallander 12, Crookshank 4. Base on balls: Sallander 2, Crookshank 2. Two base hits: Bailey and Sallander. Time, one hour and fifty minutes.

A.S.O. versus Christian University

The A.S.O. boys ran away with the team from Christian University on the 25th of April, making nine runs to the Preacher's three. Our men played well in the field and batted better than in the previous games. McCleery and Haines were the sluggers of the day, each having a three bagger and three singles to his credit. Sallander pitched good ball and held his opponents safe at all stages of the game. Kinney, the pitcher for the visitors, showed lots of "stuff", and with good support would have made our boys hustle to win. The score follows:

A.S.O. versus K.S.N.S.

Our base ball warriors administered another defeat to the Normal boys on April 30th, coming out with the long end of an eight to one score. The pitching of Jelks and Sallander was largely responsible for the victory, the Teachers getting only two hits. Shook, Gibson and Pattin were right there when a hit was needed for the A.S.O., while McFadden lined out a three bagger for the Normal. The score follows.

A.S.O. versus Carthage College

The A.S.O. boys again demonstrated their ability to play real ball when on May 2nd they treated Carthage College to a complete shut out. Although the score seems to indicate a slow game, yet it was one of the most interesting played on Still Field during the season. Sallander was at his best, allowing only one hit and giving no walks. Twice he found himself in holes that it seemed almost impossible to get out of, but he managed it both times. Gibson and Pattin batted well, while Shook put a hot one through a hole in the west fence for three bases. The score follows.

A.S.O. versus Still College

On May 7th our invincible bunch of swatters crossed bats with the DesMoines osteopaths, and we succeeded in showing them that we do something else down here besides turning out good doctors. The game was one of the closest and most exciting of the season, the outcome being doubtful until the last man was down in the ninth. DesMoines started things moving in the fourth when they scored two runs as the result of a double error on a liner. Our boys came right back with one run in the fourth and two in the sixth. Jelks pitched his usual good game, allowing only five hits. Gibson did himself proud by getting three hits while Shook and Haines each secured two.

A.S.O. versus K.S.N.S.

The last of the series of games with the Normal was played on Normal Field May 12th. The Normal, given a new lease on life by their victory over Westminster, took a sudden spurt and held the score one to one for ten innings. The tide turned in the eleventh, however, and with Sallander on second, McCleery knocked one over the fence for a home run. The feature of the game was McCleery's batting as he made two homers and brought in the only other run which was made. The score by innings follows.

A.S.O.....	000	001	000	02	3-3-4

A.S.O. versus Still College

The A.S.O. boys played their second game with Still College at Des Moines on May 14th. Both teams played good ball and it was nip and tuck until the ninth inning was over. A batting rally started in the ninth by Thompson, followed up by McCleery and Haines, put Thompson and Pattin across the plate in the ninth giving us the game by a two to one score.

A.S.O. versus Christian Brothers College

One of the most interesting and at the same time one of the best games played during the season was the one with C.B.C. on May 17th. The game was scoreless except for the seventh inning when two of Christian's men were hit by pitched balls. With these two men on bases, Tighe singled, and a wild throw to third and a passed ball did all that was necessary to put us on the losing side.

A.S.O. versus Unionville

On the afternoon of May 23rd the A.S.O. boys went down to defeat at the hands of Unionville, a team which is rated as one of the fastest amateur aggregations in the state of Missouri. The contest was close in spite of the fact that the score seems to point otherwise. A.S.O. led until the fourth, when Union-ville evened the score up, and from then on the race was neck to neck until the ninth, when Unionville scored five runs off of one hit, two walks and two errors. Gibson and Haines were the stars in the batting. Jelks gave his first walk of the season in this game.

Base Ball Prospects for the Season 1914

J. P. KIMMEL, Manager

Kemper Military Academy, May 9, at Kirksville.
 Warrensburg Normal, May 15, at Kirksville.
 Warrensburg Normal, May 16, at Kirksville.

The base ball season of 1914 promises to be one of the best in the history of the school. Practically all of the old men are back, and in addition we have some fine material in the freshman class. A big league man who pitched for the Brooklyn Nationals a few years ago entered with the September class and he, together with Jelks and Sallander, should give us a pitching staff unequaled in the state.

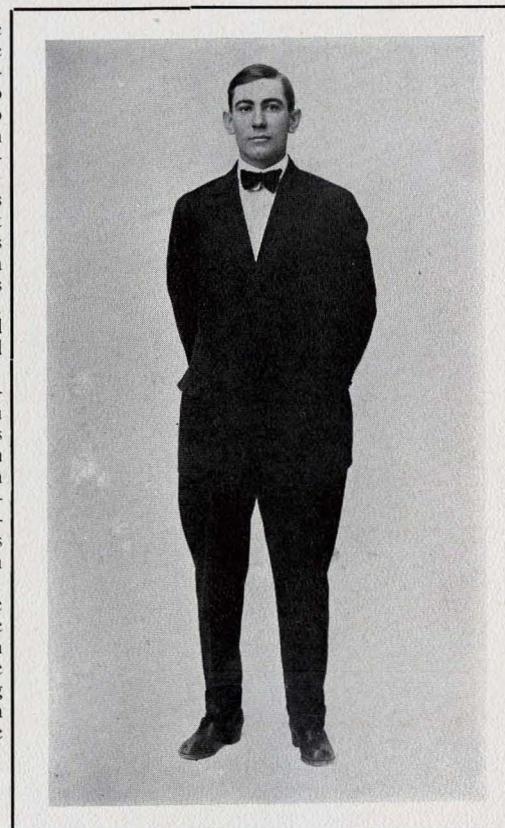

At such an early date the schedule for the season is necessarily far from complete. Contracts for eight games are signed, not including the series of four games with the K.S.N.S., but the dates for these have not been definitely fixed. The schedule at present includes games in Kirksville with Lombard, Oklahoma University, Tarkio, Christian University and Still College. Games abroad will be played with Christian University, Kemper and Still College.

The interclass series, which always excites so much interest among the under graduates, will be conducted on a plan different from heretofore. The three small classes will contest for their championship, after which a team will be picked from these classes to play the freshmen and juniors. The winners will play the seniors, thus deciding the championship of the school. Manager Kimmel believes that such a system will make the contests more equal in regard to material from which to select a team.

Coach C. C. Gibson is impatiently waiting for the weather to moderate so that Varsity practice can be started, and at the first signs of spring will have the men out every night. Gibson has played third base on the team the last two seasons, leading the squad in batting last year. He also knows what to do with the ball when he gets it, and his knowledge of the inside of the game should make him a valuable coach.

For the first time in the history of the school the A.S.O. is represented by a basket ball team. It was organized this fall by a number of men who have had experience on varsity teams before coming to Kirksville and was necessarily an independent organization as no provision is made for basket ball in the constitution of the Athletic Association.

The greatest problem was to find a place to practice. Through the efforts of R. H. Peterson, a member of June '16 class, an agreement was reached with President Kirk for the use of Normal School Gym two nights a week.

About a dozen men turned out from which a speedy and well organized team was selected. Peterson also proved his ability as a manager by arranging an Xmas trip which was successful in every way.

Dr. McCaughan kindly allowed the boys to use his basket ball and with only four nights practice the team left for St. Joseph, Mo., where they played the fast Platts Commercial College team.

The game was a little one sided but the local team showed class by coming back strong in the second half holding their opponents to a 19 to 19 score. The final score being 54 to 28.

Capt. Olds started the season right by making half of the A.S.O. points.

The following night the team invaded Tarkio, Mo., and played the Missouri Meteors to a stand still.

The Tarkio team has played together for five years and has never been defeated on its own floor. The first half ended 5 to 4 in their favor but in the last half the Osteopaths forged ahead and held the lead until the last minute of play when E. Gowdy broke lose with 3 baskets in rapid succession and the game went to Tarkio. Draper played a great game and he did not permit Capt. Pyers to make a single basket.

Much encouraged by their showing in Tarkio the A.S.O. team on New Years eve played Co. E. of Shenandoah, Iowa. This team has held the championship of southern Iowa for the past two years.

It was a rough and tumble game from the start. Peterson was the star of the evening, having five baskets and two free throws to his credit. Score 20 to 27 in favor of Co. E.

The next game of the trip was played with the Sedalia Y.M.C.A. This proved to be the best game of the trip. It was nip and tuck from start to finish. Final score 40 to 42 in favor of Kirksville. Capt. Olds won applause many times by making goals from all parts of the floor. He succeeded in caging the ball twelve times during the game. Wilson held his opponent to one lone basket. Peterson turned his ankle and was forced to leave the game which weakened the team greatly.

The following night the A.S.O. team met their Waterloo at Fayette at the hands of the Athletic Club. The Kirksville team was handicapped by the great length of the floor which was at least twice as long as any they had played on. They were also forced to play Collegiate rules which allow the dribble and this was their undoing. The final score was 51 to 17.

The A.S.O. team is to be complimented on their showing. They played on foreign floors with old experienced teams and were forced to accept any official the local team might select.

The A.S.O. line up was as follows:

	Individual Points
Engler, R. F.
Olds, L. F. Capt.	Capt. Olds.....56
Peterson, C.	Engler.....27
Wilson, R. G.	Peterson.....24
Jelks, L. G.	Draper.....10
Draper, F. & G.	Jelks.....2

On February 20th our boys went to Quincy, Illinois and played the Knights of Columbus team and rambled back to the Hotel Quincy after the conflict with the Kay See's scalps hanging at their belts. Score 44 to 28. Our boys got off with a flying start and before the Knights had recovered from their temporary bewilderment our boys had chased three baskets across the score sheet.

Then the Knights woke up to the fact that they were up against a real basketball team and settled down to a gruelling contest.

Score for the first half was 22 to 6 in favor of the Osteopaths, but in the second half the Knights took a brace and held the visitors to an even break.

It is a hard proposition to pick any individual star for this game but both Captain Olds and Skene made baskets shooting machines of themselves and went into action like regular fiends.

The boys then went on to Decatur, Illinois, and played the Y.M.C.A., team on February 21st. The Decatur boys are the Champions of the Y.M.C.A.'s in the state of Illinois, and have played together for four years and have not lost a game.

Our boys were defeated in one of the hardest fought games of the season, by a score of 28 to 27. Skene was badly handicapped by a sprained ankle but succeeded in getting six field goals and three throws from the foul line. Captain Olds played his usual fast and consistent game.

Field goals Osteopaths; Skene 6, Olds 4, Engler 2.

Decatur, Gardner 3, Barnhart 3, Ott 6.

From Fouls, Skene 3, Gardner 4.

This ended our basket-ball season and we are glad to know that from now on basket-ball is to be one of our major sports.

Willie Engler played a consistent game; he is fast and in the game all the time. Olds proved himself worthy of the captaincy. He is an excellent shot and showed good head work in calling the A.S.O. plays. He is fast on his feet and it takes a mighty good guard to stick anywhere near him.

Pete Peterson showed his ability as player as well as manager. Few centers get the jump on "Pete". "Keener" Wilson is a mighty good guard and he sticks so close to his man that his opponent is lucky if he ever gets a basket. Jelks is very clever in passing the ball and is a hard worker. "Grabby" Draper is a heady and consistent player and never fails to grab anything that comes his way.

The A.S.O. Band

The Band is a recognized and valuable adjunct to all school activities. It was organized over seven years ago, and with the passing of the years has widened its scope and augmented its repertoire until it has become an organization of which every A.S.O. student is justly proud. Until this present year the band has enjoyed the loyal support and enthusiastic leadership of Dr. Deason, whose presence and assistance has been greatly missed by the boys. However, Anderson has ably stepped into the leader's place, and under his tutelage the band has developed its ability rapidly and has rounded out into an organization which is the best ever. No school organization deserves more support from the student body at large than does the band, for it BOOSTS always. A good band, a good school spirit. The former assures the latter. It stimulates interest, creates enthusiasm and makes for Victory!

A Gentleman

If your name appears within this list of "roasters," take it as a gentleman. It is intended for those who have come under the lime-light during the year to be classed accordingly, and if the shoe fits, wear it with a smile; for within these lines we mean to enlighten the student body as to the real state of affairs—so take it in a kindly manner.

Theta Psi

Here we are! And we smoke cigarettes too. But hush, don't tell anybody why. (At home on the outskirts of the city we have to do something to obscure the smoke from the shoe factory, so we all have learned how to smoke. It was difficult for some of the freshmen at first but by imitation of the upper classmen they have gradually acquired the habit.)

And before you go you must see our cold storage department. Here on a double decker you may freeze your toes any night. If you do not happen to be sleepy there is a continual vaudeville performance and story telling contest. In fact there is a standing prize for the one who can cause the most disturbance during either study or sleep hours.

The distinguishing feature of our organization which is thoroughly drilled into every new man, is that he must be popular with the ladies, that he must be a shining star in the society firmament, and that in order to do this he must win fame in the A.S.O. by being elected to those positions of honor which do not require any work. This proves conclusively that he is a "Gentleman."

One particular feature must not be overlooked, we are so cosmopolitan that we agree on any and all issues which arise, and consequently have a very brotherly feeling toward one another.

Iota Tau Sigma

This well groomed bunch of fellows is known commonly as the Smart Set. All of them are proficient in the art of dressing, in fact one of them claims to set the style for the rest of the school to follow. So dominant are their aspirations to appear well in public that with them Osteopathy is only a secondary feature of their life here.

Their proximity to the institution allows them to skip over to the frat house during periods to return five or fifteen minutes later after a "game". This procedure also gives them the added distinction of not having to associate with the common rabble during recreation minutes.

The "Itty" boys pride themselves on their progressiveness, as was shown by the rapid compensatory development from a crippled body last year to a normal apparently healthy structure this year. Their progressiveness does not extend to following where others set the lead however. They must be at the front or not there at all. This perhaps explains why they did not deem it fit to let their class spirit exhibit itself in united support of the year book.

Those who are considered for membership should realize that this is the "only" national osteopathic fraternity, and hence the members are above their fellow mortals. And all the faculty belong to the "Yits," you mustn't forget that.

"The Fortune Hunter" as a stage production was really excellent when you consider that all those who participated were really considered professional, in which fact the real joke prevails.

Atlas Club

This is not a fraternity but it is just as good as one. They may not have the Greek letter qualifications but that is all they lack (?). House cleaning helped them attain a far greater degree of perfectness they say, but we doubt this for as with all house cleanings, they did not sweep clean enough. Since the splinter was shaved off they have been on the war path trying to attract feminine attention by their numerous dances and festivities.

It is well to note that they are prone to be progressive, as they have spread their wings and acquired an addition in the Chicago College. In fact they wish us to state to the prospective members that they are becoming national and expect soon to be so recognized in Baird's college manual.

One far-sighted plan of these boys is that they take in enough members to allow them to acquire any position in school provided it is elective. They always flock out to the elections. The large roll makes it almost impossible for each fellow to become acquainted with his brothers and very often we hear of one member trying to rush one who is already wearing the same pin.

Their one ambition is to obtain all the laboratory positions at school.

Alpha Tau Sigma

This organization is actually a full registered fraternity, as they rushed the freshmen with a vim that surpassed all others, and as a result have acquired members of college fame. They claim to be the most promising frat. Their list is composed of members who have Phi Beta Kappa together with other national honorary degrees.

They are all promising material for wonderful Osteopaths when the time arrives for their debut. We feel they will be so technical that the laity will consider them little short of geniuses and for this reason we predict wonderful futures.

Any student wishing to consider a real frat, should join for benefits received, as it is stated they only know what osteopathy really is.

Phi Omicron Gamma

If there is any trade or field of endeavor you desire to become proficient in we would advise you by all means to call at 804 West Pierce. There you will find men proficient in dancing (one professor and his corps of assistants): in automobile repairing, newspaper reporting, music teaching with the orchestra, in conducting general department stores, in assisting in the laboratories, You only have to name the sport in which you desire athletic instruction and the man, a real professional; will be at your side in a moment. They claim they may even acquire the A.S.O. Hospital as they have a promising surgeon who expects to surpass Dr. George. Don't ask these boys if you can join them unless you can do something, even though it be only strenuous fussing.

They believe in being located near the school even tho they have to rent a house that freezes them out, so that they have to go calling in the evening in order to keep warm.

They all have avowed their intention, however, of entering the mission field and hence feel it necessary to attend church every Sunday. We think the vaudeville stage would be more suitable for them, as they already have an orchestra, a dancing instructor and many notable performers, clog dancers, actors and singers.

Chi Delta

Tho hardly an embryo, they are organized and that is all that constitutes an existence in the A.S.O. This is a real fraternity too, and the artistic lettering on the front door of their house tells this in unmistakeable language. But how did they acquire such a large fraternity roll? Oh, everybody is just crazy for an opportunity to wear their artistic badge.

We are not able to predict what they will develop into, but it is safe to say they will feel or do feel that they are at least a Greek letter frat and when they return home in the summer they can expand their chests and proudly state: "I am a frat man." But will they tell how much it cost them to be able to say these few words?

Acacia Club

Here indeed we have something to consider; if you have not realized the fact you will indeed do so, for they claim to be the most exclusive set ever instituted in the A.S.O.

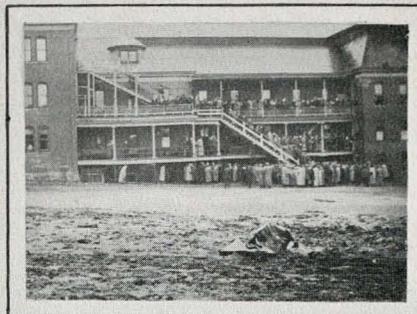

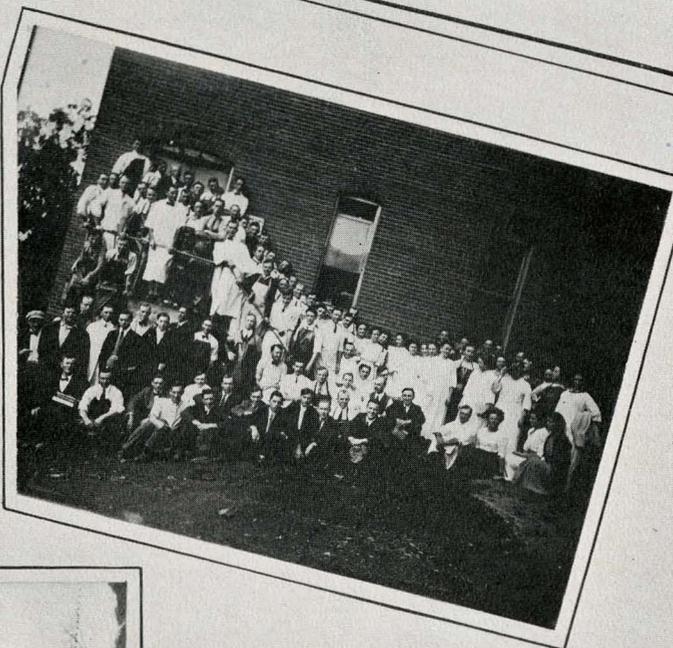

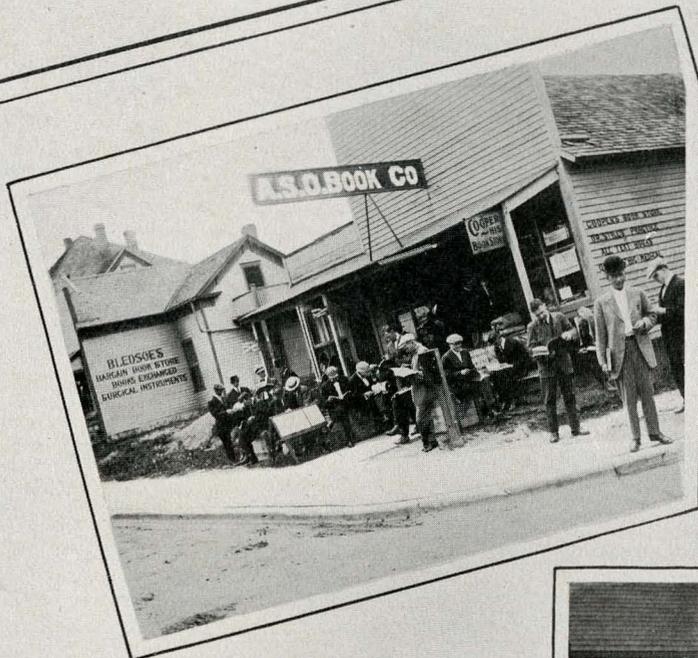

It will indeed be very hard for anyone to conceive all that is constituted in the name Acacia, but disregarding its secrecy you are aware of the fact that they are all doubly bound together, since they must all be fraternal members before they can be considered for membership. This indeed is quite a feature, so they say, still not all are asked to join this organization who are eligible. This feature is indeed hard to explain.

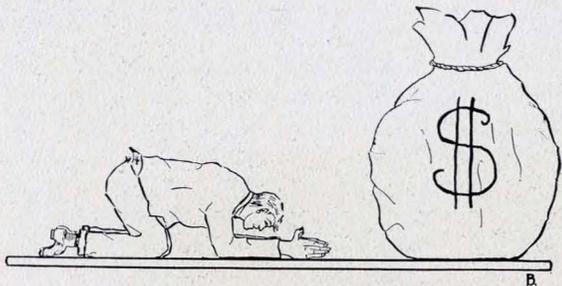

Their ages average at least 50 years, so we may all feel sure that they are organized for business, even tho many of their members claim clubs and fraternities are the worst thing possible for one to belong to, still we can see that their views and actions do not coincide.

Mr. Brott's Prayer.

O Thou Shining Dollar,
Be with us in all thy fractional parts,
Thy shining face is a panacea for all ills,
And with thee all sins are possible."

MR. E. C. BROTT, D.C., i.e. Doctor of Coin,

Mr. Brott is a strikingly peculiar man of business in view of the fact that he is not particular when you pay your tuition or if you never pay you matriculation fee, for there are hundreds who have never been even approached on the subject. Still it is a fact that he has a paying institution; we wonder if he is not meeting the fees himself that are due from the students.

Those that have ever met Mr. Brott know that he has the most congenial smile awaiting you whenever you have any business to do with him and he always is so glad to accommodate you.

The only real disqualifying feature about him is his remarkable eagerness to tell you all he knows both about his A.S.O., and his hunting trips and the long list of game he says he bagged; for Mr. Brott is some sportsman.

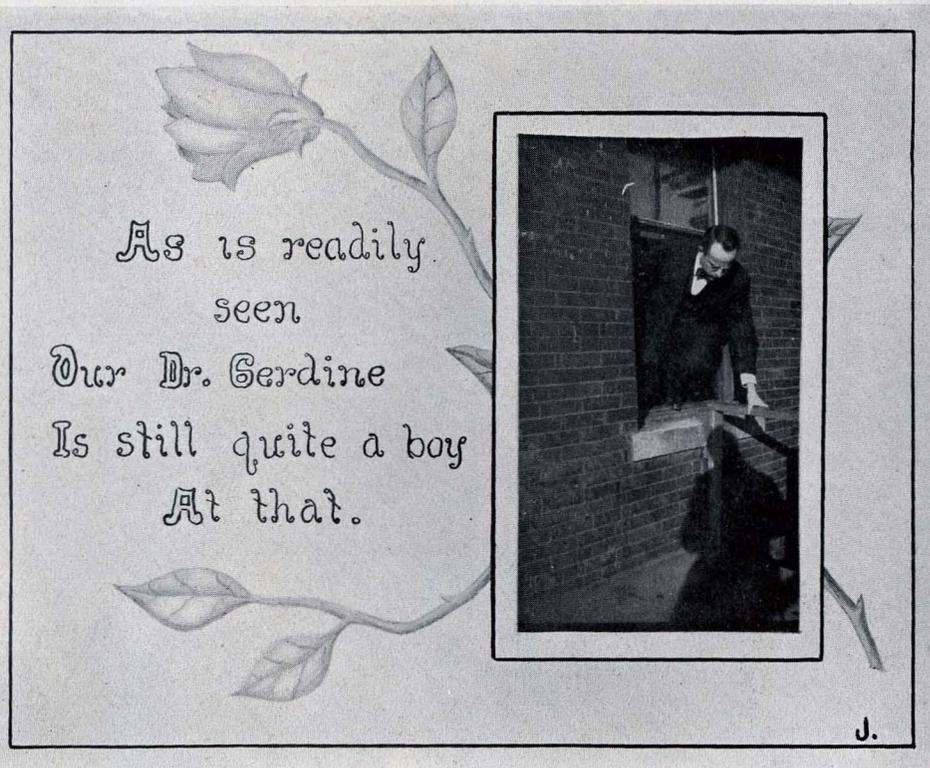

DR. L. VON H. GERDINE, D.O., M.D., B.S.

The honorable "Von" Gerdine is the most aristocratic personage that has ever remained in Kirksville for any length of time and he wants us all to realize this fact indeed by carrying his walking stick and wearing that all important professional air.

Dr. Von is even called away by Osteopathic Associations to inform them on all nervous diseases; what they can readily read in any text book that has been out of print for the past twenty years.

A hobby that "Dr. Von" has acquired lately is his method of personally asking lady visitors to leave the classroom; this however is a home rule of his own and which by the way will acquire new students for the A.S.O. as these visitors will inform the public how very strict we are.

Shakespearian Misfits

Scene: Osteopathic Apartment of Heaven.

Good people all, I'll introduce a show
Done by a troupe that each of you should know.
I'm Billy Shakespeare, right from heaven's portals
And these with me are some of my immortals.

The first I'll introduce is George D. Scott,
Our famous scientist who falters not;
And Alice Harrington, renowned, of nursing fame—
Whom Dr. Gerdine whitewashed at her game.
And "Biddy" Farren, winsome, loving lass,
Who in Love's school outdistanced all the class.
Then too, there's Glover, fair and passing swell,
Renowned in love,—in war,—an e'er-do-well.
Ho! Pauls, stand forth and show thy handsome face,
For people thought you'd see the other place!
Mark Tunnell here, the same knight as of yore,
His heavenly jokes set all the saints a-roar.
Barrett, in shining crown, walks down the golden streets,
"Hail fellow, well met", with every shade he meets.
"John" Coles not here, for reasons sad to tell—
Nay, mark you here that Coles went down to (the lower class),
He's married now, 'tis rumored,—sure no sin!
Look, Spitler's here—yes, Spitler, he got in!
Through Heaven's gates they passed him on his face
Although I made him for the other place.
He'd about sent Schulz to thin and outer space
When the judges called his bluff—he lost his case;
And Syler here, and Whitmore, pleadingly, in concert,
Made of him a poor and humble convert!
Winkleman here, as tired of his pipe as ever,
He's mashed on Lila Broadhurst! Well, I never

In all my scheming thought of such a match—
But one can't tell who'll catch a nice old "batch"!
Alice Wolfe, your rosy face present to view,
For sure these gentlemen will take to you.
Kane and Cushing Mayo, come you here—
Good friends, they are a faithful, loving pair;
She has a spouse with lots of grit and sand,
An ornament to her o'ermatching even—Holland!
Coca-cola Burnham, who left the stage insane—
The "damned spot" out, tonight returns again.
Hattie McClain, the fair prize in my raffle
Whose wit and knowledge solve all things that baffle.
Rifenbark sings bass in the angel choir
And is New Jerusalem's celestial high-flyer.
Knowlton's a horse in the 2:30 class
His fame is spreading wider
'Tis told, so you won't take him for B. Snyder.
Yes, Chappell still plays cards, as sitting by the hearth,
It is his sole amusement, as was it on the earth.
Alice Wills will come tomorrow and play the latest air,
She's now calling on the family to settle matters there.
Giltner stayed on earth, declined the invitation,
He's living at the "Frat house" contented with its ration—
And Healy treats St. Peter, he does the job just so,—
He practiced on "Doc" Bigsby, a Prof. in A.S.O.
Yes, Pengra's in the corner, a-sorting out the bugs,
And Alex bought his microscope, 'tis hid beneath those rugs!
Now, readers,—all who scan these lines,
The rhyming disbelieven;
Just measure with a Yard-Stick,
The lines are almost EVEN.

C. M. F.

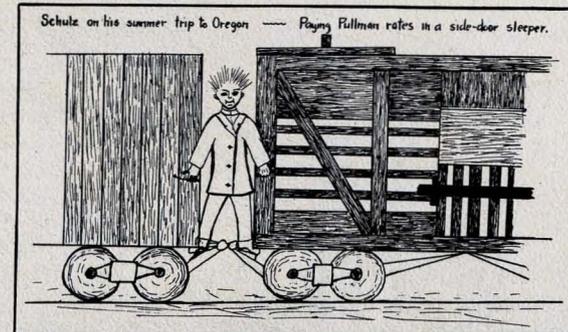

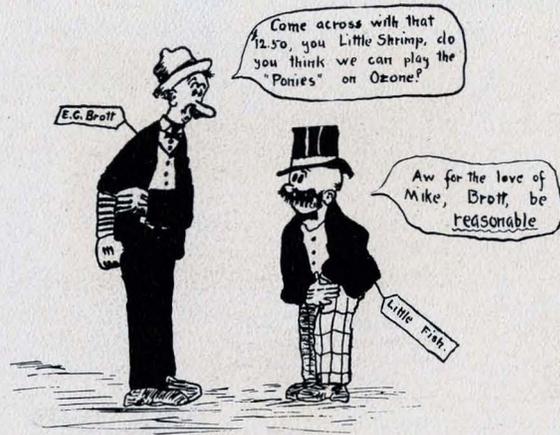

The commentator on the notable event pictured in this cartoon is at a loss how best to draw a moral from it or create a laugh from it. He wishes to assure you in a most emphatic manner that by no means is it a laughable matter. On reflection a few quotations, more or less apropos to the circumstances, come to mind:

"Little things are worth while."
 "Pay attention to the details."
 "A babe in a house is a well-spring of pleasure."
 "Better late than never."
 "Everything comes to him who waits."
 "The anticipation is richer than the realization."
 "A little child shall lead them."
 "Good things never come singly."
 "The child is father of the man."

"O child! O new-born denizen
 Of life's great city! On thy head
 The glory of the morn is shed
 Like a celestial benison!
 Here at the portal thou dost stand,
 And with thy little hand
 Thou openest the mysterious gate
 Into the future's undiscovered land."

"Germany" contracted the fever—the Wanderlust—last summer and after investigating the tourist rates, launched on an ultra-respectable journey. Perhaps he was hunting a suitable place to locate when the D. O. is flopped onto the caudal extremity of his name. Perhaps he employed this means of building up his neuropathic constitution. Perhaps he traveled thus extravagantly hoping to attract the attention of a Countess or "sich-like." Perhaps—well, you had better ask him about it.

That Malone is not Irish.
That Hoover doesn't like the women.
That Miss Dye is a light-weight.
That Elkins is not a dude.

Said she:—“Boiled tongue, stewed kidneys, fried liver.”
Said he:—“Hang your symptoms; bring me something to eat.”

SOME ANNOYING THINGS IN THE A.S.O.
(From the diary of a kicker)

- Spitting—smoking in halls.
- Lack of ventilation.
- Hard seats.
- Lack of pure water.
- Breaking up school.
- Students coming in late.
- Sitting beside some one who talks all during lecture.
- The mob spirit—"Fight, fight, let's go."
- Passing stories around the class room.
- Cribbing on examination day.
- Untidy appearance.
- Blue shirts that smell of the barn.
- Incorrect pronunciation by professors.
- Lack of equipment generally, congested hallways and stairs.
- Too few on Faculty.

- No lecture course in connection with dissection.
- Insufficient number of manip classes.
- Having to wait at the Wabash crossing for the railroad cars to pass.
- Coal teams making a noise during lecture in Chemistry Hall.
- Mud on sidewalks.

ONE ON YOU

Landlady: "Mr. Doron and Mr. Goodpasture."

WANT AD COLUMN

- A fellow—Miss Griggs.
- To grow—Frances Graves.
- A cure for laughing—"Gibby."
- To lengthen the foot ball season—Fred Olds.
- A reliable hair restorer—Parker.
- A stand in with the Faculty—"Chemistry" Turner.
- More spare time for recreation—"Micky" Malone.
- The man I lost or another as well trained—Miss Bruner.

TWO TRAGEDIES

Hokus:—"I've been most unfortunate today."

Pokus:—"How so?"

Hokus:—"I saw a piece of bread and jam in the road and poked it with my walking stick. A minute later I was arrested for disturbing the peace."

Pokus:—"Really! What hard luck! A friend of mine had a very similar experience the other day. He saw a bad penny lying in the road and walked past it. Soon afterwards he was arrested for passing bad money."

LOVE

Mr. Elkins:—"Love is a pathological condition caused by a fermentation of the molecules. It causes a febrile condition commencing with a fever and ending with a yawn."

Dr. Henry:—"Two fool things after each other."

Mrs. Wyatt and Mrs. Kessler:—"The best thing in the world."

Miss Boyd:—"My especial antipathy."

Harry W. Thomas:—"The thing I long have sought."

Mr. Hoover:—"Love does not establish immunity through one attack."

Miss Griggs:—"Is the realization as great as the anticipation?"

WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND

On his first visit to Chemistry Hall.

When the freshmen get out their shears.

When a freshman is hunting a class room.

On the first call to the hospital.

When the freshmen witness their first operation.

OVERHEARD IN A FRESHMAN CLASS MEETING

First Verdant One: Mr. President, I move that we take Dr. Hollis into our class as an honorary member and invite him to all class affairs.

The motion was duly seconded.

Remarks: (by deep thinker) Would it not be showing partiality and make the other professors feel badly?

The cows are in the meadow
The sheep are in the grass
But all the simple little geese
Are in the freshman class.

Freshman—Irresponsible.

Juniors—Irresistible.

Seniors—Irreproachable.

GET A GRIN

If your prospect isn't sunny,
If you're nearly out of money,
If it's bread without the honey,
Get a grin!

If your sky is rather cloudy,
Don't begin to act the rowdy,
Straighten up and give a "Howdy,"
Get a grin!

If your days look dark and dreary,
Don't give up and sit down weary!
Wipe your eyes out! Don't look teary!
Get a grin!

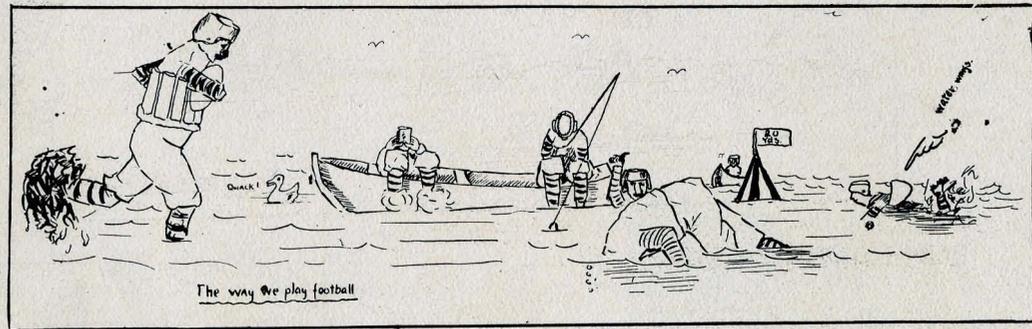

SMART

"Are you not afraid of catching cold a night like this?" said an old gentleman to a newspaper boy on a bitterly cold evening.
 "No sir," said the boy, "selling papers keeps up the circulation."

PRETTY HARD TO BELIEVE

The automobile was a thing unheard of to a mountaineer in one community, and he was very much astonished one day when he saw one go by without any visible means of locomotion. His eyes bulged, however, when a motorcycle followed closely in its wake and disappeared like a flash around a bend in the road.

"Gee whiz!" he said, turning to his son, "who'd supposed that thing had a colt?"

WHAT WAS THE MATTER WITH MOSES?

"Miss Jane, did Moses have the same after-dinner complaint like my papa has got?" asked Percy of his governess.
 "Gracious me! whatever do you mean, my dear?"
 "Well, it says here that the Lord gave Moses two tablets."

MEAGRE DIVIDENDS

The lad was sent to college,
 And now Dad cries "Alack!"
 He spent a thousand dollars
 And got a quarter-back.

IT NEARLY KILLED HIM

"Medicine won't help you any," the doctor told his patient. "What you need is a complete change of living. Get away to some quiet country place for a month. Go to bed early, eat more roast beef, drink plenty of good rich milk and smoke just one cigar a day."

A month later the patient walked into the doctor's office. He looked like a new man, and the doctor told him so.

"Yes, doctor, your advice certainly did the business. I went to bed early and did all the other things you told me. But say, doctor, that one cigar a day almost killed me at first, it's no joke starting in to smoke at my time of life."

DO YOU SEE THE JOKE?

One of the internes in a large city hospital had a system of his own by which he had made marks on the card of admission used in the hospital. It was his custom to abbreviate the names of the malady with which the patient was afflicted after the first diagnosis had been made. Thus typhoid fever would be marked "ty" while appendicitis would appear on the entrance card as "ap."

One day a new member of the medical staff chanced to look over some of the cards, and as he did not know anything about the interne's original method of indicating maladies on the entrance cards, he said to him—"What do the rather curious abbreviations mean on the entrance cards?" "Oh, that is just my way of stating what is the matter with the patient. It saves a little time to abbreviate in this way." "But I do not understand what all of them mean. Now, what on earth does this card with a G. O. K. on it mean?" "Oh, that? Well, sometimes it happens that the first hurried diagnosis does not reveal the trouble, and when that happens I just put it down as G.O.K. which means God Only Knows."

Jayson: Say, doctor, did you preserve my appendix in alcohol?

Doctor: No. Plain whiskey. That's what it has been more used to.

HER WEAK END

A certain osteopath was treating a young woman who had very weak ankles and wrists.

As she lived in a town quite a distance from his own city, he was forced to leave the city on Saturday of each week and go to the town in which the young woman lived, give her the treatment Sunday and return to his office on Monday.

A friend once asked the osteopath how he had arranged to give the young woman the treatment for her ankles and wrists when she lived at such a distance and the osteopath replied: "Oh, I go out and treat her week-ends."

IF A COW WAS WALKING DOWN THE LANE RING-ING HER BELL—WOULD THE MILLER
BUIL-DING

Miller Building, a refuge for Mankind including A.S.O.
Students.

Have Ye not heard of the Miller Bldg. This apartment is located just north of the Post Office. On the third floor of this fetal remnant there live students who say that they go to the A.S.O. to study Osteopathy. Some may contradict this statement but let it not be known to any member of said building because each member hails from the swamps and deserts of Kirksville.

Each member of the association for the uplift of mankind in said building is fishing in the pond of life for himself.

Kassmir, the Dancing Kid who comes from the Smoky City (Pittsburgh, Pa.) is noted for making stogie juice and teaches dancing for a living. Katz is always broke and studies when everybody is having a sociable time.

Here comes Tome, known as Slivers and Babe, our noted Chinaman who does all the cooking for room 34. Menu: Beans for Breakfast, Beans for Dinner, Beans for Supper. Slivers trade is clean and he runs a laundry wagon. No tickee no washee.

Next on the program is Ross Edwards (Babe), our noted Hash slinger for the College Inn, who works at night and sleeps during classes. When Eating "Babe" always breaks a cup while trying to swallow the saucer.

Ladies and Gentlemen, the next specimen on the program will be our noted dealer in Niggers, A. J. Badgett, who believes niggers should not be dissected but should be chopped up. Gussey owns a moonshine still in Tennessee and uses it every once in a while when things go dry.

If anybody wants rabbits or quail, call on Messrs. Pollock and Symmones, who can furnish these rare insects inside of thirty days.

"Bo" Pollock is a shark at State Board and attends quiz classes regular, (when not in a sociable game of——?).

Dick Symmones can boast of hitting the Bulls Eye but can not hit the eyes of any young Normal Student.

Dickson is the fellow who helps Prof. Kimmel when not in need. Dudley does the tango in his sleep and performs operations in curing the tango hip.

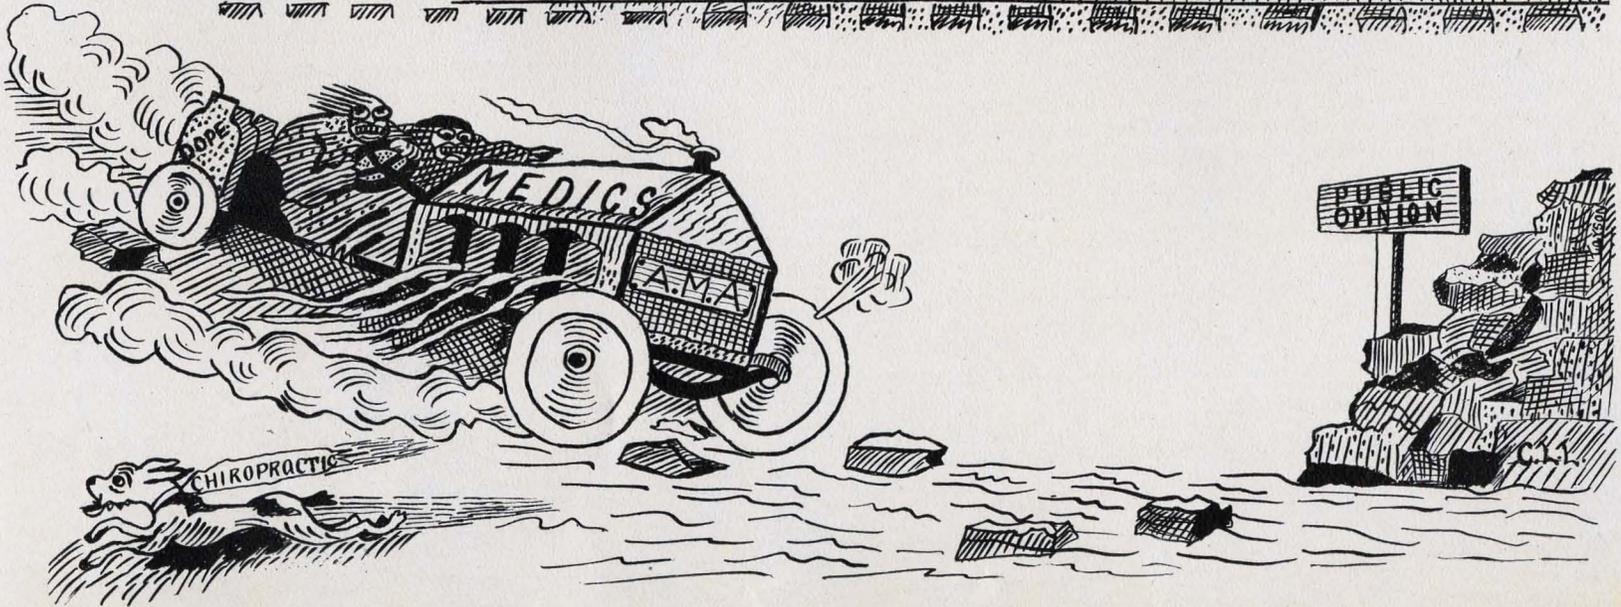

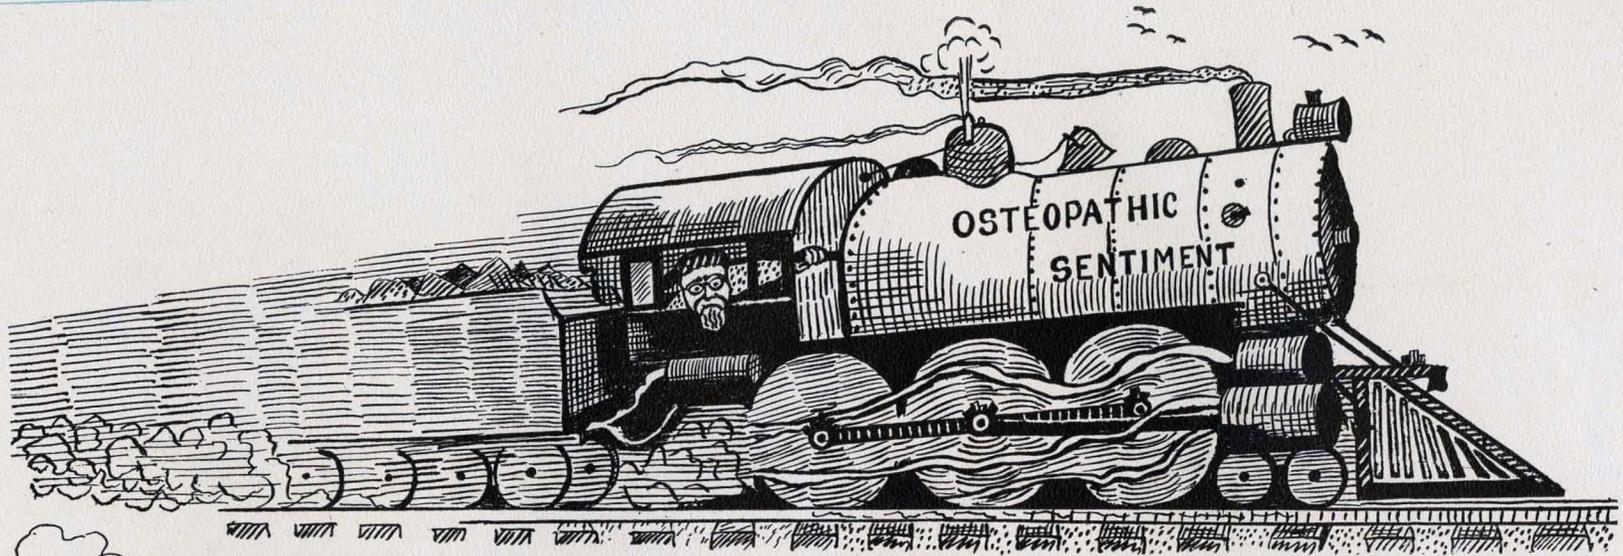

Some other standpatters are Thompson who works during lunch hours and plays the piano while Kassmir is doing the Turkey Trot. Crum helps the ladies with the shoes. Holt and Roddy are field judges who give lectures on Christian Science every Sunday.

Ex-Members of said Association are Balmat, Howe, Monroe, Eversole and Hardison.

The History of the Miller Building stands out with much victory and little defeat. Each man sticks to the other thru rain or shine, life and death. Lastly, our motto "Brotherly Love."
G. J. K.

ECONOMICAL DINNERS

In view of the continually increasing prices of food, the following is suggested as a menu additional to those given in the Department of Agriculture's new cook book.

SOUP

Take two double handfuls of meadow grass and boil slowly. Add a few noodles and serve hot.

FISH

Put a sardine on a skillet and turn slowly before a hot fire. Have warm plates ready and serve quickly.

GAME

Take two large slices of bread and butter, and listen to the canary.

ROAST

Discuss the price of meat fully and freely. Roast well, and serve au jus.

VEGETABLES

Potatoes on the half shell.

DESSERT

Rain pudding with wind sauce.—Capers.

FROM A LETTER OF A FRESHMAN WRITING HOME
Kirkville, Mo., 9-10-13.

Dear Dad:—

“Allow me to mention that you have in Vermont what is rightly termed aqua pura. In Missouri they scoop up from the wells a queer tasting fluid flatteringly described as drinking water, while from the faucets is derived a dark wet substance, too thick for fountain pen ink and too thin for house paint. It is on that account, I suppose, used only for laundry and applied externally to suffering humanity. If the Biblical river Jordan was as bad as the water here, when Naaman took his famous leprosy cure, he could hardly be blamed for hesitation on the brink.

Your thirsty son, Dale.

FUSSER.

CLASSES OSTEOPHILAST. 1915

Our Fussers

---

To the fussers we'll now give attention,
And a few of the chronic ones mention;
For they're here by the score,
Say a hundred or more,
And of most every age and dimension.

Freddie Olds, that redoubtable star
Of the Gridiron, is famed near and far
Not alone for his play
But as much for the way
He pays court to Miss Gibbons. Nicht wahr?

Another invet'rate, Floyd Brown,
Is as good as the best in the town;
His attentions are stayed
On no single maid,
For he loves all of them, does Floyd Brown.

Del Martz is a true social lion,
Being born 'neath the Sign of Orion;
And the feminine sex
Have all tried to annex
This Adonis, and still they are tryin'.

Then there's Dilatush, Inlow and Fite,
Frost, Thompson, and Babbitt and White,
And a good many more
Who as fussers would score,
But of these there is no room to write.

Diary of June 1915 Class

Monday, September 15.

Hello everybody! Glad to see you again.

Tuesday, September 16.

Oil consumption great! Brains got very rusty during vacation.

Wednesday, September 17.

Parker is back, and breaking the girls' hearts with that dear little mustache.

Thursday, September 18.

Dr. Bigsby:—Against what disease have negroes an acquired immunity?

Rolla Brown:—Work.

Friday, September 19.

Circus in town. Lower freshman broke up school. Some class!

Monday, September 22.

Malone and Hoover attended class to-day, by which we infer that the I.T.S. have stopped rushing and have already pledged the new freshmen.

Tuesday, September 23.

First day of dissection! Price of meat is lower.

Wednesday, September 24.

In dissection; Miss Grant wants to know if a negro's color is only skin deep.

Thursday, September 25.

Miss Gibbons informed us that the lingual artery supplies the tongue. How did you guess it, Gibby?

Friday, September 26.

Buck:—If this motion on athletics doesn't go thru, I'll be as popular as a rat in a dance hall.

Monday, September 29.

Dr. Gerdine:—The chief function of the doctor in baby cases is to get there before the baby does.

Wednesday, October 1.

Dr. Bigsby:—Malone what is thrombosis?

Malone:—It explains itself.

Thursday, October 2.

Grisso slept thru Anatomy and was awakened by the squeak of his shoes as his subconscious mind propelled him from the ampitheatre.

Friday, October 3.

Broke up school and gave Mother and Daddy Kesler a ride.

Monday, October 6.

Leonora Grant has at last confessed that she intends to have McIntyre's place in dissection next year.

Tuesday, October 7.

Dr. Gerdine, reading his notes from the board:—What is that word anyhow?

Wednesday, October 8.

Gravy holds up people to buy lecture course tickets.

Thursday, October 9.

Grisso, the gallant, assists Miss Griggs to find her lost pin.

Friday, October 10.

For the latest book on etiquette apply to Miss Bedford and Micky Malone.

Monday, October 13.

Neilson says that in resuscitating a drowning man, one should take the patient's tongue out of his mouth and tie it.

Tuesday, October 14.

Dr. Henry:—Yeaton, what are the local symptoms of carbolic acid poisoning?

Yeaton hastily turns pages.

Voice from the rear:—Page 92.

Wednesday, October 15.

Dr. Henry:—How treat lead poisoning?

Neilson:—First remove the surroundings.

- Thursday, October 16.
Daddy Still visited us for the first time.
- Friday, October 17.
Styles' lumbar vertebrae are palpated from the front.
- Monday, October 20.
Balmat wears his new mackinaw to school.
- Tuesday, October 21.
Elkins proves himself a hero. He starts a fire in pathology lab. and then puts it out.
- Wednesday, October 22.
If Miss Dye can't have her regular seat she will see Dr. Charley about it. She is already over two seats more than she ought to be.
- Thursday, October 23.
Five minutes off while Malone looks up hypertrophy in his notes.
- Friday, October 24.
Push ball contest. Pretty poor color rush substitute!
Why? Because we were beaten.
- Monday, October 27.
A.S.O. turned into a school for barbers.
- Tuesday, October 28.
Dr. Hollis says he would "just love" to pop all our necks.
- Wednesday, October 29.
Question:—Symptoms of "bronchial" pneumonia and "horse" throat?
Dr. Gerdine:—I am not a veterinary surgeon.
- Thursday, October 30.
Nobody didn't love us nohow, so we sat on our hands and had a period off in toxicology.
- Friday, October 31.
Sluyter is introduced to the girl he is to take to the Halloween dance.
- Monday, November 3.
Shephardson:—What is the new termination (terminology) for the arteria princeps pollicis?
- Tuesday, November 4.
Dr. Waggoner:—What does the tenuis in vasa intestina tenuis mean?
Goodrich:—Why just sort of little tenuis.
- Wednesday, November 5.
Miss Dye to Malone:—Say, let's go farther back.
We are too prominent up here.
- Thursday, November 6.
Dr. Waggoner:—Tell us about the brachial plexus.
Lux:—You'll have to give me a hunch.
Dr. Waggoner:—Let the lady on your right do that.
- Friday, November 7.
Dr. Bigsby:—If you lose your fat how will it regenerate?
Styles:—I don't want it to.
- Monday, November 10.
Parker is a perfect lady and doesn't intend to accept help in recitations so your efforts at assistance were all wasted, Davis.
- Tuesday, November 11.
Johnson:—The formula for butter is C.O.W.
- Wednesday, November 12.
Pettifer says not to give egg albumen too strong in mercury poisoning. He would probably ask the hen to lay a weak egg.
- Thursday, November 13.
Dr. Bigsby:—Sleeping sickness sometimes occurs as far north as A.S.O. He doesn't mean you does he Burke?
- Friday, November 14.
Dr. Hollis:—I meet this class to-day for the last time!—
I hope.
How he loves us!
- Monday, November 17.
Whitfield:—If they'd only leave off the "dis" in that discuss question, I could get 100 on this exam.
- Tuesday, November 18.
Lockman:—If a person lives a sedate (sedentary) life, he will be apt to have T.B.

Wednesday, November 19.

Dr. Henry:—In general, married men live longer than single or perhaps it just seems longer.

Thursday, November 20.

Dr. Hollis:—How detect a temporo-maxillary lesion?

Miss Jackson:—Have the patient open his jaw.

Friday, November 21.

Class, as Miss Bedford arrives late:—Good morning!

Dr. Waggoner:—No,—Good afternoon!

Monday, November 24.

Dr. Bigsby:—How would you treat typhoid?

Jewell:—With a bottle of glycerin and a good nurse.

Tuesday, November 25.

Miss Gibbons, reading from her neighbors notes:—Withhold food. What kind of food is that?

Wednesday, November 26.

Dr. Henry:—Water is more efficacious if "drunken" before breakfast.

Monday, December 1.

Dr. Bigsby:—Incubate the liver and when you take it out, that spleen will be full of typhoid germs.

Science is progressing when incubation will change liver to spleen.

Tuesday, December 2.

Edwards:—Pleurisy is inflammation of the pericardium.

Wednesday, December 3.

Dr. Bigsby:—What is gonorrhoeal infection of the eye called?

Frank Brown:—Endocarditis of the eye.

Thursday, December 4.

Dr. Henry:—Where is arsenic found?

Gravy:—In rat poison.

Dr. Henry:—Where outside of rats?

Friday, December 5.

Question:—Where does she come from?

Gibby:—Home.

Monday, December 8.

Elkins:—When one has a fever, the sebaceous glands are inactive. I don't know why.

Dr. Gerdine:—Let's not keep it a secret.

Tuesday, December 9.

Dr. Henry:—How much oxygen does an adult male require in 24 hours?

Robinson:—Quite a bit.

Wednesday, December 10.

Dr. Gerdine:—We don't get such marked degrees of temperature in acute T.B. as in sepsis.

And he comes from the cultured east!

Thursday, December 11.

Dr. Gerdine:—In meningitis, the eyes are apt to jump about quickly.

Gravy:—I should worry and get meningitis and become a flirt.

Friday, December 12.

Dr. Gerdine:—Two twins are alike but different.

Monday, December 15.

Great consternation as Mandy Christianson and Harry Thomas come in together late.

Class:—Married?

Tuesday, December 16.

Dr. Waggoner:—We next find a layer of dense tissue.

Not too dense; just fairly dense.—Well, really, it is very thin.

Wednesday, December 17.

Dr. Bigsby:—A negro is a kind of wart.

Thursday, December 18.

Irish:—Is the uterus lined with "serious" membrane?

Friday, December 19.

Question:—What kind of osteopathic treatment will bring out the eruption in measles, when it is delayed?

Dr. Gerdine:—Give an express treatment.

Monday, January 5.

Dr. Henry:—In treating this condition, use hot air. Not that produced by the physician.

Tuesday, January 6.

Dr. Gerdine:—A lot of people write in such a hurry that it looks like hen scratching.

Wednesday, January 7.

Dr. Gerdine:—It is inexcusable to write illegibly.

Thursday, January 8.

Turner:—In palpating first rib should I stand behind the "object"?

Friday, January 9.

Gibby:—The internal jugular vein passes down to the internal malleolus.

Monday, January 12.

Student:—Scarpa's triangle contains the adductor brevis nerve.

Tuesday, January 13.

In dietetics:—For rectal feeding, give twenty-one to eighty-three good enemata daily.

Wednesday, January 14.

Dr. Henry:—How perform tracheotomy?

Hoover:—Why just open it up and shoot the tube down.

Thursday, January 15.

Reserved seats in newlywed row, Chemistry Hall.

Friday, January 16.

Question:—What are the ligamenta subflava?

Dr. Hollis:—Oh! They are "horrid" little things.

Monday, January 19.

Broke up school! Mary Jane Laughlin born Saturday.

It is a question whether we will permit Claverie, (Jan. 16) to ever wander again from his Kirksville fireside. Since he and Foreman went to Kansas City to see Pavlowa dance and attend the performances of the Montreal Opera Co., he has not acted quite the same; we note he has been somewhat upset, whether it was the excitement of riding on the street cars, or the high life at the Baltimore, we cannot say. We are told he had to practise many times before he could cross the streets and properly dodge all the traffic and Jean landed in Kirksville 14 months ago, and has done nothing but study and entertain his lady friends until this trip and Foreman insists he shall have re-enforcements when next they drop down to K. C. While there they were royally entertained by Dr. G. A. Westgate, June 11, and Max Rabinoff, manager of the Opera Company.

AFFINITIES OF MEN AND BOOTS

Both Have Like Weaknesses and Good Qualities, and are Similarly Affected under Certain Circumstances.

There is more in a man's boots than he is apt to think—apart from himself. Taking them on the whole, from the similarity of character which his boots bear to himself it would almost appear that there was really some affinity between them. Here are a few instances in support of the theory.

Boots go on feet; so do men.

Boots have soles; so have men.

Boots sometimes get tight; so do men.

Poor boots are run over; so are poor men.

A boot will shine, if polished; so will a man.

A boot to get on needs a pull; so does a man.

Some boots have red tops; so have some men.

Some boots lose their soles; so do some men.

Some boots are imitation calf; so are some men.

Boots are tanned; so are men—in their youth.

Some boots can't stand water; neither can some men.

When a boot is well soaked it is a hard case; so is a man.

A boot when old gets wrinkled and hard; so does a man.

A boot to be of much account must have a mate; so must a man.

A boot when well heeled always feels comfortable; so does a man.

The less understanding there is in a boot the bigger it feels; so it is with a man.

January 1915 Personals

JANUARY 1915 CLASS

James Monroe spends his odd time practicing in Ohio.

Miss Correll has deserted her immediate friends of January 1915 class, her attention being paid to a certain member of the upper senior class at present.

"Moss and Willis" are specializing in the diseases of small children.

Glovers practice is growing quite extensively; he is occasionally called out as far even as Hannibal.

The Misses Kidder and Ferguson in their quiet way are enjoying an extensive practice at the Infirmary.

Miss Wills attended all classes exam-week.

Hicks quietly retired from the pit during an operation. We wonder why he looked so pale.

Healy gives the location of the schneiderian membrane as covering of the ovary.

Barrett recommends sitz-bath in treatment for dropsy.

The Thyroid gland is located between the "Trachea and Esophagus." Mrs. Harrington.

Snyder is now assisting Dr. Hollis.

Pauls was going to spend the summer in New York City, but as the subway will be closed he will practice in Missouri.

Dr. Wolfe's office hours, 1 to 4, Room 27, always to be found in office.

Bean giving location of the Esophagus said, "The Esophagus is located between the mouth and the arms," quite a long one.

Linhart gives the incorporation of muscles as a prominent symptom of locomotor ataxia.

Inflammation of parotid gland is "Struma"—Burnham.

Dr. Scott just arrived now we can start the lecture.

No manips—See Hook.

Alexander describing a diagram of the intestines to a body of students said—Now here is a "Villus" and here is a "Villi."

Spitler, Syler and Whitmore proved to be very successful anesthetists while working in the research department, as the dogs always died before the operation.

Shulz recognizes the "Amoeba" in a stained specimen by the Ameboid movement.

Wm. Gardner asked Dr. Ella Still the function of "the silver coccyx," Dr. Still replied, "You can't prove it by me."

Gable describes "Sago spleen" as being covered with "little hills," supposedly like those near Dr. Charley's Pond.

Whitmore describing the bladder said—"Of course the bladder holds from a quart to two pints and is bladder shaped."

"Haliday and Gladman, Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, mostly physicians, special attention to diseases of women and children."

Dr. Kane reports great success with use of the colon tube. He being able to insert it past the hepatic flexure.

Hampton is still busy as he says he has N-o-t-h-i-n-g to do now.

Speaking about bargains, if there was ever anything effeminate about Claude the bacteriologist, no one ever accused him of it, but "Pa" has a family reputation of being a little bit the best bargain hunter that ever struck a student ridden middle west burg. And the remarkable feature of it is that he was "brought up" in a little village on the banks of the Wilamette where he never saw a bargain, but since his matriculation with the January 1915 class he has taken to the Mondays and Saturdays Kirksville "Color Rush" like a duck takes to water, and "Ma" now says he is a dinger.

Incidentally he says the best bargain he has struck in Kirksville is the Ninth Annual Osteoblast as he gets the book with his picture and a "write up" on the side.

Chronicles

It has come to pass in days since gone, but during the reign of Charles, son of Andrew, that there has arisen dissension among certain of his subjects that were of the tribe of the Seniorites.

An ancient custom of the realm provided that each year a mighty man lead his subjects forth into the world of action. The subjects of this chief were a vast multitude, mighty in valor, and famous throughout the house of their fathers. But there has often been strife among them, for some of them, forgetting all the ancient rites and customs of the realm, desire not to wear the cap and gown.

Said one: "Behold, now, to us—the greatest multitude to whom commission from the king has come—there has been sent the royal edict to go forth. Surely it behooveth us to make for ourselves a name throughout the land, moreover, a gown of black is most imposing. Consider how the underclass men will be subdued. They will humble themselves before us and rend their clothes. Yea, verily, by this action shall the kingdom of the Seniorites be established for evermore."

He sat, and then another prince stood upon his feet and said, "Hear me, my brethren and people! Behold, all men are not alike. Apparel that doth give dignity and grace to one, giveth to another but a callow mien. Look upon me, O chief, and know that my complexion forbids me wear the cap and gown. Furthermore, such raiment doth not well become my stature."

"Now, therefore, on that great day, in the sight of all the multitudes let us stand not arrayed according to the ancient custom, that we may leave it as an inheritance after us forever."

And thus the elders spoke, some yea, some nay. And lo, the maidens sat in silence, for is it not written in the law that your young women shall keep silent and shall not usurp authority over man? But when the time was passed, with one accord they lifted up their voices and discussed the pros and cons, and after this manner do they unto this day.

Therefore the chief took counsel of his princes and of his mighty men, and once more assembled the multitude to discuss most solemnly this question: "Where—withal shall we be clothed?" And it came to pass that there were gathered together all the chief priests and elders besides all the maidens. And the day waxed warm.

And the chief priest said: "How long halt ye between two opinions? Choose ye this day what ye will wear!"

And the clamor of the multitude arose so great no man could tell what was their choice.

Then saith the chief: "Hearken! If caps and gowns be not pleasing unto you, stand in your place." Some rose with fearless face, but others wavered or stood in fear and trembling.

And when these were numbered, the voice once more cried out: "Those opposed!" and from that multitude there rose a throng, who, loyal to tradition, declared in favor of the gown.

Then let the tribe of Juniorites draw their mighty swords and say: "It is so ordered. On that feast day, which shall be in the year 1915, ye shall wear the cap and gown."

And let the multitude exclaim as one voice we will do as commanded, for it is right in the eyes of the people.

And so let peace reign throughout the land, and the Juniorites wax exceedingly great.

And the rest of their acts, and ways and their sayings, are they not written in the prophecy of this book?

CHEER UP—BE GAY

What's the use of whining
 All the livelong day?
 What's the use of pining
 If things don't come your way?
 This world is full of sorrow,
 'Tis true; but say,
 This world is full of gladness;
 Cheer up; be gay!

What if the day is dreary,
 The sky is overcast?
 What if your neighbor's grouchy?
 This day is not the last.
 The sun will shine tomorrow,
 You know; then, pray,
 Why all this trouble borrow?
 Cheer up; be gay!

What if the world is knocking
 And things are going wrong?
 You'll find that life's real pleasure
 Is helping men along.
 Just stop and think it over,
 'Fes up; 'twill pay,—
 A song makes life worth living;
 Cheer up; be gay!

JUNIOR RECEPTION

The largest and most brilliant social event of the season was the Reception given by the June 1915 Class to the members of the June 1916 Class.

This important social event is usually held in North and Memorial Halls but this year it was decided to hold it in the Heinzman and Swigert Hall.

The room was beautifully decorated with the Freshman colors of Orange and Black and masses of autumn leaves tastefully arranged by Miss Thaison and an able corps of assistants.

Those receiving the guests were Mr. George S. Elkins President of the June 1915 Class, Mr. John H. Styles, Vice-President; Mrs. B. Kesler Secretary; Major A. D. Lash Treasurer; Mr. C. W. Reinhart Sergeant at Arms; Mr. F. C. Humbert Editor of Osteoblast assisted by Mesdames Pettifer, Keen, Misses Tobin, Flora Richardson, Messrs. Malone and Davidson.

The refreshment room was a bower of green and the tables were presided over by Misses Bruner, Kaempfen, Griggs and Dye, who served punch and wafers to all comers with most lavish hands.

A short program consisting of Address of Welcome by Mr. Elkins, Reading, Mrs. J. L. Ralston, Vocal Duet, Mr. and Mrs. Pettifer, Reading, Mr. Styles, was given after which Housworth's Orchestra furnished music for all who cared to dance.

Those not dancing were welcoming the new comers and a most pleasant social time was enjoyed by all.

The arrangement of the programme and entertainment was under the supervision of Miss Alice Christiansen.

JUST A SMILE

"The thing that goes the farthest toward making life worth while,
 That costs the least, and does the most, is just a pleasant smile,
 The smile that bubbles from the heart that loves its fellowmen,
 Will drive away the clouds of gloom and coax the sun again.
 It's full of worth and goodness, too, with human kindness blent—
 It's worth a million dollars, and it doesn't cost a cent."

SUNSET TIME

When de day's wuk all am ober,
 An' de cotton's in de press,
 An' de picanninies playin',
 'Roun' de doah. Ah mus' confess
 Dat Ah feels lak Ah could holler,
 Ah's so happy, feel so fine
 As Ah smokes mah cohn-cob, sittin'
 'Fo' de doah, at sun-set time.

All de birds jes' sings der sweetes'
 As dey bids de sun good-night;
 Perched 'way up dah, in de branches
 Fo' to ketch his golden light.
 An' de crickets, chirpin' yondah,
 Jes, as happy, all de time,
 Seem to say, "Jes' quit youah mohnin',
 Come, cheer up,—its sun-set time!"

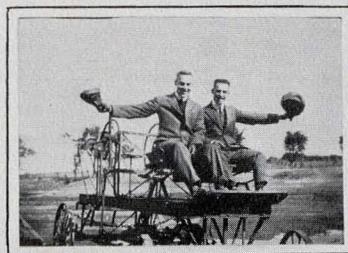

Some folks says dat Ah am foolish,
 Sittin' dah, all quiet lak,
 When de res' am chasin' yondah
 Jes' to see which one can make
 All de noise. But suah dey misses Dis heah joy dat Ah calls mine,
 Jes' a-sittin' an' a-thinkin'
 'Fo' de doah, at sun-set time.

When dat chile O' mine comes runnin'
 Right into his daddy's ahms,
 Wif his face all smiles an' kisses,
 An' his chubby li'l ahms
 Ketches 'roun' mah neck an' hold me—
 An' Ah knows dat he am mine—
 Den Ah'm happy, wif him nestlin'
 On mah breas', at sun-set time.

Oh! dahs lots o' folks a-missin'
 One o' dis life's sweetes' joys,
 As dey runs aroun', contented
 Wif a little show an' noise.
 But fo' me Ah'll take de quiet,
 An' de pleasure dats all mine,
 As Ah sits befo' mah cabin
 Wif mah boy, at sun-set time.

FAREWELL TO YOU

Farwell! We are about to go.
This is our ultimate endeavor.
As Bryan said, Farewell! And so
Farewell forever!

This school year past we've almanacked,
Dispensing wisdom, information,
Advice and prophecy and fact Without cessation.

Reader, farewell! Our course is run.
Farewell, for even now we sever
This only thread—our job is done.
Farewell forever!

The Normal School

AT KIRKSVILLE, MISSOURI

This is the school for capable young persons who desire to become good teachers. It offers a large variety of studies and excellent facilities for the preparation of such intending teachers.

The Normal School adjusts itself to the needs of actual teachers and prospective teachers. It makes frequent readjustments. For those preparing to take examinations it offers practical reviews in all the public school branches. It issues a variety of certificates and diplomas.

To the graduates of teacher-training courses in high schools and to other high school graduates, it offers exceptional advantages in the form of reviews and teachers' college courses covering from one to four years, and culminating in the degrees A. B. and B. S. in Education.

The Normal School has calls from school boards and superintendents for more teachers than it can furnish. For this reason it is an especially desirable school for prospective teachers to attend.

This practical school for teachers has many varieties of Agriculture, Manual Training, Art, Cooking, Sewing, Commercial Studies and Physical Education. It is probably not equaled by any other school in the matter of preparing teachers to organize and manage public school libraries and to direct public school music. Its Model Rural School, as a pedagogical demonstration for prospective rural teachers, was the first of its kind in the world.

Enrollment fee, $7.00 for first term; $6.00 for each succeeding term within twelve months.

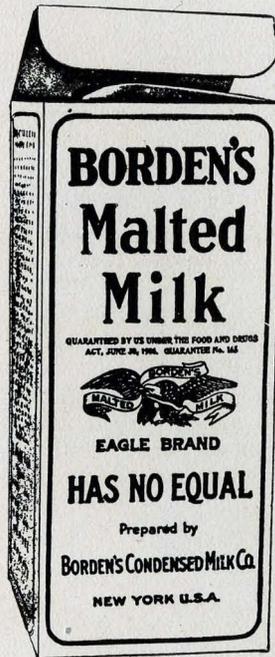

Summer term, eleven weeks, May 26 to August 7, 1914.

For Bulletin, address      JOHN R. KIRK, President.

Your Patients Will Enjoy the Pleasant Taste

The nauseating sweet flavor and "tang" generally found in most so-called malted milks form the one objectionable feature to its use as a steady diet in convalescent feeding. The patient's stomach revolts against this peculiar sweetness.

BORDEN'S Malted Milk

IN THE SQUARE PACKAGE

Consisting of pure rich creamy milk with extracts of wheat and barley malt, is decidedly different. By our special process the sweet taste and tang are entirely removed. This makes it a satisfying as well as a non-irritating easily digested food. Try it, Doctor, for your most difficult convalescent feeding cases. The more severe the case the better we will be pleased.

Send for Physician's Samples and copy of "An Unusual Recipe Book."

Los Angeles College of Osteopathy

Is located in the business center of the Coast City famous for its rapid growth of 20,000 people a year —and for its wonderful, tonic, climatic conditions

THE institution maintains a department for the treatment of patients by the members of the faculty, as well as a very extensive clinic. It has had 341 students during the past year, which is a larger number than the added attendance of the ten other medical colleges of the West Coast together. The Junior and Senior students gave 64,200 treatments to clinic patients last year, embracing every range and class of disease, obstetrics, surgery and deformity. Hospital facilities for all patients.

If any of the readers of the "Osteoblast" have friends who are coming to Los Angeles, it will be appreciated if they are referred to our Infirmary Department for professional care. The heads of departments have been successfully engaged in teaching and practice from nine to sixteen years.

The A. S. O. Hospital

was started in 1905. It was the culmination, however, of three events which took place about 1874, all three of which are in a way responsible for the establishment of this institution, and also for the remarkable results obtained there.

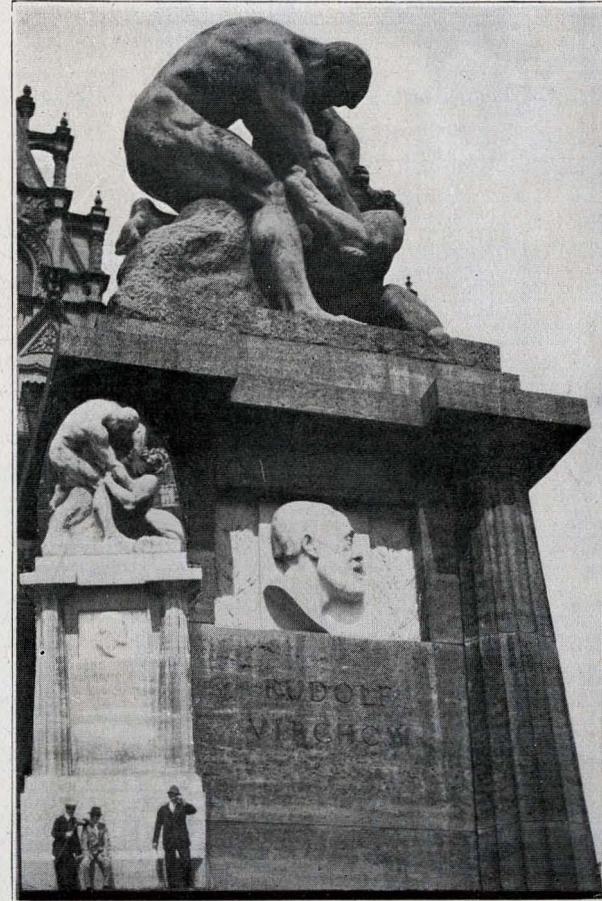

First—The discovery of osteopathy in America by A. T. Still, which paved the way for freeing the world of the deadly drug treatment of the Middle Ages.

Second—The discovery of antiseptis and asepsis in Scotland by Lord Lister, which paved the way for the rational treatment of wounds, doing away with treatment by superstition and medication.

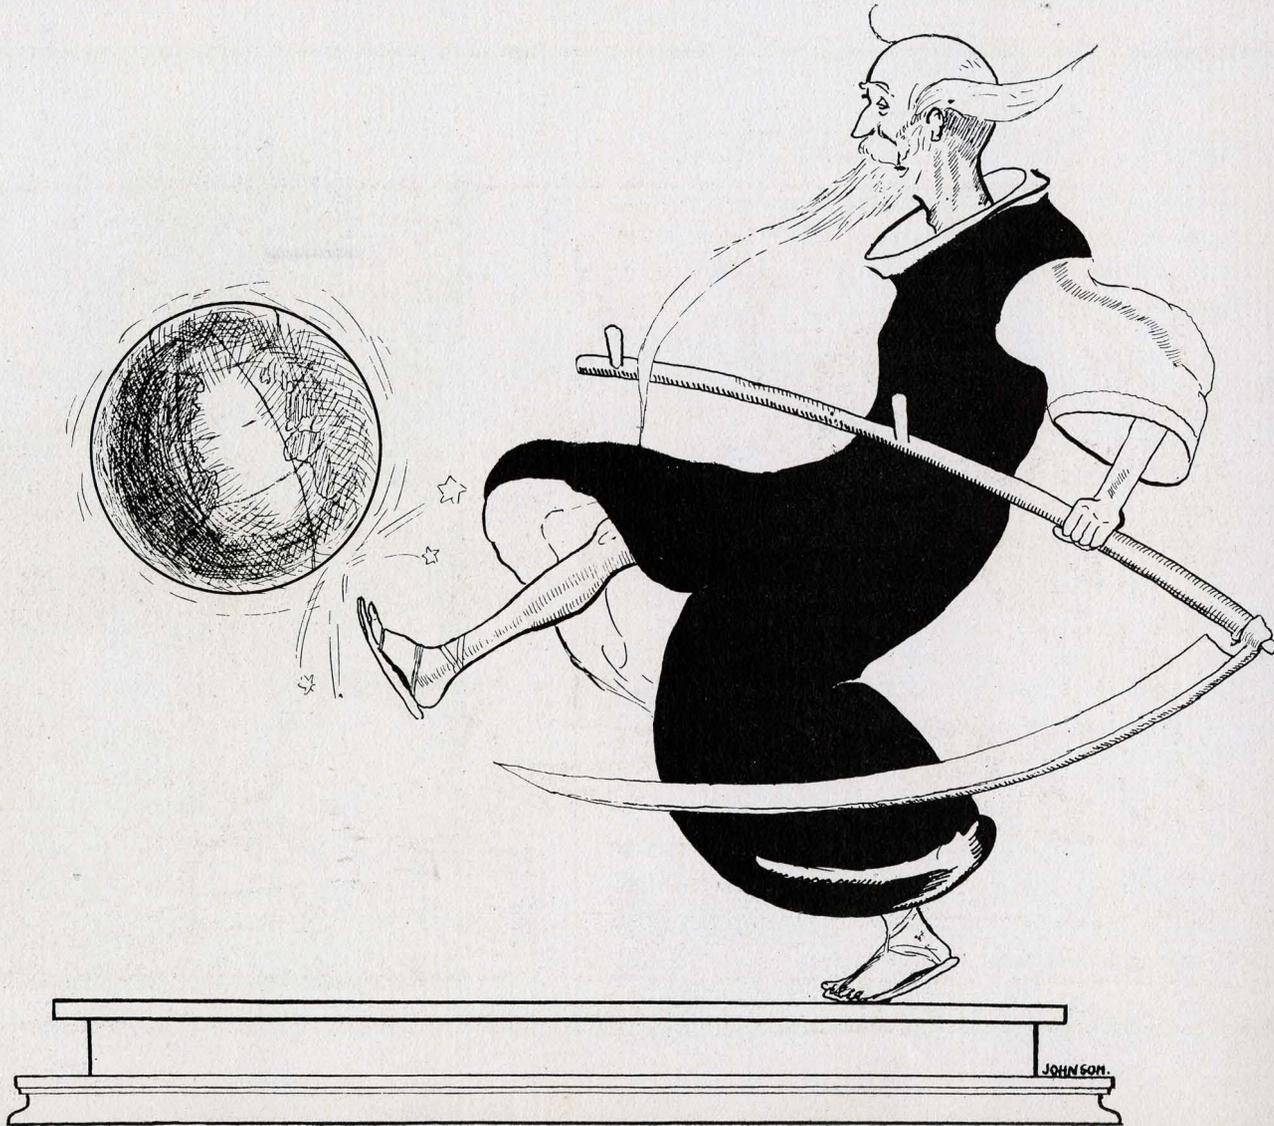

Third—The discovery of the cellular theory of pathology, proving from a scientific standpoint the impossibility of the old drug treatment of disease, and entirely upsetting all previous preconceived ideas as to the nature and cause of disease. Unfortunately these theories have not been even yet entirely incorporated in the medical treatment, but do present the scientific proof for many of the ground theories of osteopathy and surgery.

In the A. S. O. Hospital the greatest possible use is made of all three of these discoveries so as to minimize the mortality rate and advance to a maximum both the surgical and nonsurgical efficiency.
