Introduction: Charlotte Winger Weaver was born in Malvern, Ohio 1884-1964
Married Walter Wingerter (died 1918)

Dr. Weaver’s formal early education took place in public schools. She was also taught by her mother the spiritual lore and teachings of her people. She attended the American School of Osteopathy from 1909-1912. Weaver’s interest in the cranium as a region to be included in the osteopathic concept was propelled by recognition of the bones of the skull as morphological vertebral units, embryologically consistent with the development of the axial skeleton. She recognized the skull bones as modified vertebrae possessing intervertebral discs and articular surfaces.

*Dr. Weaver, had already published articles on skull motility before Sutherland’s first work, The Cranial Bowl (1939)
